Wall Street Whoopee.
What Is a Rich Man?
5 Billions for Ford.
Captain of Your Soul.
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

BIG day in Wall Street, all sale records eclipsed, making $500,000 for a seat and a chance to do business seem a bargain.

THE tape couldn't keep up with orders and ran more than an hour late all day. "Nickel" and "Radio" caused hearts to beat faster, especially the hearts of poor bears that had gone "short."

Intelligent bears will change to the bull side or take a vacation for four years.

INCOME tax returns show 283 Americans with net incomes of $1,000,000 a year or more. The number has increased by 52 in two years. Citizens reporting incomes of $5,000,000 or more number only TEN. There were 14 of them in 1926.

ONCE a man with a million was considered rich. To be REALLY "rich" now you need $1,000,000 a year.

THERE are several billionaires in existence that modestly refrain from talking about it.

Henry Ford is past 60, but if his new car pays as well as he and others think it will, he will easily add five billions to his fortune in the next 30 years of his life.

HOW many automobiles can this country absorb? Henry Ford, in October, made 106,404 cars and trucks, and is now manufacturing at the rate of 6,000 a day.

The Chevrolet Company has sold more than 1,000,000 cars thus far in 1928, and is breaking all its records.

DO YOU remember when solemn bankers said the country was going to the dogs financially because people were buying about 100,000 cars a year, and refused to lend on automobiles?

Now the people are using 24,000,000 automobiles, and buying at the rate of several millions more a year. And the nation doesn't seem to be bankrupt.

MANY a young person has spouted:

"It matters not how strait the gate
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul."

THE REV. E. H. EMMETT, Congregationalist, says those who talk about being "captain of my soul" are only "whistling loudly in the dark." Making "an outward noise to cover up an inward fear and disquiet."

IT IS hard to be sure that you are captain of your soul in these modernist times. Scientists say you haven't any soul, anyhow, and you don't know where your soul is going later, if anywhere, or where this earth itself is going, with the sun dragging it along.

However, a man CAN be calm in an emergency, and that's what the poet meant.

IT IS said Gov. Smith will officially eliminate himself from leadership of the Democratic party, and certain Democrats profess to be pleased, saying, "it opens the way to victory in 1932."

It also opens the way to dropping about 7,000,000 of the 15,000,000 votes polled by Gov. Smith.

Where will Democrats find another leader to poll twice as many votes as any Democratic candidate for president ever had before?

THE plain fact is, and any child can see it, that, barring hard times, disaster and real cause for dissatisfaction, the presidential election of 1932 will be a formality.

CHICAGO sends this story of prohibition:

A fine young university student, aged 22, played a brilliant game of football for his college, then, with his young high school brother, aged 16, also a good football player, he borrowed an automobile and visited Chicago's night clubs. They drank bootleg liquor, took to her home some young woman, of whom they knew only that her name was Pauline, and a little later the older boy was shot by ruffians who followed him in a car, and will probably die.

NEAR that you read of a young laborer, conscience - stricken haunted for two years by the face of a dying man, confessing that he and two others, having quarreled with a fourth while drinking bootleg liquor at Coney Island, agreed to throw the man over the bridge into the river. They threw him over, and when he swam ashore, threw him in again and drowned him.

NOT pleasant liquor, that bootleg stuff.

203 KNOWN SAFE, ONE DEAD IN SINKING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—A message declaring that all passengers of the steamer Vestris had been rescued with the exception of one group aboard a life raft, was received today at coast guard headquarters from its Norfolk (Va.) office.

The first known death was repotred by the U. S. S. Wyoming in a message to the Radio Marine Corporation today. The battleship had picked up six persons from a raft, it reported, and one of them was found to be dead.

The Norfolk message did not estimate the number of persons aboard the raft nor did it say how many lifeboats had had been picked up. Earlier reports from the rescue fleets had accounted for six lifeboats and one raft.

It has not been learned how many small boats were launched by the Vestris.

The information was a compilation of reports from coast guard cutters on the scene of the disaster, made up by C. F. Howell, chief of staff at Norfolk headquarters.

BROKEN SEA VALVE BLAMED

The message declared the cause of the disaster was believed to have been a broken sea valve which caused a tremendous list to the starboard.

The American line steamship American Skipper picked up 33 passengers and 90 seamen from five lifeboats. The German liner Berlin saved 21 persons from two lifeboats, and the French tanker Myriam rescued 53 persons from two lifeboats. With the 31 taken from the sea by the Wyoming, the total was 203.

Report of Daring Vestris Rescue Given in Brief

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—(INS.)—Here is the cryptic story of the rescue of the Vestris passengers and crew as received by naval radio:

1:55 A. M.—"Searching now five miles off Ports-End."—U. S. S. Wyoming.

3:15 A. M.—"Sighted red flares latitude 37.19 north, longitude 70.38 west."—S. S. American Shipper.

4 A. M.—"One lifeboat."—S. S. American Shipper. (Static prevented the naval station picking up this full message).

4:55 A. M.—"Come on. More boats to pick up. Am bound for New York myself. Have rescued boat No. 5."—S. S. Myriam.

6 A. M.—"Five lifeboats and a raft accounted for."—S. S. American Shipper to U. S. S. Wyoming.

Much Diplomatic Mail on Vestris

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(INS.)—Ten pouches of diplomatic mail, destined to American diplomatic offices in South American countries by the State Department, were aboard the steamer Vestris and presumably have been lost, it was announced here today. State Department officials said the papers could be duplicated.

Liner Officials Hope Vestris Is Still Afloat

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Officials of the Lamport-Holt Line asserted at 10:30 o'clock this morning that they were still without official advices that the Vestris had sunk. They were hoping she was afloat and salvagable.

It would have been impossible for imperfect cargo stowage to sink the vessel, they said. The Vestris was carrying 3,200 tons of merchandise, including fruit, automobiles, cotton and machinery.

Veteran shipping men, well versed in the ways of ships, hazarded the opinion that the Vestris trouble was caused by the springing of plates due to ordinary wear and tear.

PITTSBURGHER, RESCUED, ON WAY TO PORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS.)—The steamships Myriam and American Shipper early today were reported speeding to port with survivors of the sunken Vestris.

The identified persons on the Myriam are:

Capt. W. J. Carey, Harry Fay, a boxer, Charleroi, Pa.; William M. Fields, Jamaica, N. Y.; A. C. Patterson; "Estwupti," believed to be Mrs. William Eversley, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Garcia, the message did not specify the initial or whether it referred to Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Garcia, who were both aboard; W. A. Brownfield, of Louisville, Ky.; the message made no mention of Mrs. Brownfield, who also was a passenger; Slaughter, the passenger list contained the names of C. S. Slaughter, of Chicago, and Mrs. Slaughter; Dr. W. Sears, Long Island, N. Y.; A. M. Jones; S. Cox. The Myriam reported the names of the following others rescued who are believed to have been members of the crew: Cline, McDonald, Trestwich, Shipp, Verochere, Szart, Darcy, Cross, Quick, Cole, McDonough, Kibling, Conrad, Taley, Edwards, Zolwes, Caroc, Weeks, H. Williams, G. Ford, Calder, Vanderford, Giles, Shaw, Scott, Canter, Faweett, Jones, Goddin, Guthering, Roach, Ramsey, Frank Williams, Egbert Brice, Browngill, Federesingham, Bonnett, Husbands, Edwards.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 13.—(INS.)—Preparations were made here today to receive the survivors of the Vestris.

It was expected most of the boats which picked up the passengers and crew would put into port here as soon as possible.

S. Penn Oil to Cut 50% Stock Melon

The South Penn Oil Company will cut a melon early next year. Directors have announced their intention of paying a special stock dividend of 50 per cent subject to approval of the increase in capatalization by stockholders at their annual meeting on January 15.

1 KILLED IN R. R. CRASH

One man was killed and another probably fatally scalded in a head-on crash of two freight trains in the Kiskiminetas yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

W. C. Groft, 80 Maple avenue, Blairsville, a fireman, had his left leg amputated and was so badly scalded that he died a few hours later in Allegheny Valley Hospital, Tarentum.

J. C. Jamison, engineer of one of the engines, was probably fatally scalded, and was injured about the back. He is in the Allegheny Valley Hospital.

The two engines crashed head-on at 5:40 o'clock, and both were badly damaged. Several cars were wrecked and tracks torn up.

President May Visit Va. U. Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—President Coolidge is considering accepting an invitation to visit the University of Virginia on Thanksgiving Day, having luncheon with President Edwin A. Alderman, and later witnessing, for a time at least, the football game between the University of Virginia and North Carolina.

The President will spend a few days' vacation around Thanksgiving Day at the Swannanoa Country Club in the Blue Ridge Mountains, about 30 miles from Charlottesville, where the University of Virginia is located.

Dirigible Los Angeles To Aid Vestris Search

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—The Navy dirigible Los Angeles today was ordered to stand by in readiness to leave at dusk to assist in the search for the survivors of the steamship Vestris.

It was explained that the airship would have been dispatched yesterday had it not been undergoing an overhaul at its hangar at Lakehurst, N. J. The airship is scheduled to be ready to take the air at about 6 o'clock.

Burns Fatal to Clairton Girl, 12

Burned about the body when her nightgown ignited from an open grate in her home, Alice White, 12, of Clairton, died last night in the McKeesport Hospital. The child's father was severely burned about the hands when he tried to extinguish the flames. The accident occurred yesterday morning.

Margolis, Barred Lawyer, Gets Ban Lifted

Jacob Margolis, disbarred eight years ago after publicly testifying he was an anarchist and would not defend his wife or home against attack, was ordered reinstated today to the practice of law in Allegheny County by the judges of Common Pleas Court.

The order provides that Margolis must retake the oath of office. A petition admitting his mistake, filed by Margolis, was acted on favorably after Margolis had been interrogated by a committee of jurists, it is said. Previous petitions which had set forth that he should not have been disbarred, were refused.

Margolis' testimony that he was an anarchist was made before a committee of the United States Senate investigating the steel strike.

BULL MARKET HITS GALE OF SELLING

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—The "bull" market in stocks, which has had pretty clear sailing since the election of Hoover, ran into a storm of selling today.

Early gains of $1 to $6 a share were cut down or wiped out, and at least a dozen high-priced specialties broke $4 to $20 a share.

The selling was checked around mid-day when U. S. Steel common was brought forward by operators for the rise and marked up nearly $3.50 a share to a new high record at $167.62½.

"Red" Grange Faces Accusing Woman

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(INS.)—Harold "Red" Grange, former football star, appeared before Judge William Fetzer here today to face Mrs. Helen Morrissey Flozak, who charged Grange with being the father of her 7-month-old baby daughter, Haroldine. Grange's attorney asked that the case be continued, as several witnesses were outside the jurisdiction of the court. Judge Fetzer ordered Grange and the complainant into his chambers, where a date for trial was to be decided.

Demand for Labor Higher in October

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Secretary Davis of the Labor Department reported to President Coolidge today that all indications were that the seasonal unemployment this winter will not be as heavy as usual. The Secretary said that in October there was a marked increase in the demand for labor which removed the fear held early in the season of large unemployment this winter.

Jury Commissioner Dies at Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 13.—D. S. Orndoff, jury commissioner of Greene County, died yesterday after a short illness. He was serving his second term. Prior to holding office he was engaged in farming and stock raising.

PANEL ORDERED LOCKED UP; 55 DENIED DELAY

Before a courtroom that was shut to spectators and crowded to its doors with witnesses and defendants, the Federal government today set out to prove its charge that a great booze ring involving politicians, police and racketeers exists on the North Side.

The first move of the 55 defendants was to ask for a postponement of the trial on the grounds that an article in a newspaper yesterday might incite and prejudice the minds of the jurors. Judge R. M. Gibson refused the plea.

The jury was completed shortly after 1 o'clock and recess was taken for lunch.

The jury is composed of: Randolph Reeves, carpenter, Wahington, foreman; William M. Singler, plumber, 624 Pennsylvania avenue, Oakmont; Edward E. Ludwig, merchant, 1441 Severn street, Pittsburgh; J. F. Horner, lumberman, Cranberry Township, Venango County; M. O. Smith, tax collector, Black Lick, Indiana County; William C. Lardin, jeweler, Butler; E. C. Emery, manufacturer, Bradford; A. M. Draucker, blacksmith, Lutherburg, Clearfield County; J. H. Johnson, merchant, Wilcox, Elkk County; C. J. Crawford, retired, Franklin; F. J. Barnicle, railroad inspector, Altoona; Harry E. Owens, carpenter, Clearfield.

Before he turned hands down on the motion for a continuance, Judge Gibson signed an order sequestering the jury, an order which secludes the jury 24 hours each day from any contact which might make for tampering.

As the court ordered strict seclusion for the jurors who will hear some 300 witnesses for or against this conspiracy charge, secret investigators for the government mingled among the crowd of hundreds that filled the third-floor lobby of the Federal Building in Smithfield street. They were on the alert for any possible movemnt to "fix" witnesses or to "reach" the jury, it was reported, but so far as could be learned their ears heard nothing out of the way.

So crowded was the courtroom while preparations were being made to select the jury, that there was no room for the 55 defendants—all of whom are being tried at the same time and who include State Assemblyman Sam J. Grenet, Police Inspector Charles Faulkner and John P. O'Donnell and William Hurd, North Side Republican ward chairmen.

Seated at the counsel table today for the defendants were three attorneys, Charles B. Prichard and Edward G. Coll, of Pittsburgh, and W. Cooke McKean, of Uniontown. There were hosts of other attorneys looking out for the interest of individual defendants, but, by common agreement, these three were the only ones seated at counsel table.

SMITH PROSECUTES

For the government, United States Assistant Attorney Ralph H. Smith and his colleague, Joseph A. Richardson, opposed the defense lineup, awaiting the right time to set forth the details of their accusations that a monopolistic sale of booze and police protection exists on the other side of the Sixth Street Bridge.

Those on trial have already entered pleas of "not guilty," and three others, including Alfred W. Forney, gambling machine conces-

Developments in Liquor Plot Trial

May 8—Grand jury convened—75 witnesses called.

June 9—Grand jury returned indictments against 166.

October 10—Pleas of not guilty entered by 122 persons indicted.

November 13—North Side section of indictment list of 73 individuals called for trial—Fifty-five respond. Three have pleaded, one has died and 13 have not been found.

Heading the list of defendants are Representative S. J. Grenet, Police Inspector Charles Faulkner and Republican Ward Chairmen John P. O'Donnell and W. A. Herd.

Thirty attorneys appear as defense counsel opposing Assistant District Attorneys Ralph H. Smith and J. A. Richards. Joseph A. Frayne, assistant prohibition administrator, who led investigation, marshaled the witnesses.

Harry Fay, Charleroi Boxer, Saved at Sea

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT FAY, of Charleroi, were overjoyed when notified this morning by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph that their son, Harry, a prominent boxer, had been rescued from the ill-fated steamer Vestris.

No word has yet been received of Genaro Panzratta, whose address was given as Pittsburgh, the only other local person listed as being on the boat. Fay was among those rescued by the French tanker Myriam.

Fay is well known as a heavyweight boxer and once was awarded a decision over Paul Berlenbach. He was reported en route to Argentina to seek a bout with Luis Firpo. Fay boxed several times before local audiences, meeting prominent fighters in the heavyweight classes. He has two brothers, Al and Ray Fay, also fighters.

MAYOR INDORSES SHOW TO AID WELFARE FUND

Cordial indorsement of the midnight show to be given by the Variety Club of Pittsburgh, under the auspices of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, at the Stanley Theater Friday night, November 23, for the benefit of the Welfare Fund, came from Mayor Charles H. Kline at the Variety Club's banquet.

Mayor Kline praised the club and The Sun-Telegraph for the spirit of service shown in the enterprise. He appealed for public support for the show, which is planned as a means of raising money for philanthropic organizations and agencies of social service.

The entertainment will be an all-star show, with all the theaters of Pittsburgh contributing the cream of their performances.

All seats will be reserved and tickets will sell at $1 each. Special box offices for the sale of seats will be opened tomorrow in the lobbies of the Grand and Sheridan Square

TERSE RADIOGRAMS PICTURE VESTRIS RESCUE RACE

STORMY SEA HAMPERS RELIEF

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS.)—The grim battle which was waged to save 339 human souls from the angry Atlantic, when the Lamport and Holt liner Vestris, outward bound from New York, foundered 275 miles off the Virginia Shoals, was pictured in wireless dispatches from the scene of the disaster.

After a heroic race through turbulent seas, the Shipping Board steamship American Shipper and the French tanker Myriam, vanguard of the mercy fleet, reached the spot and reported by radio today they had picked up five lifeboats filled with frightened, bedraggled passengers and seamen.

Latest advices from the rescue scene said one lifeboat and a life raft were still missing. It was estimated, on the basis of the capacity of the lifeboats, that about 300 persons had been saved and that between 35 and 50 were still missing.

NO PANIC REPORTED

With the Vestris disabled and helpless from the shifting of her cargo, and rolling drunkenly on the battering combers in a blanket of darkness and fog, the passengers were plunged into a nightmare of misery.

None of the radiograms, however, made any mention of panic on board. The trouble developed suddenly on Sunday night, while the Vestris was plowing down the coast on her regular schedule to the Barbadoes and South American ports.

Roused from their cabins, the passengers huddled in the dank, wet fog on decks which sloped lower and lower as the waves rushed over the bows and began to flood the starboard holds.

SEA TRADITIONS UPHELD

A story of the epic bravery on the part of the wireless operator, who, true to the tradition of the seas, stuck to his post to the last was written in the messages from the ship.

The Vestris was listing badly and her starboard bows were awash with mountainous waves as the operator sent one message which said:

"Oh, please come at once. We need immediate attention."

This fragment from the doomed ship gave in itself a picture of the doom and fear which appeared to be settling down over the foundering craft and its precious cargo of human lives. At that time it was known the vessel could not keep afloat much longer. It was only two hours later the operator on the Vestris reported the engine room flooded and the lowering of the lifeboats and rafts with the passengers aboard.

BOAT LAUNCHING DIFFICULT

It was a strenuous and hazardous task, calling for the best seamanship of Capt. Carey, master of the Vestris. There were a number of women and children among the passengers and they were marshaled first to the davits where the life craft were being lowered from the slanting, slippery deck.

"It's the devil to work with this list," flashed the wireless operator while the first boats were being filled. He added:

"Getting lifeboats out now."

Some of the dozen ships which made up the rescue fleet had already replied by wireless they had changed their course and were on their way to give help.

For hour after hour officers of the stricken vessel tried to pierce the gloom for sight of an approaching ship and listened intently for the welcoming blast of a siren, but nothing was seen nor heard.

"Man the lifeboats," was the order roared through a megaphone.

It was difficult to handle the boats rocking in their davits as the listing ship, with no way on her, was tumbled by the waves, which roared against the hull with mountains of spray or rolled over the bows, carrying away rails and ventilators.

But the seamanship of the sturdy skipper outwitted the sea and the passengers were bundled into the boats without a single loss.

The last message from the ship was cool and laconic enough; it merely said:

"We are abandoning ship. We are taking to the boats."

16 IN RESCUE FLEET

From the moment that the first "SOS" was received from the stricken Vestris yesterday morning the fleet which raced to her aid grew in numbers until, early today. There were 16 ships either standing by or on their way.

In addition to the American Shipper and the Myriam, this high seas battalion of mercy included the United States coast guard cutter Davis, the Japanese steamship Ohio Maru, the steamer San Juan, the liner Santa Barbara, three United States coast guard cutters out of Norfolk, the Southern Pacific liner Creole, the Lamport and Holt liner Voltaire, the Standard Oil tanker Yankee Arrow, the United States battleship Wyoming, the Italian liner Giorgio Ohlsen, the German liner Berlin and two sea going wrecking tugs. The wrecking tugs put out in hope of salvaging the hulk of the Vestris.

LAW EVENS 2 KILLINGS BY BANDITS

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(A.P.)—In deaths, the forces of order on the one hand and disorder on the other stood even today over a 24-hour period: Two for each.

Louis Kovitz's revolver, purchased after one experience with robbers a month ago, accounted for a holdup man last night in the cigar store where Kovitz clerks. He drilled the robber through the head after the hammer of the robber's weapon had fallen harmlessly on a defective cartridge.

Kovitz told police the man was the same who held him up a fortnight ago. By fingerprints the dead robber was identified as Morris L. Smith, who served a sentence for robbery in 1924.

The other bandit death came earlier in the day when Patrolman Michael Weilgarecki fatally wounded Lloyd Morrow, 18, fleeing after robbing a filling station.

Bandit victims were Charles Emmert, killed in his drugstore by a robber, and Matt Luck, shot dead in a drugstore where he was a customer.

CHARGES FRAUD IN ELECTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Alleging "conspiracy and fraud" in tabulating and counting ballots in the recent election in which he was defeated for re-election to Congress by Louis Ludlow, Democrat, Ralph E. Updike, Republican, filed suit in Federal Court asking recount of the vote in the Seventh Indiana District (Marion county).

Updike was the only Republican on the party ticket in Marion county to be defeated in the election.

BODY FOUND AT LOVER'S LEAP

SKELETON, BULLETS THROUGH SKULL, FOUND

Today Norman A. Nedde, 109 Capitol avenue, identified from a Masonic pin and a few personal effects the skeleton found at the foot of Lover's Leap, near Stoops Ferry, as that of his father, William Nedde, 49, retired business man, who disappeared July 27. Bullet holes were found in the skull and a revolver nearby. Lover's Leap is so-called because of the legend that a spurned youth once hurled himself to his death and in the Nedde death, it is believed, as the artist shows, that the man may have shot himself and toppled down the precipice.

HOOVER MAY EXTEND TOUR

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Herbert Hoover may find it necessary to extend the itinerary of his good will tour of Latin America considerably beyond the scope contemplated when he decided to embark upon his history-making journey.

Urgent invitations for the President-elect to visit countries in both South and Central America which were excluded from the original schedule are now coming and his 40 day itinerary may be extended to two months or slightly longer.

Mexico, Columbia and Ecuador are among the southern republics which have asked that the President-elect include them in his tour, their invitations being joined with that from Bolivia, the visit to which would involve a considerable trip, in addition to that which must be made by the Goodwill Mission in moving from Valparaiso to Buenos Aires.

THUGS HOLD UP GARAGE; GET $400 LOOT

Forcing Fred Golmar, night manager, and Bishop Nelson, a Negro attendant, to lie full length on the floor of the office of the Hertz-Drive-It-Yourself Company garage, 616 Webster avenue, two armed bandits early today looted the office safe of $400 and escaped.

The pair drove up to the office at 7 o'clock and entered without hesitation. Both drew guns and ordered the two men to stretch out face downward on the floor. The office safe was open at the time and the money was in plain sight.

After emptying the safe the two ran to the street, jumped into their automobile and sped away before Golmar could obtain the license number. He was unable to give police a good description of the bandits.

SIX RESCUED FROM BOAT; EIGHT DIE ON ANOTHER

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 13.—(INS.)—The coast guard early today rescued the crew of six men of the fishing trawler Ruth Mildred, of Gloucester, Mass., which ran on the rocks three miles off the little island coast guard station.

Eight lives were lost when Capt. Lee Hartman, a veteran deep-sea fisherman and his crew put out beyond Hog Island bar, off the Virginia Capes, yesterday to search for a small fishing scow which had gone adrift.

RESCUE FAILS

Crossing the bar, heavy seas swamped and sank their motor boat. Other fishermen in the vicinity made an effort to rescue the men, in which they were joined by coast guardsmen from the Hog Island and Palmer's Beach stations, but all that could be found was their boat adrift with bottom up.

In addition to Capt. Hartman, those who lost their lives were Leroy Burdick, Cleveland Bailey, William Taylor, John Watson, Alonzo Sneed, Robert Badger and Edward Hunter.

FIND LIFEBOAT EMPTY

One lifeboat was picked up empty by the Berlin. There was no way to tell whether it had been occupied and the passengers were lost or it had washed away from the Vestris unoccupied.

The Norfolk coast guard message said the rescued passengers had been taken aboard the American Shipper, the Myriam and the Wyoming, which had figured in the night-long search for survivors. The coast guard cutters Mascoutin, Manning and Modoc were reported standing by the scene of the Vestris' sinking.

The American Shipper and the Myriam are bound for New York, but it is probable that the Wyoming will return to Hampton Roads, Va.

ADRIFT IN LIFEBELTS

At 11:10 the Berlin wirelessed:

"To all ships. Berlin rescued one man drifting in lifebelt. Man said woman with child drifting within two-mile radius. Still searching for two lifeboats and makeshift raft said to have a number of women aboard."

The Vestris sank yesterday about 275 miles east by north of Cape Henry, Va. The 129 passengers and the 210 members of the crew put off in lifeboats and in rafts. They drifted in the open sea throughout yesterday afternoon and during the night.

PICKED UP AT 4 A. M.

The first survivors were picked up at 4 o'clock this morning by the American Shipper, one of the dozen vessels which had raced to the scene of the disaster.

Then, at frequent intervals, other boatloads of survivors were found and rescued by the ring of ships which had circled in wider sweeps throughout the night near the spot where the Vestris went down.

The first word of the rescue came in this terse radio at 6:30:

"One boat and one raft still missing.

"American Shipper."

The Vestris, bound from Hoboken for Buenos Aires by way of the Barbadoes and Rio de Janeiro, broadcast the first SOS early yesterday. Several passenger and freight ships near her course immediately altered their positions to go to her aid.

The Navy and coast guard quickly dispatched rescue ships from New York and Norfolk. The battleship Wyoming, at sea, was ordered to proceed under forced draft.

RADIO AIDS RESCUE

The coast guard destroyer Davis, from New York, kept in constant radio communication with the Vestris during the forenoon. The Vestris told of its decks being awash and of listing 32 degrees to starboard. Then the bow was reported under water.

Shortly after noon the passengers, men, women and children, were ordered off in the 16 lifeboats and rafts. The Vestris' plight became worse and she wirelessed the Davis she was in danger of capsizing at any moment.

At 1:25 the ship was abandoned and went under the water shortly afterwards. True to tradition of the sea, the captain and the radio operator, stilling giving the ship's position and calling for help, were the last to leave.

The rescue ships churned up the waves as their propellers raced madly driving them forward to the scene of the disaster.

The Japanese steamer Ohio Maru and the San Juan of the Porto Rican line were the first to arrive at the spot.

LONG SEARCH REWARDED

No trace of the lifeboats was found. Other rescue ships arrived within a short time. Searchlights were played over the vast expanse of water. There was no trace of the survivors.

Through the night the rescue ships swung round and round in ever widening circles. The sea was rough. It was not believed the frail boats could stand out much longer. Sleepless crews remained at their posts, peering into the darkness.

At 3 o'clock a small red light was seen over the horizon by lookouts on the American Shipper. The vessel headed straight for the scene. The light grew stronger. It was a flare in one of the lifeboats. Other ships were notified. They drove closer and swept the area.

Within an hour after sighting the flare, the American Shipper picked up the first lifeboat. It was 4 o'clock. The position of the lifeboat was 37.17 north and longitude 70.38 west, estimated about 50 miles from where the Vestris sank.

The steamer Myriam next found a lifeboat of survivors.

A crypt message from the Myriam to another steamer, said:

"Come on. More boats to pick up. Am bound for New York myself. Have rescued Boat No. 5."

The other rescue ships rushed to the spot indicated by the Myriam. They found lifeboats and rafts drifting helplessly in the open sea.

At 6 o'clock the American Shipper radioed the battleship Wyoming that five lifeboats and a raft had been accounted for.

A half hour later American Shipper reported that all but one lifeboat and a raft from the Vestris had been picked up.

theaters. Telephones will be installed. These box offices will be open from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

Like everyone else who has a hand in staging the show, the actors are contributing their services gratis.

Queenie Smith and Charles Purcell, stars of "Hit the Deck," the musical comedy coming to the Nixon next week, telegraphed today that they would be glad to "do their bit." They are famous dancers and propose to perform some of their novel dancing stunts.

Queenie Smith says in her message:

"Mighty happy to be a part of the big Welfare Fund midnight show to be given by the Variety Club under auspices of The Sun-Telegraph. Hope to kick a few dollars into the Community Chest and a lot of joy into the hearts of the midnight audience."

Charles Purcell says:

"Nothing will give me greater pleasure than to participate in the midnight show Friday, November 23, for the benefit of the Welfare Fund. Queenie Smith and I will 'hit the deck' with our pedal extremities, and to the taps of a sailor's hornpipe shake the shekels from the clothes of the multitude. Here's hoping the S. R. O. sign will be out before we arrive in Pittsburgh."

A CAMPUS RECEPTION

This is the greeting given John Phillip Souso, the bandmaster, when he arrived at University of Southern California, later to play at President-elect Hoover's victory celebration. These two pretty co-eds were capable greeters, don't you agree? Particularly when they kissed him?

GRAZED CAR IS ONLY CLUE

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—One of those series of circumstances so frequent in detective fiction and so rare in reality had drawn two business men today into the case of John Acher, Northwestern University football star severely wounded by gunfire early Sunday morning.

Phillip L. McKee, president of the American Greenhouse Manufacturing Company and reputedly well-to-do, and D. T. Church, a real estate dealer with a "gold coast" address, were taken to detective headquarters during the night for questioning by Commissioner Stege.

It was the opinion of Stege, who ordered McKee held, that McKee was in the automobile from which young Acher was shot and either fatally wounded or crippled for life. The shots were fired, the commissioner believes, by gangster guests of McKee.

McKee's arrest came after he had telephoned police that his automobile, which answers the description of the car from which Acher was shot, had been stolen sometime Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The car when found was locked, both doors and ignition. The right front fender was dented and on the running board was some paint such as was scraped Acher's car when the gunmen's machine glanced against it, starting the altercation which led to the shooting.

The condition of young Acher, a substitute fullback who played in part of the Northwestern-Purdue game, Saturday, was reported early today as "dangerous."

THREE SUMMONED IN AIMEE GRAFT PROBE

RADIO MAN TO FACE JURY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Three persons who played leading roles in the Aimee Semple McPherson conspiracy case here two years ago were reported to have been ordered to appear today before the Los Angeles county grand jury investigating charges of corruption in the office of District Attorney Asa Keyes.

It was understood the trio would be questioned about evidence previously unearthed indicating a large sum of money was spent in clearing Angelus Temple evangelist of a charge of conspiracy to defeat justice by telling an alleged false story to a grand jury about her disappearance in 1926.

The three persons reported called were Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, who has been at odds with her daughter for some months; Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus Temple, who was alleged to have occupied a cottage at Carmel, Cal., with the evangelist during her absence; and Mrs. Lorraine Wisemann-Sielaff, the "Miss X" of the disappearance case, who said it was she and Mrs. McPherson who was in Carmel with Ormiston.

The present phase of the McPherson case was begun when documents given to newspapermen by Mrs. Kennedy were presented to the grand jury, which recently returned indictments charging bribery against Keyes. The exact nature of these documents has not been revealed, though it is understood they have a bearing on the disappearance case.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1928

RADIO STILL SCRAMBLED, FANS VOICE OBJECTIONS

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

"Oh, better than yesterday."

"No squeals?"

Floyd Dunbar, engineer at a downtown station, just smiled. Then grunted, "No squeals?" and twisted the dials over around 370. We thought it was a downtown fire siren.

"Bloops, loops, howls and everything," he said.

Some people have called the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and informed us that they were getting the lower channels all right. How do you account for that?" we interposed.

"True, brother, true—but how many people called to tell you they thought WJAS, KQV and WCAE dropped into the ocean? Oh, quite a few. Well, that's just it."

That is a fair picture of local radio situation after the Federal Radio Commission's new wave length regulations, have been in effect two days.

More faithful tuning. At last!

"Why, of all things, the 'Anvil Chorus' from WLW. How appropriate!"

"Yes, but it's coming in all right."

"Yes?"

Then a terrible bombardment of something or other. One thing sure it wasn't music. So the WLW program flivvered.

"Let's try WPG. They didn't change. Maybe they're OK."

But where WPG used to be there's a whole flock of lions now. Oh, how they did growl!

"Try WBBM."

Well, WBBM was as welcome as Merry Christmas. This was vindication sure for the Federal Radio Commission.

Then over to KYW. Not bad.

It was 8:30 p. m. "Get the Brown Palace Orchestra at KOA," we suggested.

Oh, forgive us!

BADLY SCRAMBLED

What, with KOA, KMA, WCCO, WBBM, WENR, WFLA, WHAS, WLS and WJR cavorting around the 350 band, it was next to impossible.

If the Federal Radio Commission gets them any closer than that we'll have to use a pair of tweezers to pick them out.

Tired of exploring we came back home.

We got a wonderful potpourri of choral singing and Gypsy music from two Pittsburgh stations. The Overture to "Oberon" was exquisite without those extra measures from a station broadcasting "Old Mother Hubbard" on a nearby wave channel. Difference in wavelength? Just 13 meters. Too close for stations in the same city, say we.

So over to KDKA. Ah, there's perfection!

P. A. Boyd is right. "KDKA is not interfering with anyone and we are keeping house much as we have done since 1921." Very good.

Now, KQV isn't bad, except that it is pretty low on the waveband for the average radio set. Hard to get them unless you have a sensitive receiver, but if you do get them you don't have to worry about having a saxophone solo mixed in with your dinner concert.

So that's that!

Just before we left home for this little experiment a much interested party took the time and patience to sift us out of the telephone book.

"Say, Mr. Martin, I think you're all wrong on this wavelength business," he said. "Is the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph sure there is all this confusion or are you only guessing?"

We counted 10.

WE WERE RIGHT

But, anyway, he started us thinking that perhaps we were not altogether right in saying things generally were a mess. So we pondered this over and over in our minds until we got to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph office at 10:45 o'clock last night.

There we found a huge pile of letters from radio fans. They contained a silent verdict. Hastily we ripped them open.

At 1 a. m. this morning with very few precincts missing the count showed that the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph was absolutely right.

So now, just before we tune in on the Nighthawks, we are going to give you a cross section of the votes that were cast:

C. M. Fisher, 1808 Penn avenue: "I can't hear WCAE because of WJAS. This revised scale of broadcast is very unsatisfactory to local listeners."

Ernest McShane, 132 Twenty-first street, Homestead: "Oh, what a wallop! Where can I find WCAE?"

W. H. Mennigthe, Thornburg: "We might as well throw away our radios. I shut off my set in despair."

L. Wolpheimer, 395 Franklin avenue, Aliquippa: "Was WCAE on the air Sunday?"

H. S. Buchanan, Box 186, Saltsburg, Pa.: "Your change of the wavelength is very unsatisfactory. We find the stations, all of them, in a bunch. Except KDKA. Too much interference, noise, fading. We cannot tune out stations as we did before. There are two and three at one setting." (Only we didn't change the wavelength, Mr. Buchanan. Honest we didn't!)

Miss Martha Yinger, 1137 Pennsylvania avenue, North Side: "I was very much dissatisfied with the reception on WCAE. I think WJAS interfered. Is KQV still on the air? I couldn't hear them Sunday."

ONLY ONE STATION

Mary J. Crawford, 217 Carnegie Place: "Since the change in wavelengths we have not been able to get anyone but KDKA. Before the change we could get any station. Am greatly disappointed."

Pittsburgh fans, WCAE is now land avenue: "I have found practically no difference on my dials 'n bringing in KDKA and WCAE."

There were plenty more, each containing a brickbat.

What's the solution to the whole thing?

Just this:

For the time being shorten your antenna, or disconnect the antenna entirely.

Write the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph letters telling how the changes all over the country have affected your reception. Address these letters to the Radio Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. In the lower left corner mark "Special."

If the whole trouble lies in WCAE and WJAS being too close together, as seems to be the case, then an appeal will be made to the Federal Radio Commission in behalf of

No Lost Time by Accidents in 117 Days

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—The Lorain Steel Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, which in 1926 set a plant record of operating for 115 days without a lost-time accident to any of its 2,000 employes, yesterday broke the record when the 117th day passed without a lost-time accident, according to a company announcement.

Noted Greek Scholar Is Burned to Death

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Overcome by fumes from a fire which broke out in the study of his home while he was asleep, Dr. Alexander W. Mair, professor of Greek at Edinburgh University, was burned to death early today before rescuers were able to reach him. Prof. Mair was a noted authority on Greek and has published translations of several ancient Greek writers.

MINER KILLED BY TRAIN

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 13.—A Baltimore & Ohio Railroad train struck and killed Benjamin Everson, 55, a coal miner, of Gypsy, near Everson. State police, who investigated, said the man apparently had fallen asleep on the track.

Disabled Veterans Celebrate Armistice

Songs of the training camps and the French battlefields were sung once again yesterday by the disabled veterans in the United States Veterans Hospital at Aspinwall at a concert provided by Dewey Bergman's orchestra, through the courtesy of Maj. Ben Jolly, manager of Webster Hall. All the popular melodies of the day and the war songs of the allied armies were played by the 10 musicians of Bergman's orchestra. More than 200 veterans attended the concert in the hospital auditorium.

WELFARE FUND WORKERS BUSY ARMISTICE DAY

Patriotic observance of Armistice Day by many residents of Allegheny county yesterday was marked by energetic work in behalf of the Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh and generous contributions to the campaign to raise $965,679 for the joint financing of 25 local philanthropic organizations. Today at a meeting in the William Penn Hotel the results of the Armistice Day activities and the liberality of the people will be made known when the first reports of the canvass will be made.

Edwin W. Smith, chairman of the team of lawyers and judges in the canvass, will preside. He said last night that the enthusiasm shown by the various team captains indicated that large donations would be announced. J. Rogers Flannery, one of the workers in the preliminary canvass, will be the principal speaker. President A. K. Oliver of the Welfare Fund, who is also chairman of the campaign, in calling the workers together urged them to report promptly.

Reports today will be from the trade groups division, George P. Rhodes, chairman, with three divisions under Joseph Dilworth, Horace F. Baker and G. G. Coolidge, chairmen; the employes' division, under the chairmanship of A. W. Robertson, and the women's division, of which Mrs. William Frew is chairman. The women's special teams under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry J. Miller have been especially active and large reports are anticipated from this group.

BERRY, FORMER EDITOR, DIES

David J. Berry, 58, former Pittsburgh newspaperman, died last Saturday morning at his home in San Francisco, Cal. For more than 25 years Mr. Berry was connected with newspapers in the tri-state territory.

In 1892 he established the Latrobe Clipper. Serving as editor for a number years, Berry moved to Greensburg, where he established the Morning Star and the Morning News. He also published newspapers in Fayette county.

Three years ago Berry severed his connections with he National Labor Journal and moved to San Francisco. In 1926 he became president and managing editor of the National Industrial Review, San Francisco. He was publisher of the paper at the time of his death.

Berry was also well known in sport circles 25 years ago. With other Pittsburghers he atempted to organize a professional football league. After a few games, due to poor attendance, in trying out the idea, the league was dissolved.

Berry leaves his wife; one son, Meredith Berry, this city; three brothers and two sisters. He was a member of the Pittsburgh Press Club and Uniontown Elks.

Farmer-Labor Party Re-elects President

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 12.—(AP.)—The next national convention of the Farmer-Labor party will be held in 1932 at a date and place to be selected by Joseph I. Poirer, Minneapolis, who yesterday was re-elected president and national chairman of the party at a reorganization meeting. Only five states were represented, North Dakota, Colorado, Texas, Illinois and South Dakota. The organization, however, claims to have membership in 17 states.

The guiding principle of the party's activities urges the government to go into the business of distribution, but demands that the government stay out of the production end of business.

Babe Sleeps Through Auto Crash Unhurt

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 13.—The 6-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Pace, of Greensburg, slept soundly while the automobile in which it was riding was wrecked, injuring the mother severely. The child was unscathed and did not awaken until after the mishap.

PEGGY HANGS UP RECEIVER!

Before—and after!—his wife divorced him two weeks ago, Lord Northesk, playing about Broadway now, announced that Peggy Hopkins Joyce, lady of many husbands, would marry him. She decided the other day, the story leaks out today, she'd rather go on having "a career." When he called to see if a bit of hope remained, she hung up!

POISON FAILS TO TAKE LIFE

Heart-broken, "beastly tough, you know," the lord bought veronal and aspirin. Dose after dose he swallowed and it only made him "awfully, awfully sick." Not knowing that both, deadly poisons in proper proportions, are almost harmless in overdoses, the earl was perplexed. He decided to jump from his hotel window. The thought that it would be "terribly messy" stayed him—after he looked down!

AND JESSICA DOESN'T CARE

And so a cabby complied with "take me to the toughest part of New York," after the lord "got beastly drunk, you know, in cabarets." He gulped down slugs of foul moonshine on the Bowery, then dared the hardest-looking character to shoot him. Young gangster laughed, paid no attention to the lord's blow and bought him a drink! And Lady Northesk prepares in London to marry another.

PATROLMAN FIGHTS SUPERIOR, FORFEITS $30; SUSPENDED

RESTAURANT QUARREL LEADS TO MUCH TROUBLE

Arrested on a disorderly conduct charge and suspended from duty as a result of creating a disturbance in a restaurant at Third avenue and Blockhouse way, Traffic Patrolman James Dilworth, 29, of 6 East North avenue, forfeited $30 when he failed to appear in Central Police Court this morning.

Dilworth, who directs traffic at Diamond and Ross streets, fought with Traffic Lieut. Jacob Dorsey yesterday when the superior officer asked Dilworth for his revolver and badge while suspending him. Dorsey suffered a bruised right thumb in the tussle and then placed Dilworth under arrest.

No effort will be made by police to get in touch with Dilworth as the disorderly conduct charge was dropped when he forfeited his $30. However he must face the police trial board on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Dawes Talks To Engineers

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Vice President Charles G. Dawes, who was in charge of the service of supply in France, last night addressed a meeting of engineers on problems of that service during the war.

His address dwelt chiefly with a technical description of the service of supply. He told of the difficulty of the service in functioning successfully without a central head and of the final coordination of the centralized allied supply.

Store Official Dies at Singing Rehearsal

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—While singing under the direction of his brother at a rehearsal of the Strawbridge and Clothier store chorus, Harry C. Tily, 61, treasurer of the store, fell dead last night of a heart attack. Mr. Tily was born in England. He came to this country at the age of 10 and was in the service of Strawbridge and Clothier store for 46 years.

Mrs. Augusta Stetson Leaves Only $5,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—The late Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, four years a prominent figure in the Christian Science church, left an estate of "less than $5,000," according to letters of administration granted to her nephew, Harold W. Stimpson, by Surrogate John P. O'Brien. Mrs. Stetson died in Rochester on October 12. The only heir is her sister, Mrs. Estelle Stimpson, of this city.

UNITED CHURCH SERVICES

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 13.—Churches here will unite in a union Thanksgiving service to be held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Dr. Charles G. Jordan, Secretary of Agriculture for the state of Pennsylvania, an ordained minister, will deliver the principal address. Next Sunday morning there will be a city-wide exchange of pulpits arranged by the New Castle Ministerial Association.

Ambassador to Cuba Breaks Collar Bone

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Nov. 13.—Col. Noble B. Judah, ambassador to Cuba, was in a Lake Forest hospital today suffering from a fractured collar bone, sustained while fox hunting with members of the Onwentsia Hunt Club. Col. Judah was thrown heavily when his mount shied at a jump. His condition was reported as favorable.

Young Bandits Shoot As They Rob 2 Men

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 13.—A bullet pierced the hat of John Paskacur, of Farrell, when he and John Hetra resisted a holdup by three youths. One of the bandits fired during a tussle with Paskacur. Hetra was relieved of $50.

NO MOVE MADE TO PUNISH SENATE PARTY BOLTERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Signs of retaliation against members of the Senate who bolted party lines in the Hoover-Smith battle are failing to take shape—unlike the situation four years ago when four Republicans were ejected from their party councils for supporting the late Robert M. LaFollette.

Each party this year has a pair of such recalcitrants. Senators Norris, of Nebraska, and Blaine, of Wisconsin, left the Republican ranks during the campaign to advocate the election of Gov. Smith.

The veteran Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee, and Senator Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, denounced the Democratic presidential nominee.

If either party is contemplating action against its senators who declined to support the national ticket, there is no sign of it among the first of the members to return to the Capitol from the campaign. In fact, few members desire to discuss it.

HEARS OF "REVENGE"

However, Senator Norris, who holds one of the "big five" committee chairmanships of the Senate—the Judiciary Committee—indicated today he had heard rumors of revenge against him, but added he knew of no definite steps.

Four years ago, with a substantial majority in the Senate, the Republicans decided not to invite Senators Frazier and Ladd, of North Dakota; Brookhart, of Iowa, and LaFollette, of Wisconsin, into their conferences. The first three had supported Senator LaFollette in the 1924 presidential campaign. Two years ago the two survivors of this group, Frazier and Brookhart, are once more taken into the fold. By coincidence, both Senators this year advocated the election of Herbert Hoover.

G. E. Engineers to Talk Here Tonight

K. B. McEachron, of the General Electric Company of Pittsfield, Mass., will address local electrical engineers at a meeting tonight in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. The meeting is being held by the Pittsburgh section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the electrical section of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania.

Dog Shoots Gun; Hunter Dies Of Wound

TELLURIDE, COL., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Phil Henry, of Denver, died here of a wound received when a hunting dog stepped upon the trigger of a shotgun, discharging the weapon.

The gun had been placed upon the ground by a member of a hunting party and the dog walked across it, stepping on the trigger. The shot struck Henry in the side.

5,000 More Marines Leave China Dec. 15

SHANGHAI, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Five hundred United States Marines, including infantry, aviation and artillery units, are to be withdrawn from Tientsin to America on December 15. This will leave 1,000 Marines in Tientsin.

Falling Barn Door Kills Aged Farmer

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 13.—J. Lawrence Fisher, 73, farmer of the Neshannock township district, was crushed to death under the door of his barn, when it was blown by the wind from its hangings.

MOOSE LODGE RAIDED

Whisky, beer, gin and large quantities of beer mash were reported confiscated at the Monongahela Lodge No. 135, Loyal Order of Moose, by prohibition agents who visited the lodge home last night. Two men were arrested and the material destroyed by agents and constables from Monongahela.

William McCahill, 53, of Harvard, Pa., and James Natalini, 49, of 424 Warren avenue, Monongahela, were arrested by the raiders. The report at the prohibition headquarters states that 120 pints of beer and a quantity of whisky were found behind the first floor bar while the mash and other liquors were confiscated in the basement.

Rockefeller Gives $500,000 for Jews

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has contributed $500,000 toward the fund being raised in the United States for the development of Jewish farm settlements in Russia, James Rosenberg, chairman of the American Jewish Joint Agricultural Corporation, announced yesterday.

Have you all of your own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you will know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial denture" is the extravagant price of self-neglect—false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and under-exercised as they are, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avail yourself of the best care that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night.

But for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums . . . the dentifrice specifically designed to firm gums and keep them sound and healthy, thus protecting them from the attack of disease.

Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth white and protects them from acids, which cause decay. Get a tube of Forhan's—today!

D. A. R. ACT ASSAILED, ALSO DEFENDED HERE

Mrs. Carroll Miller, a militant and outspoken member of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, criticized the national board yesterday for suspending Mrs. Mary P. MacFarland, of Hanover, N. J., who opposed the so-called D. A. R. "blacklist."

The "blacklist" contained the names of prominent persons who were designated as not eligible as speakers at D. A. R. events because they had expressed pacifistic leanings.

"It seems to me that the national board failed to realize the results of the American Revolution which are embodied in the Constitution," Mrs. Miller said. "Think of what our Revolutionary ancestors would say of their descendants denying the right of free speech. I have read Mrs. McFarland's articles and consider them able and truthful. If that be treason make the best of it."

On the other hand, Mrs. W. D. Hamilton, regent of the Pittsburgh chapter, said her personal opinion was that the national board had done exactly right and pointed to President Coolidge's address of last night in which he reiterated that this country must have adequate national defense. Therefore, she said she would uphold the national board.

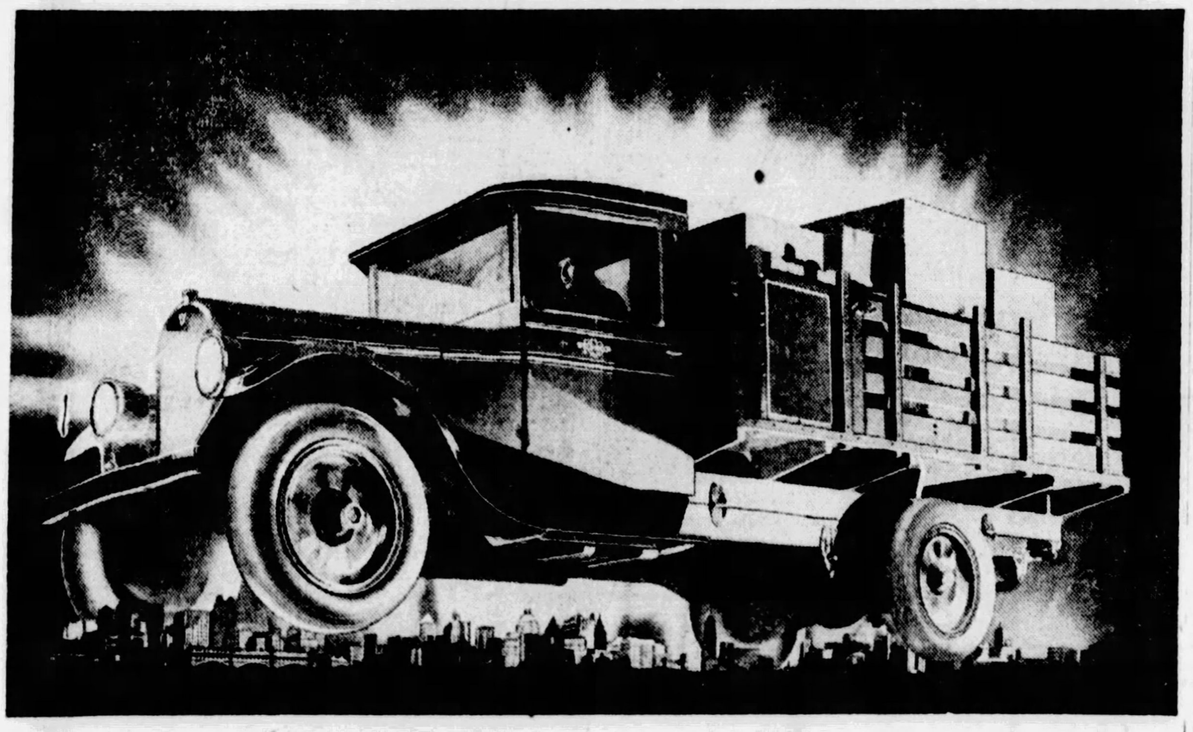
Mrs. Miller denied reports that she had resigned from the local chapter. She said that she was the former historian and was going to accept for a second time. A Jefferson program was to have been carried out and she suggested that a Jew, Catholic and Gentile be placed on the program in order that the clergy of these denominations be represented. Mrs. Miller says that while the regent looked with favor on the proposition, she was advised by former regents that to carry out such a suggestion would split the organization wide open and her suggestion was not adopted. Mrs. Miller did not accept the historian office in consequence of that action.

Aliens From Canada Must Have Passports

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 13.—All aliens except British subjects entering this country from Canada must have a passport and visa from the country to which they owe allegiance, Federal Judge Hazel ruled here. About 450 aliens who were permitted to enter this country after filing bond of $250 are affected by the ruling.

ONLY Speed Wagons

Offer All These Cost-Reducing Features Developed to Such a Degree



1 Ample power for weight—for swift acceleration—ability to meet all traffic needs.

3 Low unsprung weight for greater tire mileage, easier riding and protection to load.

LEARN how these features can be profitably applied to your present hauling or delivery problems. A Speed Wagon representative will be glad to give you facts—and prove them, too, in a demonstration.

These three factors safeguard profits by holding down expense. Speed Wagons are designed to meet these three vital requirements.

Ample Power For Weight. Reo engineers have done more than provide powerful motors. Dead, useless weight is scientifically eliminated—so pay loads can be increased. Weight is matched with horse-power. The result is an utterly new kind of performance.

For swift acceleration in traffic, in hill-climbing and above all in ability to move smoothly away under their loads without wearing strain. Thus Reo Speed Wagons last longer—make fewer visits to the repair shop.

Speed Wagons perform like pleasure cars. So they hold to faster schedules, enlarge delivery or hauling radius and increase business.

Hydraulic Brakes. Keen competition requires fast service—with safety. Speed Wagons offer the needed swiftness. In addition they offer the full protection of quick acting 4-Wheel Hydraulic Brakes—for driver, public and merchandise. Light pressure on the brake pedal brings you smoothly to an instant stop.

Easy Riding For Load and Driver. The amount of weight below the springs is called "unsprung" weight. It largely controls riding ease—freedom from road shocks that wear out driver and damage loads.

Speed Wagons are low-hung. Springs are long and wide. So drivers find unjolted comfort. Repair bills are reduced. Longer life is assured. Tire mileage is increased and damage to merchandise is minimized.

Whatever your problems in delivering and hauling, there is a wheel-base size and tonnage capacity in the Speed Wagon line that will meet 93% of trucking requirements—13 wheel-base sizes and 5 tonnage capacities from ½ to 3 tons. Prices $895.00 to $2150.00.

Accept This Offer. A Speed Wagon delivery and hauling expert will gladly call and discuss your problems. He will show you facts and figures on costs and service.

He will demonstrate how Reo Speed Wagons measure up to these three vital features. He will let you put a Speed Wagon to your own tests. Start it! Step on it! Park it! Stop it! Telephone the Reo dealer today.

GARDNER RECALLS WITNESSES IN PROBE

WOMAN OWNER OF ROADHOUSE SUMMONED

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner apparently was not to previous steps as to-day called jury, investigating vice conditions this morning, convened a grand Armistice Day recess, he summoned Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arnold, proprietors of Fox Trot Inn, Perry Highway.

Mrs. Arnold had appeared before the grand jury earlier in the probe. Other witnesses on hand to testify were John Chapman, of Brush Creek Inn, Perry Highway; Margarita Lambert Dominic, of 2115 Monongahela avenue, Swissvale; N. J. Rayman, of the East End, and Tony Viso of 1205 Gibbons street.

Viso was arrested Saturday on a liquor violation charge, and since had been incarcerated in the county jail.

District Attorney Gardner announced he would push his inquiry into the lottery once today. This phase of the investigation, he said, promised to be the most fruitful of all he has undertaken.

Meanwhile, he has extended time for those among the 241 indicted this month who have not yet filed bonds. Bonds have yet to be filed against forty of the persons indicted. Gardner announced he would give them until Thursday night to do so, and if they had not done so by then, warrants would be handed to county detectives for the delinquents.

WILLIAM NEDDE CRAG VICTIM

A Masonic pin and a few personal effects brought about identification of the body of a man found Sunday at the foot of "Lover's Leap," near Sloops Ferry, Norman A. Nedde, of 108 Capitol avenue, identified the body as that of his father, William Nedde, 49, who disappeared from his home July 27. When last seen, Nedde complained of pains in the head. He was a retired business man.

The body had lain at the foot of the cliff for several months, deputy coroners had earlier they had been called by hunters who found it. The body, at the scene of the tragedy, is known as "Lover's Leap," because of a story that a youth whose suit was spurned by his sweetheart hurled himself to death from the eminence.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that caused the rainy condition over this section yesterday is now far up the Atlantic coast and the high that covered the Plains states now covers the entire country from the central plains eastward with its crest over the Ohio Valley states. Highest barometer is 30.48 inches, at Indianapolis and at Louisville. The high is attended by clear skies generally and seasonable temperatures, the lowest temperature being 30 degrees, at Fort Wayne.

A low pressure area of marked extent and intensity covers the far West. Lowest barometer is 29.36, at Edmonton, Alberta, and 29.44 inches, at Tonopah, Nevada. The low is producing light rains over the states west of the Rockies except at San Francisco, where 1.46 inches occurred.

River Conditions.

The rains over the rivers were light but there is a slight rise in both rivers above Pittsburgh. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.6 feet. Dam No. 2, 8.4, and Dam No. 6, 7.6. The dams are up.

BUGS BAER Says

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Here's hoping they can't get rooms.

These boys call themselves the greeters. Their idea of a good old-fashioned southern hospitality is to give you one of those genial glares that would make a polar bear look around for a warmer iceberg.

Times have changed since the oldtime boniface held forth in the wayside inn and offered bed and board to man, beast and insect.

Step into any modern hotel lobby, try to sneak a nap in a needle-point chair, and observe how the house detective speeds the parking guest.

Hotels are now run strictly for efficiency and its compotent ingredients. The hotel clerk is just as glad to see you as if you hadn't arrived.

The guest skirmishes up to the desk and gets a greeting. The first thing he knows he is shaking hands with a pen.

There was a backward period in our established progress when a round dollar was considered sufficient for the best room and bath in the house.

Now, 10 iron spankers is a low price for an eight-hour lease on a bunk and tub.

Hotels nowadays consist of a thousand rooms, a thousand baths, just as many telephones and no exits except the one past the cashier.

But the greeters have a good time when they get together once a year in New York. They spend the week practicing greets on one another.

The one with the best greet is made president of the league. A good greeter is always glad to see you, and when he gives you that large, porcelain smile he can make you feel at home when he is giving you the bum's rush.

The largest hotel in the world is now being constructed in New York. It will contain 6,000 rooms, 16 elevators and a private mail chute for every guest. Exactly 1,100 bell boys will hop the gongs. With an army like that every ambitious youth has a chance for a military career.

Hunters Warned Against Diseased Rabbits

READING, Pa., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—The discovery of numerous cases in Berks county of tularemia, a disease affecting rabbits, has caused Dr. E. R. Romberger, city food inspector, to issue a warning to hunters to use rubber gloves in dressing all rabbits they shoot.

The disease causes a fatal fever, swelling and internal ulcers in the animals and they are soon thereafter found dead in secluded places in the woods. Romberger advises hunters not to handle such animals.

Sleepy, weak, slow-running animals are generally found infected with the disease. The infection, transmitted to human beings, causes fever, chills, sweating, delirium and headaches, and sometimes ulcers on the hands and under the arms, it is stated.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

DR. W. B. CALDWELL M.D. AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headache, and to break up fevers and colds. Note special coupon offer:

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

MAURETANIA IN GRIP OF GALE

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(AP.)—The Daily Mail last night received a radiogram from the liner Mauretania saying that some of her passengers had been slightly injured during gales which the ship had battled for three days. The wind was reported to have attained a velocity of 80 miles an hour with exceptionally high seas.

The captain said that it was one of the worst gales he had encountered in recent years.

The Charm of the Dinner Hour

WHETHER you dine at home, or choose the gay informality of the restaurant—the frock you wear must be gorgeous in its fabric and color.

For fabric and color have never so dominated the mode. For daytime, Barbara Lee endorses high-shade crepes. Chenille lace—one of Chanel's smartest contributions—appears, like other evening fabrics, in the darker hues. The afternoon mode has the glamour of the new, fabulously sheer metal weaves.

Each youthful costume—$39.50.

Barbara Lee

(Left)—Casual formality characterizes this two-tiered, sheer metallic frock of multi-colored brocade. Brown, blue and black backgrounds. 14 to 20.

Three Aristocrats in

Daytime Footwear

Because they are artistically designed—
Because they possess character, which in a shoe means invisible elements which cause it to conform perfectly to the foot and to retain its shape—
Because they are of suede (black or brown), which is Fashion's darling in the present footwear mode—
—For the above reasons, these shoes can truly be called Aristocrats of Footwear. $18.50, $20.00, $22.50.

GREAT METEOR DISPLAY IS DUE TO RETURN SOON

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 13. (AP.)—The mystery of the Leonids, the most spectacular of the world's meteoric showers, forecast by some astronomers for appearance this week, is explained by Dr. Willard J. Fisher, the fire ball expert of Harvard observatory. All this week they are worth watching, Dr. Fisher says, since they are forerunners of the great display expected to return in a few years.

Fifteen great historic showers of the Leonids are recorded from 902 A. D. until 1901. Twenty-nine years ago Prof. W. H. Pickering, of Harvard, discovered that the showers recur at intervals of about 34 years. It had been believed that they came a little oftener. In announcing the 34-year period, Prof. Pickering forecast a display in 1901 and reports from the Caribbean that year told of meteors like "snow flakes in a blizzard." He forecast the next great display "whose maximum was not to be expected before 1936."

"The forerunners of this predicted return," says Dr. Fisher, "of the Leonids should begin to appear this year or next. In order to forestall any possible change in the period, and to get all the stages of the rise and fall of the showers at this return, persons interested will begin to count the Leonids this year, and later, from November 10 to 17. The number at first will be small, but inclusive results should not be taken lightly."

Vets of '61 Die as Drums for '18 Roll

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 13—While Armistice Day was being celebrated in the Valley by World War soldiers, two veterans of the Civil War died. They were Capt. James H. Johnson, 88, of White township, and John Allison, 94, of 1424 Seventh avenue.

FOG BLAMED IN FATAL CRASH

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Nov. 13.—A dense fog was blamed for an automobile accident on the Freeport road hill when Leo Lewandrowski, Sr., 36, of Natrona, was killed and his son, Leo, Jr., 13, suffered cuts and bruises. Leo Grabowski, of Natrona, who was driving, lost his way and the car overturned. Grabowski and a fourth occupant escaped injury.

St. Marys Banker's Funeral Tomorrow

RIDGWAY, Pa., Nov. 13.—Funeral services for N. J. Tierney, 69, who died at St. Marys Sunday from a stroke of paralysis will be held tomorrow at the Sacred Heart Church. Mr. Tierney was vice president of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of St. Marys. He was a member of St. Marys Council, Knights of Columbus, and of the Fourth Degree Assembly, of the lodge, and was the council's first grand knight.

TO REPEAT:

The largest allowance offered on your present car may NOT be the best deal for you

FOR the past two years General Motors has been publishing basic facts about trading allowances. During that time many car buyers have come to a realization that the largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal. The facts are repeated here:

Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value: i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

Your present car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your present car.

Remember that you are making a purchase—not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply using your present car as a credit against the new car's purchase price.

ZEPPELIN STOWAWAY MUST FINISH EDUCATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Whatever Clarence "Red" Terhune may want to do with his future when he returns today from his stowaway trip to Germany in the Zeppelin, his sister is determined he shall finish his education.

With her husband, George H. Hall and F. MacCambridge, who will be Clarence's business manager, she discussed plans for his future yesterday and said:

"I am his guardian now. And I am sure of one thing. Whatever offers may be made to Clarence, not one of them will be passed by me unless it gives him an opportunity to finish his education.

"Clarence has wonderful possibilities. He is a very good boy, and does not drink, nor use tobacco in any form. He never has had any sweethearts that I know of, and he is not girl crazy.

"The only fault he has ever developed so far as I know is his habit of running off on these wild adventures, and now that one of them has made a future possible for him, I want to see that he takes advantage of it—and see that it does not take advantage of him."

Six American passengers and "Red," the stowaway, will be tendered a reception luncheon by the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce Thursday noon.

Maltas Plan Circus Of 2 Rings Dec. 1-8

The Knights of Malta of Greater Pittsburgh are laying plans for a real, two-ring circus with wild animals, clowns, trapeze artists, gay pageants, ballyhooers, sideshows and peanuts in Motor Square Garden, December 1 to 8. One of the features of the circus will be a jungle wedding, when a particularly courageous couple will be married in a den of lions. Wedding gifts totaling $1,000 will be presented to the couple so wed. The circus will be staged under the direction of the Malta Temple Association, of which Mathias Langsdale is president and Albert Gawinske is secretary. W. O. Gorman will stage the circus.

Peaches Cuts Tour to Be at Divorce Trial

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 13.—(INS.)—Frances ("Peaches") Heenan Browning will make another court appearance next Monday. She will cut short her vaudeville tour to answer Mrs. Katherine Allen when the latter's divorce suit is heard in White Plains.

Mrs. Allen names "Peaches" as corespondent.

SMITH PARTING MESSAGE ON AIR TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith tonight, in a half-hour radio address, will give his parting "message to the American people."

The Governor upon his arrival here from Albany announced that no advance copies of his talk would be given out nor would he intimate just what would be its nature. He will speak from the National Broadcasting Studio, starting at 8 o'clock.

Tommorrow he will leave with several friends for a vacation of several weeks "somewhere in the South." He said he did not know where he was going.

"I haven't seen Bill Kenny yet," he said. "He is fixing things up. We are going where the temperature is 75 in the shade."

He said he did not think he would stop at Warm Springs, Ga., to see Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor-elect.

"I am trying to get away from politics. I've had a lot of it for four months."

None of the members of his family will accompany him. The Governor expects to spend the greater part of his time playing golf.

The broadcasting of the Governor's speech will be over the WEAF chain of the National Broadcasting System, including WCAE.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Hard and Large, Face Disfigured. Cuticura Heals.

"I had sore pimples on my face for a year. They were hard, large and red, and although I tried different remedies nothing seemed to help me. The pimples itched and burned and when I scratched them they would fester and scale over. They disfigured my face and I was ashamed to go anywhere.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it a few days I noticed that it stopped the irritation so I purchased more, and in two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Elva M. Orr, Rt. 2, Elverson, Pa.

ELDERLY CITIZEN REGAINS HEALTH

East End Man Claims Ten Herbs Proved Wonderful; Benefits Were Far-Reaching.

"I am a man 70 years old, and when a medicine can help a man of my years the way Ten Herbs did, it must have merit; so I am glad of the opportunity to publicly recommend your preparation and thereby help others to get on the right road to health," was the statement of Mr. Lewis Davis, 6633 Lirick Street, East End, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of people.

MR. LEWIS DAVIS

"My stomach used to be in a bad condition," Mr. Davis continued. "I had a poor appetite, and what little I ate would rift up on me and cause so much gas that I would belch loudly. All my organs seemed to be in sympathy with my stomach, as none of them worked right. I was so constipated that it brought on complications. My kidneys seemed to be disordered as there were terrible pains across my back. I had rheumatism in my legs and the pains would shoot from my knees down. My liver did not work properly, as I was bilious, and had a coated tongue and bad taste in my mouth. My general condition made me so nervous that I could not sleep right, and I had to arise every little while during the night.

"Ten Herbs changed all these conditions. I have a good appetite and can eat almost anything without the rifting and belching. My bowels are regular and my liver and kidneys are working like they should. Pains have left my back and I do not have to arise at night. Biliousness, coated tongue and bad taste have left me and rheumatism has been greatly relieved. My sleep is sound all night long. I have more ambition and feel healthier and stronger in every respect. I sell merchandise and have told many of my customers about Ten Herbs, as it is surely a wonderful medicine."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

WESTINGHOUSE SERVES EVERYWHERE

Electrical building is . . silent building

Some day, on the street where you live or work, a big building will be started. And you'll expect to hear, for days and days, the head-splitting rattle of the riveter's hammer, joining the steel together. But instead, the building will go up in almost ghostly silence. Men with masks will clamber along the beams; strange purple and violet lights will flash where they are working. The steel of that building will be welded together with electricity.

The development of silent electric arc welding for structural steel erection is a Westinghouse contribution to the building industry. Already, buildings have been successfully erected by arc welding. Comparative plans show that 12 per cent less steel is required than for a riveted structure. The principle has proved successful. Progressive modern builders are studying it and turning to it.

RUNS WILD WITH BOTTLES; SHOW WINDOWS TARGETS

His pockets filled with pop bottles, Anthony Neamis, 26, no home, created excitement on Sixth avenue early today by running through the street hurling bottles promiscuously along the way. One bottle narrowly missed Costa Natrofeulos, proprietor of the Sun Dry Cleaning Company, at 530 Sixth avenue, after it had crashed through a large plate glass window of the place.

Another bottle was snatched from the hands of Henry Knipp, an employe of the county road engineering department, and hurled against a passing street car. Knipp had helped Traffic Officers Harry Meyers and Robert Thompson take the bottles from the man.

Neamis, police say, took the bottles from a case at Wylie and Sixth avenues and used the windows of the New Strang Restaurant on the corner as his first target. He missed and then threw the bottles through the cleaning company's window. He also smashed a bottle against the office of J. P. Oliver, a locksmith, at 518 Sixth avenue. He was captured at Sixth and Webster avenues by the police, who heard the cries of a score of pedestrians who were giving chase.

Shortage of Officers In Army Engineers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Despite the acquisition of 28 officers, 24 of whom came from West Point, the Army Engineers' Corps is 22 short of its authorized strength of 769. Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of engineers, informed Secretary of War Davis in his annual report for the year ending June 30 that the corps was in need of colonels and lieutenant colonels and that the duties and responsibilities usually borne by men of their rank have devolved upon majors. The report was made public today.

AUTOS HIT TWO; DRIVERS HELD

Running from behind a street car into the path of an automobile, police say, Herman Steiner, 71, of 5 Miller street, was struck and injured early today. He is in Passavant Hospital suffering cuts and bruises. W. F. Eichelsbacher, of 230 Dunseith street, driver of the machine was arrested on a reckless driving charge. The accident occurred at Center avenue and Miller street.

Miss Marie Nicholas, of 287 McKee place, was seriously injured last midnight when hit by an automobile in Forbes street near Halket street. She was taken to Magee Hospital where it was said she was injured internally. Police arrested Roy M. Lowman, of 502 Griffth street, as the driver of the machine.

The GENERAL TIRE

It's the second 10,000 miles that makes the big hit

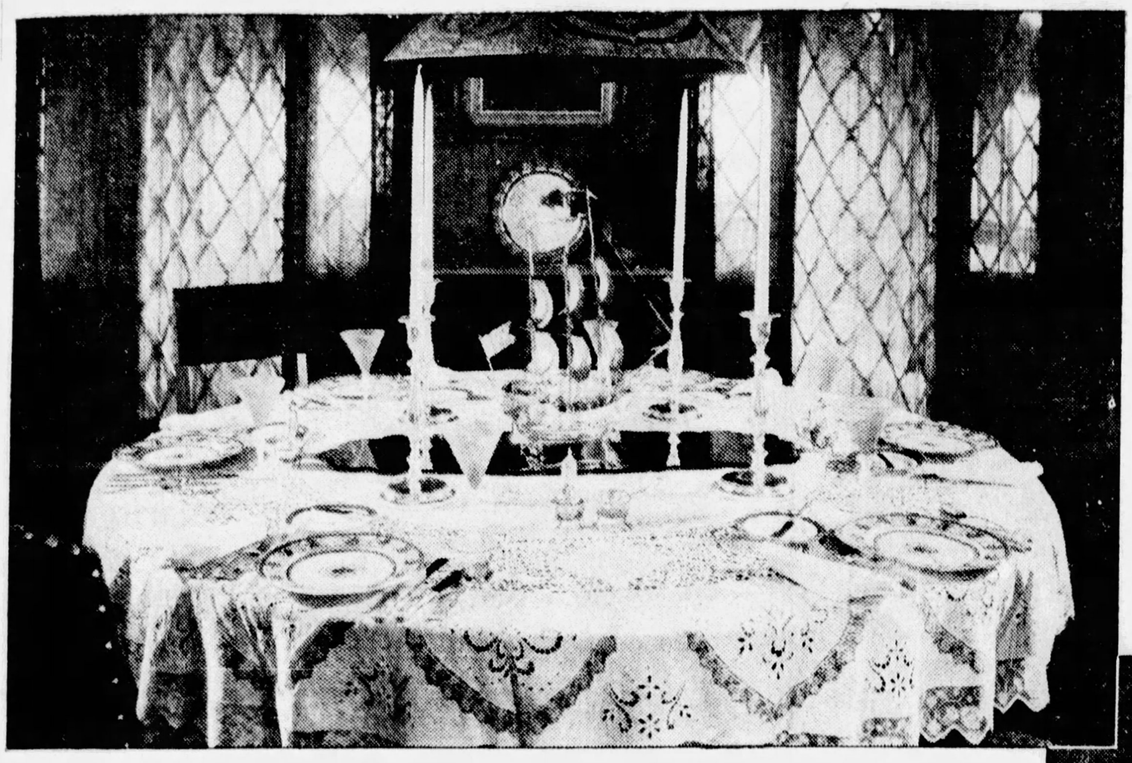

TABLE SET FOR "SUNDAY LUNCHEON"—THE MOST TYPICAL FORM OF ENTERTAINING AT SINNISSIPPI FARM. The dining room has windows on three sides and a fireplace opposite one doorway. The high panelled walls and timbered ceiling are painted a very light grey, with the small spaces between a soft, pale green, matching the brocade hangings and the rug. The leaded casement windows have white glass curtains. The furniture is walnut with the seats and backs of the chairs done in green hair cloth. This color note is also carried out in the English service plates and bread and butter plates of green and gold, and in the opaque green goblets. Sunday luncheon menu is: canape or soup, duck with fried apples and appropriate vegetables, ice cream, cake and coffee.

"It has always been my pleasure to plan the details of the entertaining that is done in my home, and the question of coffee has seemed to me of especial importance in giving the menu its final touch of success. I prefer a mellow blended flavor like that of Maxwell House Coffee."

Florence Pullman Lowden

MRS. FRANK LOWDEN expresses in her home the elegance of simplicity

MRS. FRANK LOWDEN gives much of herself to everything she does.

Daughter of the famous inventor of the Pullman sleeping car and dining car, who contributed so enormously to the growth of railway service in America—wife of the former governor of Illinois—Mrs. Lowden has spent her life in the midst of great affairs.

Yet she has preserved in all her relationships an unswerving gracious simplicity—an unflurried recognition of what is essential and fine—an elimination of all that is empty and superfluous.

No formally gorgeous social pageants take place in the Lowden home. Whether in August on their island in the St. Lawrence, or through the fall and spring months at their beloved Sinnissippi Farm at Oregon, Illinois, their hospitality most often takes the form of small dinners and intimate, friendly house parties.

The history of Maxwell House Coffee makes a natural appeal to those who, like Mrs. Lowden, have an appreciation for the sincere determination to attain an ideal.

A gentleman of the Old South worked over the blending of one after another of hundreds of choice coffee flavors until he achieved the special shade of richness which gives Maxwell House Coffee such character and individuality. It got its first recognition—and its name—from the old Maxwell House where distinguished beaux and belles of the South gathered to enjoy the delicious food and wonderful coffee. Now Maxwell House has become the best-liked coffee in America—the coffee served by many a celebrated hostess from coast to coast.

You will want to indulge your own family in this particularly good coffee. Your grocer has it ready for you in tightly sealed tins which preserve to the last spoonful its mellow fragrance and flavor.

MRS. FRANK LOWDEN, wife of the former governor of Illinois—was Miss Florence Pullman, daughter of the late George M. Pullman. Mrs. Lowden spends the greater part of her time at the Lowden estate, Sinnissippi Farm. This is a "model farm" located in the rolling, wooded country overlooking the picturesque Rock River, near Oregon, Illinois. Here free reign is given to a sturdy American preference for sincere and simple living.

The large house is half timbered and rambles peacefully along a knoll facing beautifully groomed, broad, green lawns sloping down to the river and the woods beyond. There is an excellent stable and charming bridle paths carry the fortunate week-end guest through forty-five hundred acres of delightful wooded pastures.

"HERE THE NOTABLES OF OLD DIXIE CAME TO DINE"—the artist commemorates a typical arrival of "quality" to dine at the Old Maxwell House, which was the scene of many distinguished events in the South. The coffee which won its first fame here is now preferred by celebrated hostesses of our own day.

EXQUISITE DETAIL—even to the maids in trim green uniforms who bring in the after-dinner coffee tray and serve rich, fragrant Maxwell House Coffee in cups of soft leaf green.

RADIO AUDIENCE! CONCERT EVERY THURSDAY

Weekly radio program of delightful music by the famous Maxwell House Coffee Concert Orchestra, is broadcast from WJZ, WBZ, WBZA, WHAM, KDKA, WJR, KYW, WTMJ, WOC, WHO, WOW, KOA, WCCO, KSD, WDAF, KVOO, WBAP, KPRC, WSB, WSM, WMC, WHAS, WLW, WBAL, WBT, WJAX, WEBC, KGO, KPO, KFI, KGW, KOMO, KHQ. Tune in every Thursday evening for the Maxwell House Coffee Program.

SPECIAL PRIZES

For the best ad written this week about their firm, the W. M. Laird Shoe Company will give the choice of merchandise to the value of ten dollars.

The following special prizes, in addition to the $15,000 in prizes originally announced, are offered in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Zain Ad-Test:

THE LEWIN-NEIMAN COMPANY, 305 Smithfield street, will give two special prizes of merchandise certificates worth $25 each for the two best ads of this period. The winning ads must be written on Lewin-Neiman Company stationery, which must be asked for in person at the wrapping desk, women's coat department, second floor.

CRUIKSHANK BROS. offer one case of "Cru-Bro" Jelly (2 doz.) for each of the five best ads submitted this period, as selected by this concern.

If the $1,000 grand prize ad be written about the GENERAL HOMES CORPORATION, this firm will give to the winner $1,000 on the purchase price of a home in Marshall Manor, Brighton road and Marshall avenue.

THE PEOPLES NATURAL GAS CO. will give a Humphrey Radiant Fire Heater to the person writing the best ad about their firm.

POTTER TITLE & MORTGAGE GUARANTEE CO. offer $10 in gold to each writer of the five best ads submitted on the subject of "Title Insurance" during the entire Ad-Test.

MAX AZEN offers a $100 Fox Scarf for the best ad on their store during the entire Ad-Test. If the $1,000 grand prize ad is about their store the writer will receive a $500 natural squirrel coat.

B. K. ELLIOTT CO. offer a pair of binoculars for the best ad written about their business during entire Ad-Test; a Moore Pen Desk Set for second best ad; and a fountain pen for each of the three best ads this period.

FEDERAL TOBACCO CO. will give one box Arco Specials to each of five winners on this product this period.

TECH ICE CREAM will give a gallon of ice cream for each of the five best ads on their product this period.

SAM'S UMBRELLA SHOP, 635 Penn avenue, will give a $10 silk umbrella for the best ad written about their firm this period.

For the best ad written about the ROOSEVELT HOTEL this period, they will give a dinner for four to the winner.

S. HAMILTON COMPANY will give a portable Victrola and six records to the person writing the best ad for their firm this period.

THE TERHEYDEN COMPANY, 530 Smithfield street, offers two prizes for the seventh period. For the best ad written by a man about their firm they will give a "Bulova" strap watch; for the best ad written by a woman a "Bulova" wristlet watch.

For the best ad written about their firm this period, the HARRIS AMUSEMENT COMPANY will give a private box of 11 seats at the Sheridan Square Theater. For the second best ad a private box at the Harris Theater, and for the third best ad a block of 12 seats at the Harris South Hills Theater, Dormont.

For the best ad written about stationery and office supplies during the seventh period the STEVENSON & FOSTER COMPANY will give $10 worth of merchandise, to be selected by the winner at their stationery store. For the best ad on printing for this period, the STEVENSON & FOSTER COMPANY will give $10 worth of merchandise. This selection may be made from Christmas gift stock, fancy or general stationery, or greeting cards.

THE HALLER BAKING COMPANY will give one five-pound Haller's Holiday Fruit Cake, in a decorated metal box, to the person writing the best ad about their firm during the last week of the Zain Ad-Test. For the five next best ads Haller Baking Company offer a book of 10 tickets of Haller's Special Family Bread to each winner.

THE MAUSOLEUM CONSTRUCTION COMPANY will give a single compartment on the foyer floor of their Mausoleum to the winner of the $1,000 prize if the prize-winning ad is written about the Mount Royal Memorial Mausoleum.

For the best ad written about their business this period PICKERING'S will give an "occasional table" to the writer.

The W. M. LAIRD COMPANY will give for the best ad about their store during the final period the writer's choice of any $10 shoes in the house or merchandise to the amount of $10.

COMPETITION WILL CLOSE THURSDAY AT MIDNIGHT

Three days to win a thousand dollars!
Today, Wednesday and Thursday.
This is your OPPORTUNITY!

If you have never exerted yourself before to win a big prize—if you have never previously deviated from the routine of your daily life in the effort to capture a rich reward, do it now. Write advertisements for the $15,000 Zain Ad Test.

Write an ad about the business products or service of each of the 39 local concerns co-operating in the test. For the best ad received in the office of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph before midnight next Thursday night $1,000 in cash will be paid. You may win more than that, for several firms have announced that if the winning ad deals with their business they will give supplementary prizes, which in several cases are worth as much as the capital prize. And even if you should fail to win the $1,000 prize there is still a chance to win one of the additional special prizes.

You may be a mechanic, a housewife, a laborer, a seamstress. It makes no difference. However remote your occupation may be from salesmanship or writing, it does not preclude your having ideas. And it is ideas that are wanted in the test. It is the ideas that will be paid for. If you have a thought that will serve to direct attention forcefully to the business or product of one of the 39 firms, you are already equipped for a try for that $1,000 prize. Put your thought into words. Send it in.

Visit the stores of the 39 concerns, inspect their goods, inquire about their service, ask questions freely. You will find them all glad to help you.

Here are some suggestions:

In writing an ad for Harmony Milk emphasize its natural purity. Call attention to the sanitary condition of its production.

In writing of Pickering's give some thought to the service they render young married couples by selling them furniture on credit.

The advantages of the Kelvinator over other refrigerators deserve consideration.

The usefulness of electricity in the home, in the operation of labor-saving devices, should be the theme of your advertisement for the Duquesne Light Company.

The fact that there is no afterglow to Palmer's Strikalite matches commends them to your attention. They do not break in striking either.

Try some of Cruikshank's Cru-Bro jelly. It will make you eloquent in sounding its praises.

In writing of Amoco Gas try to find some effective way of describing its power and the economy of using it because of the mileage it gives per gallon.

In your ad about the Yellow Cab Company tell how easy it is to get quick, safe, reliable transportation, merely by calling Court 5700.

To be eligible for the $1,000 prize you must have written some time during the campaign at least one ad about each of the 39 concerns. If you have not won one of the $100 weekly prizes, and have sent in no ads since last Wednesday, submit others.

Read the rules carefully.

Each ad should be written on a separate sheet of paper, which should be at least as large as a postal card, and preferably commercial letter size. Put your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope in which you mail them. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

To Rheumatic Sufferers:

New Concentration from Europe Poured in Your Own Bath Tub Gives Quick Relief from Pain

Astonishing as the results are, they must be true, for the importer of this new discovery offers a test bath to all sufferers from chronic Rheumatic diseases at no cost whatever, if they do not receive blessed relief from the very first bath. This new discovery is called Transkutan. It combines in a new and more effective way ingredients of known value to the medical profession including actual concentration of famous European mineral springs. It is used by pouring it into a bath in your own tub at home.

And note! There are no long drawn out expensive treatments that do not show for months whether or not they are helping you. The very first Transkutan bath will determine whether or not you can expect relief from the Transkutan treatment. European specialists say 97% of all cases benefit magically thru Transkutan—if you are one of the 3% who do not benefit, the treatment costs you nothing.

Do this: Go to any of (May's) Drug Stores or McCulloch Stores or your favorite druggist right now. Merely deposit with him $5 for your test bottle of Transkutan. If you happen to be one of the rare few who do not experience noticeable relief from pain from the first Transkutan bath return the empty bottle to the druggist and he will immediately return your $5 deposit. Thus you can determine, without risking one cent, whether or not Transkutan can help you.

GAYETY PLAYERS PRESENT "THE LITTLE SPITFIRE" AND WIN APPROVAL

By GEORGE SEIBEL

THE second week of the new stock company at the Gayety Theater opened pleasantly last night with a play that gives this well-assorted group of players an opportunity to do some earnest and intelligent work. "The Little Spitfire" would seem to have been built by Myron C. Fagan just to give a stock company its big chance. It is a comedy depending for its laughs upon the most obvious of laugh-producing situations and the most elemental of laugh-producing characters. There is a romance in it depending for its interest upon the never-found-wanting ingredients of fiction and drama. And the players acquitted themselves nobly—Mary Ann Dentler as the "little spitfire" and Robert Lowes as the hero both made an excellent impression.

Mr. Lowes has nothing much to do beyond looking intelligent and pleasant, but that is a very difficult piece of business for the average leading man, and can seldom be managed by any one who is not both intelligent and pleasant. Miss Dentler has more moods to portray, but her sincerity and charm won the hearts of the audience, as she had won the heart of "Bobby," the millionaire's son who married a chorus girl.

That gives the gist of the plot. The aristocratic family which traces its ascent from a chain of cigar stores will not receive their new daughter-in-law without more or less of a row. The former fiancee of the son and an old admirer of the chorus girl are both hanging around to make trouble, and they succeed. He entraps the girl's brother to steal some money in order to play a stock pool, and she brings the family to the other man's room when the girl goes there to get back the money and save her brother. So husband and wife are parted. In the last act the husband returns to get his wife, after beating up the villain, and the nicotine aristocracy beg their daughter-in-law to forgive them.

There is a good deal of give-and-take comedy between a sarcastic wife who is always rubbing in her husband's deficiencies, while he is always showing off his cleverness and telling what he is going to do. Kenneth Rowland and Sidonia Corelli made a hit in these complimentary parts. Sally Wall also did fine work as the catfish fiancee, and George Lessey struck a sympathetic note as the father-in-law. Carleton Young, Lora Rogers, Frederick Earle, Milton Boyle and J. R. O'Neil acquitted themselves capably.

Every city ought to have its stock company, to present the spoken drama at popular prices, and this group at the Gayety seems to be well assorted and selected to supply the need. Their stage sets are well built, the players work together harmoniously, and there is a general atmosphere of earnest endeavor that augurs success for the enterprise after they get their stride and the public finds its way to this old home of burlesque.

"Terror" Talks In Regent Bill

"The Terror," mystery-talkie, is being seen this week in the Regent. The cast includes May McAvoy, Louise Fazenda, Edward Everett Horton and Alice B. Francis. "The Terror" has as its locale an English manor house, and the story has to do with the search for hidden loot by a strange assemblage of people, all menaced by a monster in cloak, who amuses himself by whisking folks up flues, down traps and into his torture chamber.

"Whoopee" Goes Well in Nixon

Attracting an audience of size that indicates interest still is strong in the latest Florenz Ziegfeld production, "Whoopee" began its second week in the Nixon last night and was as enthusiastically received as on the opening night. The comedy, as noted last week, is very long, and is so filled with the spectacular and the unusual that, although it now moves along at high speed, it still needs about three hours for presentation. Eddie Cantor's comedy, the wealth of gorgeous costuming, elaborate production and beauty of the girls are the high lights of this music play, which is an adaptation of the Owen Davis work, "The Nervous Wreck." Last night's audience did not seem to miss Ruby Keeler, tap dancer, wife of Al Jolson, who left the company to join her husband in Hollywood. Her part was filled by a lass who received much applause in a dancing specialty in the spot designated in the program as Miss Keeler's.

Academy Offers "Girls of U. S."

"Girls of the U. S. A." is presented as this week's burlesque in the Academy. Norma Noel, featured in the cast, appears in dance numbers and in a specialty, "Red Hot Moments." She is accompanied by Paul Ash, pianist. George Carroll, a tramp comic, is prominent. Bryan Wolfe sings "Stay Out of the South," and Flo Rich's voice is heard in "Dew Drop." Billy Mifflin and Ed Calame also are prominent in the cast. A military sketch gives the chorus girls opportunity to wear pretty costumes. Among the scenes are "A Night in Hawaii" and a set representing a circus. Jean Bodine appears in new dances having an oriental setting.

SOME OF THE PLAYERS -:- IN BILLS -:- OFFERED IN THEATERS

Eddie Cantor has the featured role in "Whoopee," remaining in the Nixon for second and last week.

Mary Ann Dentler has the principal part in "The Little Spitfire," Gayety Players' vehicle in Gayety.

PITT VEHICLE FEATURES JIGGS

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

Jiggs' corn beef and cabbage, which has quite an attractive flavor in the comic strip, lacks some of its go-getting embellishments in the stage production, "Bringing Up Father," which opened a week's engagement in the Pitt last night.

This "Bringing Up Father" is practically the same commodity as the old production of the same name that did quite well on the Columbia burlesque circuit a few years back. That is, the same commodity minus its more spicy trimmings. In a word, they have sent the old "Bringing Up Father" to the laundry before bringing it to the Pitt. And you know how laundries are. They cleanse things pretty well, but sometimes leave ragged edges.

A company of about 16, including 10 dancing and singing girls, worked hard last night to put this Jiggs and Maggie "odyssey" over. A fair sized audience was present. But the first act of one scene, nine song numbers and some specialties of buffoonery failed to catch more than faltering applause.

About 12 numbers and three scenes comprised the second and final act. Scene No. 2 was a specialty with Beatrice Harlow before the silk drapery as Maggie. And Maggie did raise quite a bit of enthusiasm as she "strutted her stuff to the tune of Mendelssohn." All dressed up in green, she appeared as a bride. She monologued, not always too wisely, but rather well.

Walter Webb Vernon, as Jiggs, seemed to do all he could with his portrayal, and Al Wilson, as the darkie, Rastus, apparently got as much out of his part as was possible. Others in the cast were Ed J. Morris, Babe Quinn, Josephine Young and Nat H. Alberts.

Briefly, there's some hash in this corn beef and cabbage dish as it was served last night. But when you consider that the admission price has been cut quite low, you know the management is being honest with you. If your expectations don't soar higher than the cost, you stand a chance of being satisfied.

Uncle Tom on Grand Screen

Topsy, Uncle Tom and Little Eva are on the Grand screen—in Harry Pollard's movie version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The cast of players is as capable as it is large. After the passing of more than three-quarters of a century, the story still has an appeal. The screen keeps pretty well to the original text of the novel. However, it emphasizes the theme of the Civil War and shows several stirring sequences of the marching Northern hosts. In the picture you see the Shelby plantation and travel down river with Uncle Tom, meeting Little Eva. Topsy and Simon Legree. Simon wields the same old wicked whip. The deaths of Little Eva and Uncle Tom are as pathetic as they ever were. And by the same standard the demise of Mr. Legree meets with popular approval. Thanks to the movie sound devices, you hear Aunt "Feeley" shrilly call Topsy and the Negroes busy at play in the slave quarters. Naturally, there's much human interest in the plot and if Uncle Tom hasn't grown tiresome to you or if you are of the newer generation, you'll find the picture a real entertainment.

Funsters Head Sheridan Show

Steve Freda and Johnny Palace, dialect comedians, who have scrambled English into a language of their own, feature the three-day vaudeville bill, which opened in the Sheridan Square yesterday. The screen offers Madge Bellamy and Louise Dresser in Edna Ferber's story, "Mother Knows Best." Another stage act is "Mistakes Will Happen," presented by a quartet, including Copes and Hutton. Remac and Paolina, billed as a Rio de Janeiro Festival, offer a dance act. Other stage acts and short screen entertainment are on the bill. A last minute booking, it is announced, will bring Eugene O'Brien, screen star, into the Sheridan Square, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Alvin Retains "Desert Song"

"The Desert Song," a highly entertaining operetta of romance, with the picturesque North Africa as its settings, opened its second week's engagement in the Alvin last night. There are many specialties in the show and the ensemble of dancing girls and the stirring male chorus add much to its entertainment. The cast is headed by Alexander Gray, baritone; Bernard Granville, comedian, and Bernice Claire, prima donna. The principals have good voices. The melodies and lyrics are pleasing and, at times, stirring.

Pola Negri Is Olympic Star

The life and loves of Rachael, celebrated actress of the last century, have been translated to the screen in Poli Negri's "Loves of an Actress," this week's feature in the Olympic. The story, based on the memoirs of the famed tragedienne, was written by Ernest Vajda. The cast includes Paul Lukas, Nils Asher, Nigel de Brulier, Philip Strange, Richard Tucker, Mary McAllister and Helene Giere.

NEW "PUNCH" SCENE IN STANLEY

At last there's a new "big punch" scene in the movies. It is supplied in "Submarine," current photoplay feature in the Stanley. It is one of the most thrilling and gripping episodes the drama of the screen has developed—the getting of air to the crew of a wrecked submersible. Jack Holt, as a diver, is the lad who does it and the audience actually applauds when he is seen going down, down to a greater depth than other divers could endure, making the air connection just at the dramatic moment when the imprisoned crew is perishing. He, the only man who could have done it, had delayed because in the sunken vessel was one he had believed to be a false friend, involving his wife. The picture is a distinct novelty as well as being dramatically sound. One sees a submarine rammed and sink—then the desperate plight of those in it. Also the diver at work—unusual scenes, and technically perfect as far as a novice about such things can detect. Holt pleases as a rough and ready chap with a big heart. Ralph Graves is likeable as his pal. Dorothy Revier is satisfactory as the third member of the triangle. Paul Tremaine's orchestra makes a hit as the stage feature, interspersing comedy and featured ensembles in its lively program. The Stanley Orchestra's overture, news pictures and other screen feature complete a bill of excellence.

Aldine Shows Beery as Hobo

Wallace Beery, back from the ranks of screen comics to his original niche in serious and more dramatic roles, does a keen piece of work as "Oklahoma Red," the principal character in "Beggars of Life," current picture in the Aldine. The photoplay is based on Jim Tully's story and presents a story of hobo life, centering around Beery, self-crowned king of a hobo gang, and a girl in boy's clothing, a fugitive from justice—wanted on a murder charge. The picture presents a highly entertaining pattern of comedy, pathos and thrills. Fists fly, freight cars run wild and the end comes with tragedy overtaking Beery in his noble gesture to save the girl from the eternal pursuit of the "cops." An interesting romance runs throughout the story, that of a hobo youth for the fugitive girl. These roles are played by Richard Arlen and Louise Brooks. Sound effects help the picture along, especially in the sequence in which Beery appears before the hobo campfire warbling words to the rythm of a keg of liquor swaying on his shoulder. Entertaining short features are on the bill.

Penn. Mother Proves Claim

Children don't ordinarily take to medicines but here's one that all of them love. Perhaps it shouldn't be called a medicine at all. It's more like a rich, concentrated food. It's pure, wholesome, sweet to the taste and sweet in your child's little stomach. It builds up and strengthens weak, puny, underweight children, makes them eat heartily, brings the roses back to their cheeks, makes them playful, energetic, full of life. And no bilious, headachy, constipated, feverish, fretful baby or child ever failed to respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup on their little bowels. It starts lazy bowels quick; cleans them out thoroughly, tones and strengthens them so they continue to act normally of their own accord.

Millions of mothers know about California Fig Syrup from experience. A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. Mary Nye, 231 South 18th St., Philadelphia, says: "California Fig Syrup is certainly all that's claimed for it. I have proved that with my little Doris. She was a bottle baby and very delicate. Her bowels were weak. I started her on Fig Syrup when she was a few months old and it regulated her quick. I have used it with her ever since for colds and every little set-back and her wonderful condition tells better than words how it helps."

Don't be imposed on. See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California" so you'll get the genuine, famous for 50 years.

Nab Socialists for Jeering Soldiers

VIENNA, Nov. 13. — (AP.) — Fifteen Socialists were arrested yesterday when Social Democrats jeered a company of Republican soldiers marching in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the formation of the republic. A second group of Socialists was dispersed when they attempted to hold a demonstration at police headquarters.

Erie Gets Record Shipment of Ore

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—The largest cargo of ore ever unloaded in Erie was received yesterday from the Pickands Mather Company, of Cleveland. The cargo was for the Bethlehem Steel Company at Johnstown. The shipment was carried here from Superior by the steamer H. Coulby and consisted of 13,592 tons of ore.

POLICE ATTACK ON JURY IS ANSWERED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—District Attorney John Monaghan, directing the special grand jury investigation of bootlegging, gang warfare and police corruption, yesterday said "there will be no armistice with vice and crime in this city."

Monaghan made the statement in connection with the attack opened by suspended police officials on the legality of the special grand jury, which has been held ever since August as an inquisitorial body and whose evidence caused them to be suspended.

"The special grand jury will continue to function as it has been doing," Monaghan said. "This week will show more surprising developments in the warfare on racketeers, gangsters and derelict police."

During the 13 weeks the investigation ordered by Judge Edwin O. Lewis has gone on, several politicians and policemen were sentenced to jail, others were discharged from the police department and nearly 30 were suspended to await trial by the Civil Service Commission.

"Nothing can stop the work of this grand jury," Monaghan said, "because it is operating in a perfectly legal manner. Judge Lewis took precautions to make certain of the legality of every move before it was made.

"After each presentment, made in open court by the grand jury before Judge Lewis, recommendations have been made for dismissal of certain police officers.

"But the grand jury did not dismiss these officers. It merely presented facts to the court, on which Judge Lewis recommended a presentment to the Mayor, and it has then been up to the Mayor to do the dismissing, as is legally his power."

CAREFULLY CONSIDERED

Judge Lewis also discussed the legality of the grand jury, and said:

"I considered most carefully every phase of the law regulating grand juries in Pennsylvania before I determined to prolong the August grand jury beyond its ordinary term of service. The investigation now in progress was directed by me to be begun during the month of August; it was begun in that month, and its continuance subsequent thereto represents merely unfinished business.

"I can conceive of no legal objections to a grand jury continuing to completion a matter properly brought before it during a term of court."

The statements by the district attorney and Judge Lewis were directly caused by a petition filed with the Civil Service Commission contending that charges against Police Captain Frank Kennedy should be dismissed, on the ground that the special grand jury is illegal and its findings have no legal effect.

Captain Kennedy was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer after the grand jury had declared him "unfit to hold any municipal office" because he refused to explain the source of his personal wealth.

District Attorney Monaghan intimated that if the special grand jury were curbed, the jurors would continue to sit as an investigation body and hold open sessions.

The grand jury yesterday called no witnessess and were said to be considering a presentment to Judge Lewis today.

This Indian Knew How He Wanted To Vote

ANADARKO, Okla., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Many Indians of the plains tribes voted for the first time in the election of last Tuesday. A story of how a Kiowa Indian cast his first ballot has just reached here.

"Me wanna vote—part chicken, part eagle," announced the Brave when he arrived at his polling place.

Under the emblem of the eagle, he voted for Herbert Hoover and other Republican candidates. Under the rooster, he cast a vote for Jed Johnson, Democratic congressman who was returned to office.

ORDER $4,500,000 ASTOR ESTATE TAX RETURNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Under a decision returned yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, as trustee under a deed of trust made by Baron William Waldorf Astor, will recover $4,634,834.32, with interest, representing estate taxes.

Baron Astor died September 16, 1919, the trust deed, dated May 26, 1916, conveying properties valued at about $20,000,000, was drawn for the benefit of his children, their wives, and charities. It was twice modified by Baron Astor. Collector of Internal Revenue Frank K. Bowers therefore decided after Astor's death that the maker of the deed had not parted with the possession of his property and the control thereof during his lifetime and levied an additional estate tax of $4,971,560.61 against the trustee.

The amount of the levy was paid under protest, and suit was begun.

Sale of Newspaper In Cuba Announced

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—The sale of the Mercado Munico Market by Alfredo Hornedo, newspaper publisher, to a group of business men for $3,500,000 was announced. Unconfirmed reports are that Hornedo is also planning to sell his afternoon newspaper, which is one of the largest in Cuba.

13 Corn Huskers In "Ear-by-Ear" Contest

FOWLER, Ind., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Out on the William Strasburger farm today the corn husking championship of the United States was being settled by 13 expert huskers from seven midwestern states.

The event was regarded as sufficiently significant, at least to farmers, for broadcast, and Station WLS of Chicago had installed equipment to make possible a "play-by-play" or "ear-by-ear" account of the contest, which was to start at 11:30 a. m.

Among the contestants was Elmer Williams, runner-up in this year's Illinois state championship and holder of the world's record of 33.8 bushels, established in 1925.

SONG HOUR'S SPONSOR STILL HIDES HER IDENTITY

KDKA TO STAGE ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM

Sharing radio interest here tonight with Gov. Al Smith, who speaks over WCAE and allied stations at 8 o'clock, the third anniversary of its sacred concerts will be celebrated by KDKA.

Three of these programs will be given at 5:30, 7 and 10:30 p. m. Several trained voices will be heard including those of Robert Bodycombe, boy soprano; Jean McCrory Newman, contralto; Letha Frazier Rankin, soprano; Will Rhodes, tenor; Fred Newman, bass; Remaine Smith Russell, soprano; Alberta Murray Baker, contralto; Richard Fulton, tenor; Fred Ayers, Max Kroen, bass; Martha Eastman Brickman, soprano; Anne Hagmeier Woestehoff, contralto; W. A. Reger will be at the piano.

The name of the sponsor of the sacred song period has been kept secret since 1926. The sponsor personally arranges all programs and readings, which are usually made up of song requests and readings which have been sent in by listeners. The sponsor is said to be a prominent Pittsburgh woman, who maintains a secret office for several philanthropic enterprises.

At 8:30 o'clock The Mediterraneans appear after a long absence. King Solomon's domestic privacy will be invaded in a burlesque skit entitled "King Solomon Gets Wise," to be presented as one of the "Embarrassing Moments in History," at 9 o'clock. Mabel Zoeckler, soprano, will continue her renditions of "Sad Songs of the 'Nineties.'" She will sing a duet with a tenor.

Victor Herbert's ballad, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," will be sung by Henry Shope on the Dutch Master program at 9:30 p. m. Al Bernard and Percy Hemus will oblige with "Race Track Blues."

NIGHT CLUB ROMANCE

A Pittsburgh department store will sponsor "Night Club Romances," a network feature scheduled for WJAS at 9 o'clock. The stage is to be set in one of New York's popular after-theater rendezvous and the microphone will transmit to the radio audience much of the conversation ordinarily heard by a cigaret girl in such a place.

An abridged presentation of Charles Le Cocq's "Fille de Madame Angot," will be given at 9:30 p. m. Care has been taken to preserve all the outstanding arias and prominent features of the original libretto.

Back on the air after a brief absence, the Thirty Minute Men, specialists in modernized rhythms, will offer a program of popular numbers at 10:30 o'clock. Ann Lang will sing "You Took Advantage of Me" and the quartet is to be heard in "Regina" and "Constantinople."

Sixty voices will portray the life of Joan of Arc in the Eveready Hour over WCAE at 9 o'clock. Rosaline Greene will play the leading part. An octet of male voices, a quartet of female voices and an enlarged orchestra of 40 pieces will render music of Franck and De Bussy.

"Farmerette," a novelty song, is a feature of the Eskimo concert at 10 p. m. "Evening Star" will be accompanied with a vocal chorus. A Medley of Musical Comedy Hits will be given.

"Clicquot," well known eastern melody, opens the program of Vaughn De Leath and company at 10:30 o'clock. Miss De Leath will sing "Golden Slippers," a Negro song, accompanied by banjo, piano and violin. Another selection is "Gingerbread Brigade," with ensemble, trumpet and drums.

150 at Greene County Supervisors' Meeting

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 13.—More than 150 members today attended the annual meeting of the Greene County Township Supervisors and Auditors Association. Speakers included Judge J. W. Dawson, of Fayette County; Richard Elliott, state highway engineer; State Senator C. W. Parkinson and Attorney C. W. Waychoff, of Waynesburg. J. W. McCoombs, of Cumberland Township, is president of the association.

HAYS BURGESS HURT IN FIGHT

Severely beaten during a fight in the Central Hotel, Baldwin street, Hays borough, Burgess Walter Adams, of Hays, is in the McKeesport Hospital suffering a possible fracture of the skull, several fractured ribs and severe bruises and lacerations.

The borough official received his injuries early Saturday morning.

According to Burgess Adams, his attacker is Fred Degenkolb, a contractor of Lincoln Place, Mifflin township. Degenkolb has been arrested on a disorderly conduct charge and has posted a $30 forfeit pending a hearing. Degenkolb said that he attempted to act as a peacemaker when Adams and an unidentified man engaged in a fight and that he forgot himself when the burgess struck back at him.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Tune in for TRUE STORY HOUR!

Every Friday Night True Story broadcasts an unique entertainment. Don't miss it. From 8 to 9 Central Time, 9 to 10 Eastern Time, through these stations:

WOR Newark, WEAN Providence, WNAC Boston, WFBL Syracuse, WMAK Buffalo, WCAU Philadelphia, WJAS Pittsburgh, WADC Akron, WAIU Columbus, WKRC Cincinnati, WGHP Detroit, WMAQ Chicago, KMOX St. Louis, WCAO Baltimore, WOWO Fort Wayne, KMBC Kansas City, WLDW Oil City, WSPD Toledo, WICC Bridgeport, WHK Cleveland.

Read this vivid story—the true story of a beautiful girl who today treads wearily back over the road to a lost paradise. Dreaming of the man who loved her more than he wanted her—branded by the man who wanted her more than he loved her!

"YOU are beautiful—you are desirable... You are the woman I want and I'm going to have you!..."

Oh, the thrill of those words! The fascination of being wanted by this forceful man whose eyes were like steel, whose will was like a hand at her throat that left her helpless! And the demon of discontent within her cried out yes—yes—yes!

Where was her "Dusty"—her beloved husband—now? Her husband, yes—but how boyish he seemed, with his whimsical ideals that never got anywhere, and his maddening acquiescence to her every wish!

He, too, knew her beauty, her deep allurement—how well! Why then did he not fight to keep her, to drive out the devil in her heart that was sweeping her into the arms of the stronger man?

One little word from "Dusty" then, and perhaps—

But on and on they drove across the desert, with the speed of guilty love. Strangely tense and silent, for lovers.

And then sudden as lightning came the climax to this tangled drama—a crisis that swept down like an avalanche—an awakening—

But you must read this gripping true story—"The Wife Who Forgot About Love." The story of a woman who wanted everything of life—while the destinies of two men crossed and re-crossed her path. And at the end was left to her—but don't miss this great story! With 13 other fascinating stories from real life and many exclusive features—in December TRUE STORY—just out! Be sure to get your copy today!

FINE FOR CHILDREN!

Give them a good start in life, with happy smiles and healthy little bodies. Children need a mild corrective occasionally to regulate stomach and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a safe vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They tone up and regulate the eliminative tract. Not a nasty cathartic or a habit-forming medicine, but a safe, pleasant remedy for constipation, sour stomach, torpid liver, bad breath and similar disorders. Dr. Edwards, a widely known family physician of Ohio, prescribed these tablets for many years in his own practice. Children from six years up are greatly helped by them and like to take them. Recognized by their olive color. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets overcome those irritable spells that many children are subject to, keep their bodies in active, healthy condition, skin clear and eyes bright with the light of perfect health. 15c, 30c and 60c sizes.

Additional Theater News

ELTINGE TOPS SHOW IN HARRIS

The foibles and characteristics of women are depicted by Julian Eltinge, well known feminine impersonator, in the headline act which opened a three-day vaudeville bill in the Harris yesterday. He parades around in a lot of feminine finery, dropping some humorous chatter on the line of march and climaxing his exhibit with the removal of his blond wig and a swing into masculine stride. Pigeons, rabbits, dogs and cats help the week's bill along in an act known as Kluting's Animals, which has a special juvenile appeal. Bobby Johnstone, woman entertainer, sings some songs and tells a few stories. George Lovett gives a novel demonstration of physic powers, while G. Templeton and Elsie J. Brown bring some music to his act. The photoplay feature is "Domestic Meddlers." Claire Windsor and Lawrence Gray are the featured players. The picture, a comedy, shows how a gay Lothario sometimes gets his signals mixed.

Liberty Shows Griffith Film

D. W. Griffith's "The Battle of the Sexes" is the current photoplay in the Liberty. The plot tells the age old story of "the other woman," who lures the husband and father from the home fireside. Belle Bennett portrays the deserted mother. The cast includes Jean Hersholt, as the straying father; Phyllis Haver, Sally O'Neil and Don Alvardo. Short features are on the bill.

REGAY DANCE BIG DAVIS FEATURE

Pearl Regay's dancing act is the principal feature of the vaudeville bill at the Davis Theater this week, dividing honors with a trained seal that can imitate a neighing horse and a buzzing bee. Miss Regay is particularly effective in a song portraying the woes of the immigrant, but in which she is suddenly transformed into an agile and short-skirted American. That seal, answering to the name of "Charlie," is the partner of Ray Hulings, and deserves all the fish it gets during the act for its juggling and balancing. Herman Hyde and Sally Burrill have a most amusing comedy sketch, while Nat Renard and Lillian West furnish a diverting burlesque of an aviation hero's arrival. Songs by the Courtney Sisters and acrobatic feats by the Three Golfers were also well received. The feature film is "Take Me Home," in which Bebe Daniels plays a chorus girl who has pep and spunk enough to refuse a car ride and to punch a rival. There are lively pictures of life behind the curtain of a big revue.

PENN'S FILM AND ACTS PLEASE

With Fay Wray and Gary Cooper in "The First Kiss," as the screen attraction, and "Bars and Stripes" furnishing a variety of pleasing acts on the stage, the Penn this week offers a bill that meets cordial reception. The photoplay presents a rather familiar story of a girl of the aristocracy and a boy of poorer social standing, although as well born as she, and of their romance, developed through difficulty. Miss Wray is a charming lass of Maryland and Cooper is a scion of a once-proud family descended to shabbiness through shiftlessness and the love of the father for the bottle. There are realistic scenes of oyster fishing, introducing the action of the picture. Lane Chandler and Leslie Fenton help in making the acting generally good. On the stage, Lamberti, comedy xylophonist; King and King, extraordinary tap dancers, three Dennis Sisters, sweet-voiced singers, and the Gould Girls, a dozen unison dancers, make "Bars and Stripes" a lively little revue, in which Teddy Joyce gives his customary aid. The M-G-M News pictures views on board the Graf Zeppelin on its return trip are a feature of the short films. Organlogue and overture round out a good program.

MANY PUBLIC EMPLOYES WILL ATTEND SESSIONS

The State Salary Survey Commission, created by the last general assembly to study the whole question of remuneration of public employes will hold an open hearing tomorrow at 2 p. m, in council chamber, city hall.

Members of the commission are Clinton Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia, chairman, Senators A. J. Sordoni and Frank Baldwin, and Representatives Morris Witkin, of Philadelphia, and Helen Grimes, of Allegheny county, the latter being secretary.

Under the terms of the resolution setting up the commission it was directed to examine into relative rates of pay throughout the commonwealth, and to suggest a system of home rule, giving local governments complete control in the fixing of pay for appointive employes.

City and county officials from Western Pennsylvania, as well as newly-elected members of the assembly, have been invited to appear at the meeting Wednesday. As the commission has been considering suggestions dealing with rearranged salary schedules for elective offices, from governor down, and a new level of pay for the courts, representatives of the Allegheny County Bar Association also will appear on Wednesday to set forth their arguments for higher remuneration to the judiciary.

Raid Comes as Wife Turns Dry Agent

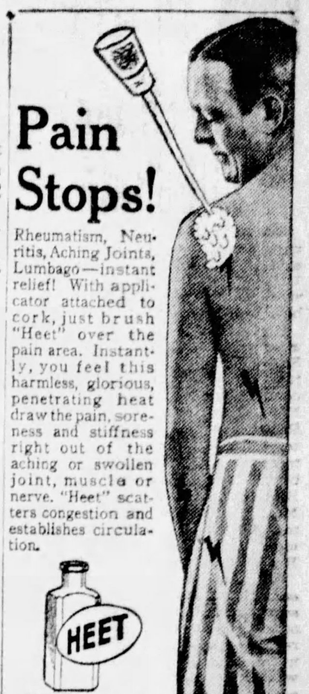
A North Side woman yesterday turned prohibition agent, obtained evidence and brought about a raid of an establishment where she alleges her husband was obtaining the liquor which caused domestic troubles in their home. Mrs. J. Wisniesky, of 872 River avenue, was the detective, and Mrs. Emily Koskosky, 36, proprietor of a confectionery store at 876 River avenue, was the woman arrested.

Mrs. Wisniesky yesterday sent her daughter, Valentia, 10, to the store to purchase a half pint of moonshine for 50 cents. After she had obtained the liquor Mrs. Wisniesky sent a son with it to the North Side Police Station and caused police to raid the store.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon changed the charge from disorderly conduct to violating the Snyder act when Mrs. Koskosky was arraigned before him in Morals Court today and held her for court under $1,000 bail.

Pain Stops!

Rheumatism, Neuritis, Aching Joints, Lumbago—instant relief! With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. "Heet" scatters congestion and establishes circulation.



"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

She'd loved another MAN

SOMEHOW it seemed the man she was married to wasn't the same as when she'd first loved him. He'd become tired, discouraged, irritable . . . lost the energy and buoyant good spirits that had once made him such fun.

She knew how poisons bottled up in the system ruined dispositions, undermined health. Yet she distrusted the ordinary range of laxatives; slow-acting health foods—harsh cathartics! . . .

Feen-a-mint is different!

It's just like a bit of delicious mint chewing gum. You don't swallow it hastily, like other laxatives—you chew it!

The chewing releases Feen-a-mint's wonderful cleansing principle so gradually, so naturally that it acts with unbelievable gentleness—yet sweeps out the clogging poisons from your whole system. In 3 to 4 hours (or by morning, if you take it at bedtime) it freshens you from top to toe!

It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't disturb digestion. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. Get Feen-a-mint at your druggist's today.

HERE IS INSTANT RELIEF FOR DEAFNESS

Head Noises, Ear Aches

Roaring and hissing sounds, discharge, pains, sensitive and tender ears, all ear drum trouble. You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine Ear Balsam can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M. D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatments and enjoy the glorious relief that more than 100,000 others have found in Aurine. A few drops in each ear and relief comes instantly. Mr. R. P. Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring." No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine. No risk, no chance, no doubt, Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing.

$65,000 GIFTS TO RETIRING ARCHBISHOP

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—A gift of £14,500 sterling from 15,000 subscribers in appreciation of his long and conspicuous services to the church and nation was presented to the retiring Archbishop of Canterbury yesterday by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin.

Friends of high and low estate joined in this tribute to the Most Rev. and Right Honorable Randall Thomas Davidson, who at midnight ceased to be primate of all England and becomes simply Baron Davidson of Lambeth.

The Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, who becomes the new Archbishop of Canterbury, as chairman of the subscription committee, read an address in behalf of the contributors and asked the aged primate to use the gift "to secure in any way you think fit the ease and comfort of yourself and Mrs. Davidson."

Acknowledging the surprise and bewilderment of himself and wife, who yesterday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, the archbishop returned profound thanks for this manifestation of affectionate esteem.

Dr. Davidson also received a substantial gift from his American admirers. Bishop Brent of Western New York and President Ogilby of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., yesterday privately presented him at Lambeth Palace with an address in behalf of the American church, accompanied by a draft for $10,000 in a gold casket, as a token of friendship and love.

Bishop Brent and President Ogilby will represent the American church at the enthronement of the new archbishop at Canterbury. Their visit is in accordance with a resolution passed at the triennial meeting in Washington.

3 MISSING AS SHIP SINKS

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Captain W. W. Covert, of New York, master of the J. W. Hook, and two Negro sailors, were reported missing today by Baltimore agents for the vessel, who received word of the sinking of the ship 150 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras. George Elliott, mate also of New York, two Negro sailors and a Negro cook were reported rescued by the Clyde Line ship Huron in a wireless from the Huron.

The radio message offered no explanation of the fate of the three missing men.

The J. W. Hook a wooden four masted schooner, left Georgetown, S. C., on November 8, with a cargo of lumber for Baltimore. It was expected to dock Thursday or Friday.

Watch Your Blood Pressure; Your Blood Cells Control It

By administering BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS directly into the blood stream, their healing virtues are not lost, which is true of medicine given by way of the mouth. This method is becoming obsolete. A great truth comes into view, and that is, intravenous therapy is fast becoming one of the prime autocrats of medicine. A method that is scientific while the results are more certain.

Your White Blood Cells in Health and Disease

BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS affect not only one organ but have a corrective influence on every part of the body. One serum frequently gives relief. Chronic and obstinate diseases that have long resisted all forms of treatment readily yield to the action of BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS.

We invite you to call for a free consultation, no matter what your ailment is. No doctor charges. Patients pay for the serum only. We are successfully treating Anemia, Asthma, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Kidney and Stomach Trouble, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis, Catarrh of Ears, Nose and Throat, all Blood and Skin Diseases. Laboratory Examination, Blood or Secretions, Free. Come and talk to the patients. Results are what you desire. 35,000 People have taken these Serums at this Laboratory.

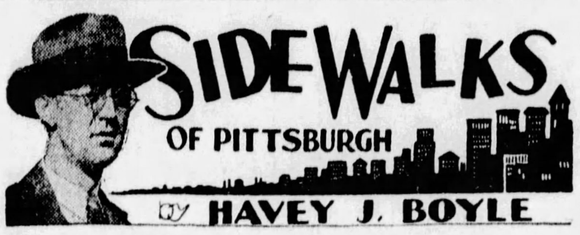
Autos Are Destroyed in East End Fire

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1928



FRANK PATTERSON, one of the Common Pleas judges of Allegheny County, started out as a reporter. He was telling us the other night, preceding the banquet of the Variety Club, three memories of his newspaper days. One was a scoop of national importance.

McKinley had just been elected President and in his home in Canton, O., was preparing his cabinet appointments.

Trains carrying notables to Canton from Washington and New York passed through Pittsburgh. Reporter Patterson heard that a man named Sherman was on the train which was stopped in Pittsburgh. The reporter heard that Sherman was important. He sought an interview. A gentleman with whiskers parted in the middle approached as Patterson reached the train and he offered little encouragement to the reporter. But Patterson kept on going.

The reporter finally got into Sherman's presence. "Is it true President-elect McKinley has offered you the Secretary of State portfolio?" he asked. Much to his surprise, Mr. Sherman, without evasion, said "Yes." "Will you accept?" asked Reporter Patterson. "I will," said Mr. Sherman. A secretary tapped the judge-to-be on the shoulder and said: "That will be all." That was enough. Frank Patterson went back to his paper—a Democratic paper, by the way—and broke a national story.

However, everything in Frank Patterson's reportorial life was not all peaches and cream. Holding down the dramatic desk on the old Dispatch, Mr. Patterson wrote a column review of a play by Sir Arthur Pinero, called "Iris." It was the story of n immoral woman which taught a moral lesson. Mr. Patterson praised the play. The next morning, however, his column was out and in its place appeared the following lines: "'Iris' was presented at the Alvin Theater last night." Mr. Patterson forthwith tendered his portfolio, but John O'Donnell, now in Uniontown, then Mr. Patterson's superior, talked Mr. Patterson into staying.

IN HIS cub days Mr. Patterson barely escaped the pink slip when one night he mixed up names in two different stories so that a live man was reported at peace in the morgue and a dead man was reported doing lively things.

* * *

Mr. Patterson left the newspaper business to become a press-agent for the late John Harris' theatrical interests. Meanwhile, he studied law, became a lawyer and recently was put on the bench, which does not mean the same as it does in baseball.

* * *

THE proud owner of a parrot boasted to his East Liberty friend that his parrot could recite the first verse of "America." The friend replied: "I can't see much in that. The real trick is in knowing the second verse."

* * *

Our idea of a big news story tells of the man and woman who got married in Reno, Nev.

A GREAT many Pittsburgh radio owners are having trouble locating their favorite stations on the dials since the wavelengths were changed. Our own luck has been very bad. So far, all we can get is the daily weather forecast and the livestock and market reports. What we miss most of all, however, are the bedtime stories to the tune of: "Oh, Grandma, what big ears you have."

LIFTS WATCH FROM GEM STORE

A sneak thief stole a $55 gold wrist watch from the store of B. Bass, jeweler, 823 Wood street, Wilkinsburg, yesterday.

Bass left a customer, on whom he was waiting, to wait on another customer, and when he went back to the first customer the man said he would not buy and left. Later Bass discovered the theft of a watch from the stock in the tray which his first customer had been examining.

HIT BY AUTO, ARM BROKEN

Police today were attempting to identify a woman, aged about 65, dressed in black who was struck and seriously injured by an automobile at Sheridan avenue and Broad street, last night. She is in the Pittsburgh Hospital suffering from a fractured right arm, concussion of the brain and lacerations of the head.

Police say the car was driven by Thomas Barthlow, 50, of 7313 Race street, who reported the accident. The aged victim was crossing the street when struck, police report.

Swissvale Class To Hold Banquet

Members of the young woman's Bible Class of the Swissvale Methodist Episcopal Church will hold their third annual mothers and daughters banquet tonight in the church rooms. More than 100 guests are expected to attend. Mrs. George P. Ruff will be the principal speaker and Miss Marie Schlossnagel, class president, will be in charge. Mrs. Arthur W. Parry is the class teacher.

Dinner to Open Red Cross Drive

A dinner in the United Presbyterian Church, Parker avenue, Braddock, tonight will formally open the tri-borough Red Cross membership drive. A film depicting Red Cross work will be shown and several speakers will address the guests. Mrs. A. M. Scott, general chairman, will preside.

Women's Club Salutes Flag At Session

The Women's Club of Swissvale took cognizance of Armistice Day at its regular meeting when the session was opened by a salute to the flag and the singing of the national anthem. Mrs. Gordon Craighead read a paper on the romance of Swissvale, and Mrs. P. H. R. Mullen followed with a paper on the marvels of the last decade. Mrs. R. W. Johnston, treasurer of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Women, spoke on international relations. A contribution was taken for the soldiers at the United States Veterans Hospital, Aspinwall. Mrs. H. K. McJunkin presided at the meeting, which was held in the American Legion Hall.

LAYS SECTS TO BIBLE TEACHING

That the doctrine of the infallibility of the Bible is responsible more than any other factor for the division of Christendom into innumerable sects, was the charge made last night by the Rev. Dr. Horace Westwood, of Boston, mission preacher for the Unitarian Laymen's League, speaking at the First Unitarian Church, Ellsworth and Morewood avenues, in the second of his mission addresses. It is true, he said, that when the Protestant Reformation set up the infallible Bible in the place of the Papacy it asserted that there was to be freedom in the interpretation of the Scriptures. But, as the Bible contradicts itself, the result has been anarchy, since none agree as to which portion of the Bible represents the true faith.

Dr. Westwood maintained that modern scholarship has made possible for the first time the intelligent use of the Bible and an estimate of its permanent value and abiding worth. It is the most complete record the world possesses of the spiritual unfolding of the race. As a human book, written by human hands, and revealing human thoughts, none can teach greater lessons or lead to sublimer truths.

STALEY RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning for John A. Staley, Sr., 67, for many years president of the Joseph Fleming Drug Company, who died yesterday in his home, Bayard and Neville streets. Solemn requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Paul's Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock following services in the home. Mr. Staley was father of Magistrate John A. Staley, Jr., of Traffic Court.

For many years Mr. Staley was engaged in the brokerage business here after he had moved to Pittsburgh from Sidney, O., his birth place. He was active in politics for many years. He leaves his widow, three sons, three daughters and 23 grandchildren.

Look at Heavens, Two Robbers Tell Man

"Look at the Heavens."

This was the order given James Barefoot, of 5155 Dearborn street, by one of two armed robbers who stopped him in Winebiddle avenue near Penn avenue, last night. While Barefoot was admiring the blackness of the night, the thugs took his watch and $15. The pair leaped upon the pedestrian from a machine they had driven along the curb. They jumped into the car after taking Barefoot's valuables and escaped.

OUT OF PRACTICE, WOMAN'S SHOT MISSES PROWLER

Mrs. Helen Brinkman, 1512 Everett street, Wilkinsburg, is out of practice as a markswoman. Four months ago when she moved from West Virginia to Wilkinsburg she was a dead shot, but yesterday she discovered that her aim was bad when a prowler at whom she fired escaped unharmed.

Mrs. Brinkman was alone in her apartment when she heard some person in the basement. Arming herself and going to the kitchen she said she saw a young man dash toward the back of the lot. She fired through the kitchen window, but the man never slackened his speed and disappeared.

Reporting the matter to Wilkinsburg police she said she couldn't understand how she missed. She used a 38 caliber gun as a smaller caliber revolver is not worth much.

BOY GETS LIFE FOR KILLING

WASHINGTON, Va., Nov. 13.—Huphrey Wharton, 18, orphan farmhand, yesterday interrupted his trial for the murder of Edgar D. Jenkins, 28, state highway employe, July 27, last, by pleading guilty. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The prosecution claimed the prisoner lured Jenkins to a secluded spot and killed him for his money. The wallet contained $75, with which Wharton is said to have bought a motorcycle.

Washington Elks Add 100 Members

Austria Celebrates Republic's Natal Day

VIENNA, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Austria yesterday observed its tenth birthday as a republic with demonstration of Socialist workmen marching with bands playing and flags flying. The monarchists, upper classes and rural dwellers refrained for the most part from participating in the ceremonies, which were sponsored largely by the Social Democrats.

Concert in Memory Of Schubert Tonight

A Schubert memorial concert will be held tonight in Carnegie Music Hall under the auspices of the United German Singing Societies of Allegheny County. Compositions of the famous musician will be sung by a large chorus.

SAFE CRACKERS FOILED

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—An attempt was made to rob the safe of the Shaw Laundry Company, but the robbers fled after damaging the safe. They obtained no loot.

Sewickley Police Kill 2 Stray Dogs

Two dogs owned by Sewickley residents were killed by police yesterday, the first victims of the 100-day quarantine put into effect by borough officials. The quarantine was issued in co-operation with the state bureau of animal industry because of the biting of three persons by a rabid dog a week ago. The dogs shot yesterday were found wandering through the borough.

Cubans Ask Recall Of French Consul

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—A petition filed with President Gerardo Machado by representatives from Santiago de Cuba asks immediate recall of Jean Paul Brillouin, French consul there, because of alleged defamation of the Cuban courts.

U. S. University Professor Decorated

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Prof. William A. Nitze, of the Department of Romance Languages and Literature at the University of Chicago for the past 26 years has been created a chevalier of the French Legion of Honor.

Count de Fontnouvelle, French consul, presented the diploma of the order, signed by President Doumergue, of France, to Prof. Nitze.

Prof. Nitze received his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Johns Hopkins University in 1899, and before joining the faculty of the University of Chicago, he taught at Columbia University, Amherst College and the University of California.

SEIZE STILL IN BRADDOCK

John Kovl, 40, of 1127 River avenue, Braddock, and his next door neighbor, John Popovich, 28, of 1125 River avenue, were visited by prohibition agents who reported finding a 20-gallon still in each home. They were released on their own recognizance.

A saloon in River road, East Monongahela, yielded a small quantity of whisky to the Federal raiders who arrested Pete Yulch, 46. He was released on a $1,000 bail bond.

2 Hurt in Bigelow Blvd. Auto Crash

Mrs. Samuel Atkins, of 6902 Standish street, and Buchannon Benson, a Negro, of Saltsburg, Pa., were cut and bruised yesterday when automobiles in which they were riding collided in Bigelow boulevard, near Thirty-fourth street. Both were treated at the Passavant Hospital. Mrs. Atkins was riding with her husband and the Benson woman was riding with Charles Burch, 34, a Negro, of Unity. Both drivers were arrested on reckless driving charges.

Report Auto 'Stolen;' Police Find Otherwise

Police yesterday arrested John Mullen, of 8 Brady street, in his home, accusing him of being the hit-run driver who fled after his machine last night had struck a parked automobile in Bates street. The arresting officer also said that Mullen was under the influence of liquor when arrested. Shortly after 9 o'clock Mullen's automobile figured in an accident in Bates street. Two hours later Mullen reported it stolen. An investigation resulted in his arrest.

Homewood-Brushton Traders to Nominate

The Homewood-Brushton Board of Trade will meet tonight in the Homewood Carnegie Library for the purpose of nominating officers for the coming year. A directors' meeting will precede the general session. The election will be held at the December meeting.

Rev. Jung Resigns Braddock Church

Rev. Dr. G. Phillip Jung, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Braddock, has tendered his resignation, having accepted a call to Christ Church, Brownsville. The Rev. Mr. Jung has been at his present charge since April, 1927. His last service will be held Sunday, November 25.

TO DANCE FOR DOLLARS

CHARLES PURCELL QUEENIE SMITH

These famous dancers, stars of "Hit the Deck," musical comedy coming to Nixon Theater next week, are going to "do their stuff" at the midnight show to be given at the Stanley Theater, Friday night, November 23, by the Variety Club of Pittsburgh, under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, for the benefit of the Welfare Fund. "Queenie" wires that she hopes to "kick a few dollars" into the coffers of the Welfare Fund, while Charles says he aspires to "shake the shekels" out of the pockets of the audience for the same praiseworthy purpose.

FIGHT BLAZE SEVERAL HOURS

Several automobiles were destroyed and others badly scorched when fire broke out on the second floor of the Motor Market, Inc., 5944-46 Baum boulevard, late last night. Firemen estimated the damage at $5,000, but members of the firm stated that the loss would probably exceed that amount.

The flames were discovered shortly before the end of boxing bouts at Motor Square Garden, a short distance away, and many fight fans were attracted to the scene. The fire originated in the rear part of the second floor and was fought for several hours before extinguished. About 90 automobiles were stored in the building, a two-story brick structure used as a Hudson-Essex agency. Half of this number were on the second floor. Patrolman Joseph A. Voegler was cut on the right hand by flying glass.

William R. Kennedy, 30, Negro, of 307 Renfrew street, was arrested on a charge of violating the automobile laws after he is alleged to have driven an automobile through the fire lines.

TAXI HOLDUP FOILED

Two men who engaged a cab driven by C. W. Dawson, of 66 Congress street, at Fifty-third and Butler streets, attempted to stage a holdup in McCandless avenue, several squares away, Dawson told police. The pair, police say, attempted to hold up the cabbie but became frightened and ran.

St. Joseph's Band Wins Harmonica Contest

St. Joseph's school harmonica band won the first of the elimination contests being staged in Braddock, and sponsored by a Braddock theater. The winners defeated three other schools, the Fourth Ward, McClure and Shady Park, each of which had entered harmonica bands. The winners had 95 players, Shady Park 152, McClure 50 and the Fourth Ward 53. The bands were judged by John Lancaster, William Sharah and William Brown. The bands have been practicing for the contest for the last six weeks. Elimination contests will be held for the next three nights when the four surviving schools will contest for the championship.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

Big boost for three of our most prominent men. Mr. Coolidge says "we can do our own cruiser building without any European supervision. And that we have no alibis to offer to anybody."

That-a-boy, Calvin. This trip of Mr. Hoover's to South America is the smartest thing ever done by a President-elect. That and the Orient is where our trade of the future will come from.

Send Presidents down there instead of Marines. And tonight, when you hear Al Smith speak, you will get the real human side of a great fellow. He won't have to be denouncing anybody, and will be at his best, and will make lots of friends, so no kick with anyone of the three boys today.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

Nature's Secret Scent

SCENT-MAKING experts are baffled by the aroma of the "Portadown Fragrance," the rose from Ulster. It is like the perfume of an old cottage garden, but one authority considers it a blend of verbena and tea rose.

REINDEER racing is to be tried in Vancouver, where a "stud" of 20 reindeer has been established and six Eskimo drivers are being trained to race their novel steeds round the track.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

What Does a Man Mean?

A WOMAN wastes half her time and most of her beauty sleep lying awake nights wondering "what a man MEANS."

But, alas, a man never MEANS anything! He is a creature of instinct—like any other member of the animal kingdom. He always follows his impulse, just as a kitten chases a shadow, or a dog follows a rabbit.

A man never does ANYTHING intentionally and deliberately, from breaking your heart to marrying you.

* * *

If he sends you orchids, the morning after a dance, it is not because he has been dreaming of you all night—but just because he happened to pass the florist's, and it occurred to him that it would be the effective thing to do.

HELEN ROWLAND

If he calls you up and says that he is dying to see you, it MAY be true—but it is much more likely to be because he had no engagement for the evening, and happened to remember your telephone number.

* * *

If he kisses you suddenly and rapturously, it may mean that he has fallen in love—or only that you happened to be NEAR, when he felt like kissing somebody.

* * *

If he vows eternal devotion tonight, and forgets you tomorrow, it is not because he intended to deceive you, like the villian in the melodrama—but merely because, for the moment, he felt an emotion very LIKE love, and could think of nothing else to say.

If he marries you, it is not because he MEANT to, dear heart, but because you got him so dizzy that he couldn't see where he was going until he found himself facing the altar, and couldn't back out.

* * *

In business or a poker game, a man may act deliberately and with deep design—but in matters of love he is as irresponsible as a motor car on a slippery hill.

The hardest task of any woman's life has always been to prove to a man that his intentions are serious!

As far as a woman is concerned, a man is purely a creature of impulse—and he never MEANS anything!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Spinal Fever Is Rarely Epidemic

ONE of the unpleasant facts of life is that each of us is all the time facing the possibility of having disease. That this is true need not make us fearful of infection and on the outlook for the first symptom.

DR. COPELAND

The lesson to be learned is that right living is likely to build up the power of resistance and prepare us to avoid many ailments. Even though we should not escape the visitation, it will come in such mild form as not to be serious.

There are a number of diseases, the so-called "catching diseases," which are much more likely to attack children than the grown-ups. The doctors call them the "infectuous diseases." It is believed that an unfriendly germ or some other trouble-producing agency is responsible for the onset of the ailment.

One disease of this type is known as "cerebro-spinal meningitis," or simply "spinal meningitis." In August there was discovered one such case in a camp of 200 boys.

This is not a violently active disease, rushing on from boy to boy and making many of them sick. It is less energetic than this. There are usually merely occasional cases, here and there in the community. Sometimes, however, the disease becomes epidemic, reaching large numbers of persons.

Even in the epidemic form it does not travel far from the place of its first appearance. In 1904 there was quite an epidemic in New York City, nearly 7,000 cases being reported. During the World War the disease was found in the camps of the Canadian troops.

For some reason the seaboard cities and mining districts have been more commonly visited than have other communities. Wherever it has occurred, children and young people have suffered most. The fall and winter months are the seasons when it appears in largest numbers.

The onset of all the infectious diseases is about the same. A violent chill, headache, vomiting and great prostration are the common symptoms. In spinal meningitis we have, besides these, in[illegible] sleep, restlessness, s to light and muscu- rature may not be high. It rarely goes above 101 or 102 degrees.

In many cases stiffness of the neck muscles is found. To move the head hurts a lot. In severe cases there is not only stiffness of the muscles of the neck, but also constriction of them. The head may be drawn backward. Indeed the whole body may be stiff and fixed.

The little patient goes out of his head. Marked delirium is common. Later there is a stupor of unconsciousness even.

There is a peculiar rash of the skin. On this account the disease has sometimes been called "spotted fever."

This disease and many other less serious ones will be unheard of when everybody practices strict personal hygiene. Cleanliness is essential. Frequent bathing of the whole body and care in keeping the hands clean, will go far towards heading off, not only this disease, but also colds, influenza, pneumonia and other ailments.

Eating utensils, drinking vessels, toilet articles—all should be clean as clean can be. The spray from mouth and nose of every other person should be avoided. Coughing, sneezing, loud talking, anything that throws such spray into the air may carry disease. Keep away from such dangers.

Get sunlight and fresh air, eat simple food, get plenty of rest and sleep. Keep happy and contented. Then you and yours are not likely to get cerebro-spinal fever or any other infectious disease.

Answers to Health Queries

G. P.—Q. What causes shortness of breath? I have stomach trouble; could that be the trouble, or are my lungs in a bad condition?

A. This condition may only be caused by indigestion which can be overcome by proper eating to have your heart and lungs examined.

L. W.—Q. What causes a child to grit the teeth while sleeping?

A.—This may be due to intestinal worms.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, November 14

A DAY of generally uncertain and retarding influences may be expected from the planetary mutations. There may be stubborn obstacles to overcome by holding to an attitude of persistency and patience, diligence and grim application. Withal the financial conditions may not be satisfactory, possibly because of some erratic decisions or distorted opinions and procedures. Be careful with writings and contracts.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a difficult year in which patience and perseverance as well as hard labor may not be crowned by fitting reward for earnest effort and application. This may be due to false reasoning or distorted views and decisions.

A child born on this day may have a peculiar mental outlook, unconventional and possibly erratic. Its industry and application may help it to surmount difficulties.

It is of vital importance to realize that there are no negative ideas in the mind of God and there are no "evil" planets in His solar system.—Occult Review.

Always ask for "Esponade Salts" and look for the name, American Epsom Association.

THE ROMANTIC AGE

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

IS THERE any age that can truly be called The Romantic Age? Not that I can find out, for everywhere, every age, seems to carry the breath of romance.

Even when you're walking through the park and watching the wee ones—there you'll see every sign indicative of romance.

Then you'll see Grandmother and Grandfather—hand in hand through the years, sitting waiting, hoping, loving after all the stormy years which they have weathered together. Isn't that Romance?

And Mother and Dad! One hardly sees them through the eyes of Romance—but stop and think a bit!

And then—but, of course, your own Romance so bedims all the others that you think there never, never was or could be or will be another like it!

Each romance is peculiarly its own! It grants nothing to anyone else, but is so intent on itself that there alone lies Romance.

So you see each age spells Romance! Perhaps not the flaming sweep of the very first one, but Romance nevertheless. It's like Love—it's ageless and deathless! Therefore, it can have no span of years.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A CONTINUATION OF LOVE'S EMBERS

By ADELE GARRISON

UNAWARE of the explosive shell he inadvertently had dropped into our plans, Dr. Havens hurried away to his next patient. Dicky accompanied him to the door, and Lillian, who had heard our colloquy, drew me hastily into her room and shut her door.

"Look here!" she said earnestly. "Don't you trot out a martyr complex over this thing. Of course Dicky's going to emit a few great theories on the spur of the moment, but you stay noncommittal until you have a chance to thrash the thing out with yourself. Incidentally I have the glimmering of a plan, and I'll just stick around in your vicinity ready to smash an oar over Dicky's head if he starts to rock the boat.

"I know I'm the original Medlesome Matty," she went on, and waved away my indignant protest. "That's what the Dicky-bird would say if he knew I were talking this way to you. But there's surely some way out even if your work is in the city and the doctor says Junior must stay in the country this winter."

"No matter what else, he must do that," I said firmly. "I suppose I shall have to give up my—"

Lillian clapped an efficient hand over my mouth.

"If you dare even to breathe that thought again, I'll brain you," she said. "But of course you're neither responsible nor yet quite sane just now. And nobody could expect you to be either. Go back to Junior and stay with him. Katherine can be depended on to ban any discussion before him, and please keep away from any discussions with Dicky of plans for the winter until I get a chance to consult the stars and cast a horoscope. Beat it, quick!"

The last three words were in a sibilant whisper as we heard the front door closed after Dr. Havens.

I could not keep up my work in Mr. Vertizen's organization without spending at least five days a week in the city during the winter. Dr. Havens had said that Junior must stay in the country. There was no question of a place for us. I knew that my father would be only too glad to have my boy and me share his home during the winter. Yet such a course would doom Dicky to a solitary hotel room for the winter.

But as I caught the smile which Junior flashed at me, and saw his hand stretched out to me, I felt a sudden hot determination to throw everything to the winds except the privilege of staying with him. My common sense told me that Lillian was right in saying that I was not quite sane just now.

Curiously enough it was Dicky, himself, who exorcised the hysteria from my brain and replaced it by a common sense attitude, which had its origin—in part at least—in resentment at the lordly manner in which he made my plans for me. Upon the third day after Junior's fall the little boy was sitting up and enjoying the slavish adulation of his grandparents, Dicky's mother and my father, who were spelling each other in story telling for his amusement. I had come to the conclusion, mortifying to my vanity, but a relief to my conscience, that my small son would not suffer were I to be away from him the entire winter, even without week-ends, and going out of the room upon an errand for my mother-in-law, I met Dicky, evidently in search of me.

"I'm glad I've found you," he said. "I've wanted to catch you alone for days. Come in here."

He threw open the door of his own room, and when I had entered, closed it again and drew out a chair for me with his habitual courtesy.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Addressing a Minister

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When introducing a minister, is it proper to say "Reverend Smith" or "Reverend Mr. Smith?"

2. Does a lady remove her wrap at a formal tea, and does she remove either her hat or wrap at a musicale?

3. On which side of a car or a taxi should a lady seat herself, or does it make any difference?

4. When a gentleman thanks a lady for a dance, what is a nice way to reciprocate?

5. Should a lady give her full order to her escort at once, or does she order each dish as the waiter appears?

PUZZLED.

NEITHER. When introducing a minister, say "Mr. Smith." If he has a title of D. D. or LL. D., then you say, "Dr. Smith."

2. A lady usually removes her wrap at a formal tea. She leaves it with a maid in the room that is reserved for that purpose. The point is that it is most appropriate for her to enter the reception in the formality of her formal afternoon dress.

Usually at a musicale in a public hall she does not remove her hat or wrap.

3. A lady should sit on the right of the gentleman.

4. Usually she makes some comment on her enjoyment of the dance, and this gracious and enthusiastic comment can carry with it the expression of her thanks. That is, she may say "That was a most delightful dance," or "That was a glorious dance, and I enjoyed it so much."

5. That depends on the custom of the restaurant. Usually the order is given for the first course, oysters or hors d'oeuvres or fruit cocktail, for the soup course, and for the roast course. Then the salad course and the dessert order is given later. It is rarely that a waiter asks for the dessert order when the rest of the order is being given, for what one wishes for dessert usually depends on "what has gone before."

As a matter of fact, in ordering one can do the ordering as one wishes. If you wish to give only the order for the first course, just say to the waiter, "Bring that course, please, and then we will give you the rest of the order."

Open Your Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When presents are received at a party, should they be opened or left as they were received?

2. If they are opened, when and where should this be done?

ANXIOUS READER

DO the natural thing—open them and express your enthusiasm for them and your appreciation of the kindness of your friends who gave them to you.

2. Open them as they are received, where they are received. Do not make any conscious gesture about them.

THE MODERN WOMAN Cleans Without Hard Work This Way!

RUINED! THEY SAID. BUT NOW IT LOOKS LIKE NEW Too bad. Coffee stains all over that pretty rug. But now it doesn't show a bit. She just rubbed them off with Old Witch . . . the new-type cleansing fluid that everybody's using.

Quick Shortcuts in Workless Housecleaning

THE MODERN HOUSEKEEPER has found a quick way to get rid of dirt. And she does it without scrubbing.

No more back-breaking rubbing for her. Scrubbing is so needless.

In this enlightened day and age, it's a folly to spend time and energy on housecleaning when there are so many pleasant things to do.

What a Relief from Work

The next time you have a little cleaning to do, promise yourself a trial of this remarkable and economical housecleaning discovery.

How wonderful to find something that does away with all that tedious drudgery.

It softens water. Saponifies grease . . . turns it into soap. Instantly removes every clinging particle of dirt and grime.

Watch the Dirt Disappear

It's goodbye dirt when Old Witch washes walls, stoves, bathtubs, mirrors, windows and woodwork. There's no other cleanser like it sold in grocery stores today.

And best of all, it keeps hands dainty and soft . . . never coarse and rough-looking. It's the only type of cleanser yet discovered that is actually kind to housework hands.

But please don't make the mistake of thinking Old Witch is only good for general cleaning. It's a big help on washday. Gets clothes snowy white . . . the easy scrubless way.

And in your dishpan it's simply marvelous . . . makes china sparkle and glasses glisten, without a single bit of polishing.

But remember all cleansers are not alike . . . you'll realize that when you try Old Witch.

So be sure to get the genuine Old Witch Ammoniated Cleanser . . . remember Old Witch is what you ask for. Tell your grocer nothing else will do. A large sized bottle costs only 35c. It's not at all expensive.

STOLEN LOVE

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Joan Hastings, seventeen and beautiful, lives with two old maiden aunts and one of them, Aunt Exvie, tells her of her unmarried mother's tragic love affair and death. Joan falls in love with Bill Martin, a penniless young man, and she is sent away to school. Bill, an innocent victim of a bootlegging gang, is sent to jail and Joan, begging for bail money from the aunts, confesses everything to them. She is put on a train for school in charge of a woman friend of Aunt Exvie's. Bill, freed, bids goodby to his mother, leaving no address and befriending Rollo Keyes, a rich young spender, is given a job by his father. Joan, escaping from the train, reaches his home just after he has gone. Concealing her presence from her aunts she gets a position in a department store and later works as a model in a smart shop. There Mrs. Barstow, a rich society woman, sees her, likes her and asks her to tea. She meets Curtis Barstow who immediately becomes interested in her. Joan goes to see Mrs. Martin and learns that Bill has written but has not asked for her. She thinks he no longer cares. Bill comes home and discovers that Joan is close at hand. Joan meets Bill again and discovers Ruth Gillespie, one of the girls at the shop, is deeply in love with him. Mrs. Barstow puts herself out to be nice to Joan for her son's sake. Joan becomes hysterical when Bill visits her and offers to marry her. Mrs. Barstow invites her to spend a week-end at her cottage in the mountains. When she returns, Ruth questions her about her love affair with Bill. Bill disappears after he has an argument with Rollo's dad. Joan refuses to accept Curtis after he proposes to her. Later, however, she becomes engaged to him. Curtis' mother visits Aunt Exvie and questions her about Joan. Joan constantly thinks of Bill and plans to break her engagement, but changes her mind. Curtis' mother arranges a dinner in honor of Joan and invites her Aunt Exvie, who disgraces her with her manners.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"WHENEVER you speak of her there's a fight. I wish to God you'd talk of something else—"

"Curtis!"

"I'm sorry, mother—blew up. I'm rather jumpy. Too much fuss. If only I could cut all this out, and simply marry her—"

"Promise me you won't do that, Curtis—promise me you won't—"

"Oh, well—I won't. I won't spoil your plans, but it's getting on my nerves—this long wait."

"Joan set the date," she said. "It is she who put it off to June. Don't blame me for it—"

The seventeenth of June. Joan had set the date. It seemed a long way off when she set it, and now it was so fast. April already.

"You simply must stop work," Maisie scolded. "If you don't stop pretty soon, I'll get Fanny to fire you!"

"You wouldn't do that! Oh, Maisie, you wouldn't!" Joan cried sharply. "I'd go crazy with nothing to do but go to afternoon affairs. Seeing the same girls all the time—I couldn't stand it—truly I couldn't!" And her eyes were dark and wide, pleading. Pleading with Maisie to let her keep her work. The work that kept her in the shop, away from Connie Howard. . . No matter where she went, Connie was there. Looking at her. Long and searchingly. As if she knew. Connie's dark eyes, proud and scornful. . . scornful of the gossip that should be about her, too. . . . that would be. . . if they knew. . . if they ever guessed. . .

"Well—if you feel that way about it," Maisie said. She sighed and picked up her embroidery. A luncheon set for Joan.

Her heart ached. She knew Maisie.

When Joan came in with Curtis after the ladies had gone, she put her arm about her, kissed her gently. "Try to relax a little, Johnnie. Don't be so tense. Perhaps you can't quite realize how glad I am that Curtis found you. I—I can't quite realize it, that's all. He was my boy, my little boy so long. But I'm glad he is going to marry you, Joan. Won't you believe me?"

It was her first real welcome. The first time she had said Johnnie. Her first word of love.

Curtis found them, still with their arms entwined. His face shone with happiness. The words he had come to say were forgotten.

He tip-toed out, leaving the two women he loved together. The newspaper with its glaring head line was crumpled in his hand.

So it was the next day before Joan heard the news. Connie Howard was married. Eloped with a certain Harrison Creely—whoever that was. No one had ever heard of Harrison Creely before.

"I hope she will be happy," Joan said.

Francine and the girls just laughed.

"Oh, I can't work!" she sighed, and put down her pencil.

"Never mind," Francine said, "tomorrow's plenty of time. Mrs. Barstow is out front anyway. She wants to see you."

"It's about that apartment the Fullers are going to sub-lease. The new building on California street, Joan. As soon as I heard I rushed right over to tell you. It will be simply ideal for you and Curtis—just what you'll want until you build. Do get your things and come—I have the car outside. I wanted you to see it before I told Curtis about it. I know you'll love it!" Mrs. Barstow's cheeks were pink with excitement. "I can't wait for you to see it!"

"But it's so soon to think of an apartment!" Joan protested, "when we aren't going to be married until June and—"

"Yes, I know, but you'll never see anything so lovely as this. Do come—I know you'll like it!"

So there was nothing to do but go, and anyway it was fun, going house hunting with Mrs. Barstow, so gracious and sweet. Like she used to be before Joan knew her son. "She's getting to like me!" she thought, and a warm breath of happiness touched her, gently, like a little wind.

"There—I knew you'd adore it!" Mrs. Barstow exulted when the manager had let them in. "You'll never find anything better. See the sweet fireplace, Joan. Just imagine how it will look with fire and a nice comfortable chesterfield before it. . . . and a small table about here. . . ."

"Brass andirons would be perfect. Oh, Mrs. Barstow—and one of those old-fashioned wing chairs Curtis likes so much. And candles, fat, honey-colored ones—and a small table about here—"

"Yes, and a low hassock—" Mrs. Barstow stopped and sighed. "Joan dear, I do envy you—starting in—all new!"

Two pale green and white bedrooms, a canary-colored kitchen, glistening with newness. Think of living here! Having a home of your own! Joan's color rose. She grew excited, eager. She could hardly wait to show it to Curtis . . . the place that might be their home . . . soon.

In the evening Curtis and she went back to the apartment together. Fun to get the key, and open the door, and come in together, alone in the cool, new-smelling place. Still scented with cedar shavings and a balmy, spicy smell . . . floor wax, or what?

"Do you like it?" she asked, smiling a little shyly.

He pulled her to him, loving her, forgetting why they had come. "Oh, but it's good to have you alone for a minute. I so seldom do. Darn all this wedding business, Johnnie. I wish we could ditch the whole thing, and just walk out and get married, Johnnie . . . will you . . . now?"

She shook her head, "No, no—it wouldn't be fair to your mother—"

"I know, but it's so long to wait, and I love you so . . . Johnnie . . will you?"

"No, Curtis, we couldn't. Think how she'd feel—"

"Oh, I suppose so. Damn it." He smiled, and kissed her again, gently. It was quiet in the new building, quiet and peaceful. Her head rested on his arm. Quiet and peaceful and safe . . . Safe . . . Her mind began to race again. Back to Sausalito . . . the rose garden. No, no—she mustn't think about that—not now—

"Aunt Exvie sent the seed pearl bracelet!" she said breathlessly.

"Did she? Well, she's not such a bad old relic. But she doesn't think much of me, does she? She asked me if I didn't consider myself a fortunate young man!" He laughed good-naturedly. "Her tone wasn't very complimentary to your choice."

"Oh—"

"But I agreed with her . . . Johnnie, how did you ever come to care for a plain, ordinary individual like me? You so shining, and white. . . ."

"No, no, Curtis—just ordinary too—just ordinary—"

"Hush! You're not ordinary. Everyone who meets you feels it. The difference, Joan. It touches me—makes me feel very humble, to have you, so unspoiled and sweet, so—good—"

Her face was hidden on his sleeve, but the tears welled in her closed eyes, and in her throat, choking her.

He did not know. His voice went on half whispering. "You don't know what that means to me. I think that is why I never really loved anyone else. . . . . girls are so different nowadays . . . I felt that . . . I never wanted to marry until I saw you, and when I saw you—I knew—"

She let him talk, because she could not trust her voice to stop him. And then she waited in the long silence, her face still hidden, waited . . . waited. . . .

For there wasn't any more doubt. She knew what she must do. She looked up at last. Saw his dear face, so full of love. "I can't give him up—I can't—I can't—"

Perhaps, when he loved her so, he'd rather never know . . . it would be kinder . . . Hope again, one flickering star in the dark of her fears. . . .

"Curtis, did you hear about Connie Howard—getting married?" She spoke very fast, in a small, high-pitched voice.

He didn't answer at first. She had to ask him again. "Did you hear about it, Curtis?"

"It was smeared all over the papers, I could hardly help it. Wonder who the Creely person is? He must have just come from the North Pole, or the Fiji Islands if he didn't know any more about her than that—"

The idea amused him. He grinned. "Or maybe he's a half wit. Or deaf and dumb—and blind!"

"You mean," her voice was very low, a thread of pain, "that no one would have married her who knew?"

"No one with any self-respect."

"But if he never knew . . . if no one had ever known . . . of whether he's actually just RAZzing the poor darling, do you know what I mean? F'r instance toDAY, my dear, I nearly had hysTERics because when we were out at FOOTball practice ARab suddenly turned to BULL and SPURTED this treMENdous LINE to him about psyCHOLogy being the seDUCtive science of the pheNOMena of HUman CONsciousness or something utterly VAGUE and BAFfling like THAT, my dear—can you BEAR it? I mean this poor oaf BULL was comPLETEly nonPLUSSED and being of a ONE-track MIND as it were, he INnocently inquired what THAT had to do with FOOTball! HONestly, my dear, I thought I'd SWOON, and I mean it was ALL too positively perVERted because ARab suddenly colLAPSED in my ARMS with a faint GURGle of frusTRAtion or something! Well, ANYways, my dear, I'm as NERvous as a BEE with the JIVES about the situation at this point—I mean I ACtually AM!"

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl -:- Story by Lloyd Mayer -:- By John Held, Jr.

PSYCHOLOGY IS THE SCIENCE THAT TREATS INDUCTIVELY OF THE PHENOMENA OF HUMAN CONSCIOUSNESS
YEH. AND WHAT HAS THAT GOT TO DO WITH FOOTBALL?

"I hope she will be happy," Joan said.

Francine and the girls just laughed.

"Oh, I can't work!" she sighed, and put down her pencil.

"Never mind," Francine said, "tomorrow's plenty of time. Mrs. Barstow is out front anyway. She wants to see you."

"It's about that apartment the Fullers are going to sub-lease. The new building on California street, Joan. As soon as I heard I rushed right over to tell you. It will be simply ideal for you and Curtis—just what you'll want until you build. Do get your things and come—I have the car outside. I wanted you to see it before I told Curtis about it. I know you'll love it!" Mrs. Barstow's cheeks were pink with excitement. "I can't wait for you to see it!"

"But it's so soon to think of an apartment!" Joan protested, "when we aren't going to be married until June and—"

"Yes, I know, but you'll never see anything so lovely as this. Do come—I know you'll like it!"

So there was nothing to do but go, and anyway it was fun, going house hunting with Mrs. Barstow, so gracious and sweet. Like she used to be before Joan knew her son. "She's getting to like me!" she thought, and a warm breath of happiness touched her, gently, like a little wind.

"There—I knew you'd adore it!" Mrs. Barstow exulted when the manager had let them in. "You'll never find anything better. See the sweet fireplace, Joan. Just imagine how it will look with fire and a nice comfortable chesterfield before it. . . . and a small table about here. . . ."

"Brass andirons would be perfect. Oh, Mrs. Barstow—and one of those old-fashioned wing chairs Curtis likes so much. And candles, fat, honey-colored ones—and a small table about here—"

"Yes, and a low hassock—" Mrs. Barstow stopped and sighed. "Joan dear, I do envy you—starting in—all new!"

Two pale green and white bedrooms, a canary-colored kitchen, glistening with newness. Think of living here! Having a home of your own! Joan's color rose. She grew excited, eager. She could hardly wait to show it to Curtis . . . the place that might be their home . . . soon.

In the evening Curtis and she went back to the apartment together. Fun to get the key, and open the door, and come in together, alone in the cool, new-smelling place. Still scented with cedar shavings and a balmy, spicy smell . . . floor wax, or what?

"Do you like it?" she asked, smiling a little shyly.

He pulled her to him, loving her, forgetting why they had come. "Oh, but it's good to have you alone for a minute. I so seldom do. Darn all this wedding business, Johnnie. I wish we could ditch the whole thing, and just walk out and get married, Johnnie . . . will you . . . now?"

She shook her head, "No, no—it wouldn't be fair to your mother—"

"I know, but it's so long to wait, and I love you so . . . Johnnie . . will you?"

"No, Curtis, we couldn't. Think how she'd feel—"

"Oh, I suppose so. Damn it." He smiled, and kissed her again, gently. It was quiet in the new building, quiet and peaceful. Her head rested on his arm. Quiet and peaceful and safe . . . Safe . . . Her mind began to race again. Back to Sausalito . . . the rose garden. No, no—she mustn't think about that—not now—

"Aunt Exvie sent the seed pearl bracelet!" she said breathlessly.

"Did she? Well, she's not such a bad old relic. But she doesn't think much of me, does she? She asked me if I didn't consider myself a fortunate young man!" He laughed good-naturedly. "Her tone wasn't very complimentary to your choice."

"Oh—"

"But I agreed with her . . . Johnnie, how did you ever come to care for a plain, ordinary individual like me? You so shining, and white. . . ."

"No, no, Curtis—just ordinary too—just ordinary—"

"Hush! You're not ordinary. Everyone who meets you feels it. The difference, Joan. It touches me—makes me feel very humble, to have you, so unspoiled and sweet, so—good—"

Her face was hidden on his sleeve, but the tears welled in her closed eyes, and in her throat, choking her.

He did not know. His voice went on half whispering. "You don't know what that means to me. I think that is why I never really loved anyone else. . . . . girls are so different nowadays . . . I felt that . . . I never wanted to marry until I saw you, and when I saw you—I knew—"

She let him talk, because she could not trust her voice to stop him. And then she waited in the long silence, her face still hidden, waited . . . waited. . . .

For there wasn't any more doubt. She knew what she must do. She looked up at last. Saw his dear face, so full of love. "I can't give him up—I can't—I can't—"

Perhaps, when he loved her so, he'd rather never know . . . it would be kinder . . . Hope again, one flickering star in the dark of her fears. . . .

"Curtis, did you hear about Connie Howard—getting married?" She spoke very fast, in a small, high-pitched voice.

"You mean," her voice was very low, a thread of pain, "that no one would have married her who knew?"

"No one with any self-respect."

"But if he never knew . . . if no one had ever known . . . of course, they did, but if they didn't, Curtis . . . would you blame her—"

"Blame her!" The hard look came stealing back to his mouth and eyes. He was the judge again, the judge without mercy. "Blame her for cheating a decent man! Joan, you don't know what you're saying. I've asked you not to talk about that girl. It's not a subject I care to discuss with you—"

"But everybody knew about her," she cried sharply. There was fear in her voice, fear that was mounting to terror. Terror of what she ought to do. Couldn't do. . . . couldn't do. . . . not now, with the wedding date set, and the lace veil. . . . not now . . not now. . .

"Everybody knew—that made it different. . . . You see. . . he must have known, too—"

"Joan will you let Connie Howard alone?" There was real exasperation in his voice. "I'm getting tired of it. . . . Oh, Johnnie, dear—forgive me—I didn't mean to speak to you like that. . . After all, to give Connie credit, she wouldn't try to sneak it through. She's not that sort!"

"How do you get such Gleaming Floors"

"All of my friends ask the same question. You would think I were a magician, but the whole secret lies in just a small can of Old English Wax that only costs a few cents.

"It not only gives the floor a real high polish but also removes dirt better than soap and water. And it takes but a jiffy to make ALL the floors in the house clean and fresh looking—whether they are wood, linoleum, varnished, shellaced or painted. Besides, you protect the surface against scratches and wear.

"You too, can have rich looking floors by stopping at your hardware, paint, housefurnishing or dept. store and getting a can of genuine Old English Wax. Made by The A. S. Boyle Co., Cincinnati, O., U. S. A."

Loving often

HE WAS UGLY. A little, squat, broad-shouldered man with a big neck and a blunt nose. He stormed his way through a turbulent life from poverty, through luxury and fame, to poverty again. He loved often and passionately, yet he was never loved. Admired, hated, ridiculed, revered, he conquered even deafness to leave the world richer in melody. His name was Ludwig van Beethoven.

On this hundred-and-first anniversary of his death, the moving, thrilling story of his life is told in December Cosmopolitan by the greatest of living biographers—EMIL LUDWIG. The man who told the story of Napoleon and of Bismarck makes the inspiring figure of this great composer a real man, baffled, struggling, heroic. No one should miss this truly great story.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

CIRCUMSTANTIAL LOVE

By LILY WANDEL

IRMA, riding on the suburban line, wondered if, after all, those purple hills beyond the clean slope of the golf course had not lied to her in the sweet promises they seemed to give each day: Rosy in the morning, foretelling her future with warm happiness, and purple at dusk; distant but close, a visible picture of gorgeous days to come. She had looked at them daily with a calm heart that grew fairly smug in the assurance that her peaceful happiness was something over which she had complete control.

Her work was so completely satisfying. There was nothing she liked better than pottering about Mr. Owen's shop, rearranging old glistening glass, fussing over the curious things from China, filling great vases and oddly shaped Mexican baskets with lovely artificial flowers, and waiting on the occasional but extremely satisfactory customer.

Her home could not have been more to her liking. A rambling little stone cottage, sweet with the breath of lilacs in the Spring and glowing with rose-russet Virginia creepers and hydranagea in the Fall. There was Mother completely occupied all Summer with jams and jellies and spicy concoctions, and in the Winter contentedly discussing new knitting stitches with Aunt Emily. The latter gave Irma such a nice comfortable feeling, as if she really were responsible for Aunt Emily's presence in the cottage. If Irma ever married, Mother would not be alone. Not that she was actually planning a wedding dress but she was pleasantly aware that eventually her friendship with Stan would culminate in marriage. Stan was a very nice young man who would make her exactly the kind of a husband she planned to have. He was quiet-mannered, sensible, taught English in the suburban high school, took her to the movies once or twice a week and sometimes, when the weather was pleasant, took her for a walk on a Sunday evening, and loaned her the books she liked to read. All this, Irma felt, was the product of her own careful managing.

But now, suddenly, Irma's nice smug little world was turned completely topsy-turvy. Mr. Owen had sold the shop and this very morning the new owner was coming to take charge. For Irma it was a catastrophe. What if the new man had not the same artistic sense as she? Suppose he attempted to interfere with her arrangements? She dreaded meeting him, for no matter how nice he might be, there was the possibility that he might take a definite interest in his shop and up to now Irma had had everything her own way.

At home, Aunt Emily had taken it into her head that she wanted to live in the city in an apartment. Irma had tried to talk to her, but Aunt Emily was obstinate and said she was tired of the country, that she wanted to enjoy the movies in the city.

Worst of all, she had not seen Stan for two whole weeks, and both Sundays had been absolutely perfect for a walk, to say nothing of the fact that Stan's favorite stars were billed at the local theater. Irma had heard there was a new, young history teacher at his school and somebody had said Stan had been taking her out.

There was quite a commotion in the shop when Irma entered. A middle-aged woman with shrewd eyes and a quick pleasant voice informed her, "I'm making room for two big tables. I want to have a lot of snappy bridge prizes on display. We're going to have a big sale and you can get busy on the price tags. My policy is a quick turnover, I'm Mrs. Riley, the new owner." Mechanically, fairly numb with despair, Irma began to work.

A little later her best and favorite customer, a dignified old lady, came in and Mrs. Riley instantly began to show her salesmanship qualities. In agony and shame Irma watched the new owner trying to sell the best customer an enormous vase. The customer who liked to discover odd little things for herself! When she left Irma knew they would never see her again.

At last the terrible day came to an end and Irma hurried toward the suburban line, conscious of a longing to see the familiar purple hills and the man who had drawn her attention to them. After all, she had the hills and the cottage and her mother, and this man—well, he was rather nice. Perhaps shem ight encourage him just a little and let him fill a better place in her smug little world that at present was so upset.

The man sat down beside her with a sigh and Irma, giving him a warm little nod of welcome, felt suddenly a little happier. "Well, it's goodby to our purple hills," the man told her in a weary voice, "this is my last ride. I'm going to live in the city, rotten luck!"

Irma controlled a gasp. What was the matter with her world? Had she lost control of everything? Even this man, this last crumb of hope, must desert her! A bitter anger filled her and she directed most of it to the man at her side. "If you don't like living in the city," she snapped, "why do you go? Everyone can direct his own life. If you let circumstances rule you, why, then you deserve what you get."

"But I may get something nice," laughed the man. "You see I have still faith in our purple hills, haven't you?" he asked coaxingly, but Irma refused to answer.

Mother greeted her in street clothes. "We just got in from the city," she told her daughter in delight. "I hope you don't mind, Irma, Aunt Emily and I rented an apartment. I can't wait until we move!"

A month later Irma prepared for her first night on an in-a-door bed. She worked all day in Mrs. Riley's up-to-date, bustling gift shop and came home to a small apartment and two elderly ladies all aflutter over the delights of the city. "It's choking me—I can't stand it!" and slipping on her dress again she tiptoed out of the flat up to the roof.

There was no moon but myriads of stars lent enough light for her to see a man turning from the balustrade, coming toward her with a little gasp of surprise and outstretched hands. "Why—I made a wish on a falling star and I didn't think it possible that it would come true so soon! You weren't by chance on that star, were you?"

"On the tenth floor," she told him. "I—I let circumstances rule me, I suppose," with a little catch in her voice.

He linked his arm through hers and drew her to the coping. "Look," he directed, "the jeweled streets of fairyland! And we are in it, a part of all this splendor. Do you want to tell me that the purple hills did not fulfill their promises? Haven't we got what we wanted?"

She wanted to tell him, with her head cushioned on her shoulder, that this was exactly what she wanted and the knowledge that she had had no part in directing the building of this new world of happiness only added to her bliss, but it was impossible—he had closed her lips with his own.

20th Century Club Hears Talk on Fear

NOT magic, not superstitions, as have been and are being used, but science—man's intelligence getting at the cause of things—will conquer fear, Lewis Browne, author of "This Believing World," told the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning. In a foreword with which he prefaced his lecture on "The Conquest of Fear," this recognized authority on comparative religions, said, the oldest scientist is so young when compared with the spirit of religion that denominationalists should be taken out of his and chained down.

Mr. Browne deemed fear as "your reaction to that which you do not understand, that which has in it the element of the unknown." Men, he said, were afraid of wind until they found it was only air in motion; afraid of lightning until they learned it was merely the clouds making love to each other. Primitive man tried to coerce the gods by magic; later, man took to superstition and began to petition the gods, he observed. He described such an audience as goes regularly to hear Aimee Semple McPherson and said these people are superstitious because they do not understand the world they live in. We are all closely related to these morons, he stated, remarking that this must necessarily be a monocracy since it is a democracy.

MISS WINIFRED CHAPPELL, associate secretary of the Federation for Social Service, will speak on some phase of vocations at a tea in the University of Pittsburgh Heinz House tomorrow afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock, under auspices of the women's council on efficient living of the Women's Self Government Association. Miss Chappell, who has just returned from Russia, is associate editor of the Social Service Bulletin.

IT SEEMED rather appropriate that the Sewickley Valley Woman's Club should have Herbert Heyner, a captain in the English infantry, as its Armistice Day attraction. Capt. Heyner, England's famous baritone, was wounded in the World War and for five years after the war was unable to sing. He gave an interesting and comprehensive program yesterday, with Earl Mitchell doing his usual honors at the piano. Mr. Heyner included two groups of old English, a group of French, German and old and little known Hungarian songs for his third group, closing with several modern songs.

UNLIMITED membership, a clubhouse, departmental work and an increase in community activities were the "things hoped for" by Mrs. J. G. Chalfant in her talk on the future of the Wilkinsburg Women's Club at its thirtieth anniversary luncheon yesterday. About 150 women attended the luncheon, which was held in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. Miss Helen Pershing offered the invocation and Miss Elizabeth Davidson, introduced by the president, Mrs. Albert L. Vencill, was toastmistress. The account of Mrs. W. J. Martin, first treasurer, was humorous as was Mrs. Alexander S. Hunter's story of "Through the Years." Mrs. Vencill paid a beautiful tribute to "Our Charter Members," and there was a moment of silence as a memorial for the departed members. Miss Helen Bell Rush, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. John E. Nelson, gave several numbers and the club choral led assembly singing.

Week in Social World Potpourri of Weddings, Luncheons, Teas

AS far as the debutantes are concerned, and you must admit that their influence is felt in most of the social affairs just now, this seems to be a decidedly "off" week. There is one coming-out party, of course, on Friday, when Elisabeth Orr will make her bow, and a few other debutante affairs. But on the whole the week is a sort of potpourri of weddings, luncheons and teas, most of them debutanteless.

Today there is the tea which Mrs. Allen W. McEldowney and her daughters, Mrs. Howard B. Walter and Jane McEldowney, are giving for the new Mrs. William McElroy McEldowney, and the out-of-town wedding of great interest is scheduled that of Ellen Euphemia Postell, of Jacksonville, and Marshall Clarke Boyd, of the Thomas McKennan Boyds.

I have just heard of another set for this week, the large luncheon which Mrs. Allen Pancoast, of Jackson street, will give on Thursday afternoon in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. There will not be any special guest of honor at this affair, I understand, but receiving with Mrs. Pancoast will be her mother, Mrs. Helen Clay Burchman, Sr., of the Commodore Hotel.

THE debutante party set for tomorrow is a bridge luncheon which Margaret Bonnell, who came out last season, and her mother, Mrs. Edward H. Bonnell, of Woodland road, will give at their home. All the debutantes will be guests, I've been told.

SPEAKING of the buds, I hear that Louise Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans, of South Negley avenue, and now East just now. She went to tende the senior prom at Princeton and is visiting Anne Crawford, daughter of the Hayden L. Crawfords, of Park avenue, New York. Several parties are going [illegible] for Louise, I hear, after she gets back home again. One party I've been told about, although the date hasn't been announced, will be given by Mrs. Frank J. Kirk, of the Ellsworth boulevard, and Mrs. Clinton P. Bradley.

THE marriage of Virginia Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin Flynn, of Kipling road, and Francis Walker Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Morris, of Oakland, was solemnized Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock in the Ritenour home by the Rev. Dr. R. C. McCown, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore ivory transparent velvet with a veil of rose point lace held with a cap of pearls, and she carried calla lilies. Margaret Flynn was maid of honor, appearing in beige velvet and carrying autumn flowers. Harris Johnson, of Chicago, was best man. A dinner followed the ceremony with covers laid for 12 at the bridal table. Mr. and Mrs. Morris will be at home after December 1 in Jackson Heights, Long Island.

THE wedding of Miss Mary Genevieve Harris, daughter of the late John Harris, Sr., of Crafton Terrace, and John Taylor Wurts, of Uniontown, took place yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock in St. Philip's Catholic Church, Crafton, with the Rev. W. C. Kelly officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Dennis A. Harris, wore silver lame embroidered with pearls and fashioned in medieval style with a low cowl neck. Her tiered veil was held with a [illegible] and she carried a shower bouquet of [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible]. Mrs. [illegible] Wurts, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and John R. Carr, brother of the bride, was best man.

MRS. FREDERIC CHARLES LESLIE, of Washington, Pa., announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Jane Stewart Leslie, and Dr. John Morrison Hyslop, of Pittsburgh, which was solemnized last Tuesday in the United Presbyterian Church at New Wilmington, Pa.

SATURDAY night at 6:30 o'clock, John Ingram Means, of Bellevue, and Harold Alvin Hutchison, of Pittsburgh, son of the Rev. and Mrs. James E. Hutchison, of Clarion, was solemnized in the Means home by the bridegroom's father, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath. Only the immediate families and a few friends were in attendance. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore golden brown transparent velvet and carried Johanna Hill roses, lilies of the valley and orchids. Ruthella Baxter, of Connellsville, as maid of honor, appeared in gold moire and her flowers were orchids chrysanthemums. Clyde Kelly, of Southdale, was best man. A dinner and reception followed the ceremony, with covers laid for 30 at the bridal table. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison have left for a southern trip and after December 1 will be at home in Chislett street, East End.

AT THE dance given last Wednesday night in Sanders' Inn by the Alumni Club of the Chi Sigma Chi fraternity, announcement was made of the marriage of Mrs. Bernice Cole Weibel, daughter of Mrs. Hattie Cole, of the Kittanning pike, and Ralph Stone Fyock, son of R. M. Fyock, of Aspinwall. The ceremony was performed October 31.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Mildred Alice Carr, daughter of Mrs. Annie Carr, of Hamilton avenue, and Donald White, son of William H. White, of Swissvale, which was solemnized last Thursday in the rectory of Holy Rosary Catholic Church by the Rev. Leo Pastorius. Mrs. Benner Gosser, of Ligonier, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and John R. Carr, brother of the bride, was best man.

SERIES 60

RCA Loudspeaker 103 $37.50

The finest achievement in Radio with RCA Electro-Dynamic Speakers

The Radiola Super-Heterodyne, in its present remarkable state of development, is the result of ten years' research.

Radio engineers recognize the Super-Heterodyne as the finest achievement in the radio art. Since its first public introduction five years ago, the research laboratories of RCA, General Electric and Westinghouse have made further refinements in this wonderful circuit, adapting it to the progress in vacuum tube design and simplified electric operation.

RUSSIAN CARNIVAL
Music by Rimsky Korsakoff
Scenery and costumes by Nicolas Remisoff
Choreography by Adolph Bolm
Adolph Bolm and Entire Company

If the Bohm Ballet, giving a pleasant entertainment at Carnegie Music Hall last night, had had a larger stage the success of their venture would have been more certain. Under trying circumstances, however, the troupe did some very effective dancing.

Adolph Bohm first came to us with the Diaghileff Russian Ballet, and distinguished himself in Scheherazade and especially as the Moor in Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." He is a fine representative of the best of the Russian school, possesses more humor than poetry, and has at his toes' tips an extremely sufficient technique. His leaps are the most picturesque imaginable, his pantomime always intelligent, and since he is master of choreography in this organization, we must conclude that he is a very good professor at rehearsal.

He seems very successful in groupings. The rhythmic precision of his company is a compliment to his drilling, and his ensemble numbers such as Amazon Ballet and the Russian Carnival are not without fantasy.

Among his associates the audience found several dancers to its liking. There was the comedian Agnes George deMille, who has studied Degas as painter in the ballet school, and with some pathos has depicted his sketches. She has just begun to understand these canvases, and could give still more varied impressions of this painter. She is not averse to studying American types, and gave a very exhilarating interpretation of some real native dances.

Vera Mirova goes to the Orient for inspiration. Her costumes are very beautiful, and she suggests much of Ruth St. Denis, without the St. Denis flare for understanding the soul of the people she portrays. Berenice Holmes is the third of the solo group. To her falls the task of classic toe dancing. She did many a dainty step, but said nothing new.

Costumes were colorful and fresh. In a spring song from Schumann, the designer looked at Botticelli, and was rewarded. There was no scenery, only simple curtains, and the musical accompaniment the worst I have ever heard for a ballet.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

GREAT RESULTS FROM COMPOUND

Read How This Medicine Helped This Woman

Brainerd, Minn.—"I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and I have got great results from its tonic action at the Change of Life. Before I took it I was nervous and at times I was too weak to do my housework. I was this way about a year. But now I do all my housework and do chores outside also. I must say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me and no woman should be without it. I sure can speak a good word for it."—Mrs. Jim Smith, R. R. 7, Brainerd, Minnesota.

A Remodeling Sale

6,000 Pairs of Stetson and Holbrook and Petty Shoes Must Be Disposed of Before Dec. 1st

Remodeling and Consolidation Plans necessitate a quick disposal of the major part of our present stock of Stetson and Holbrook and Petty Shoes. Both men's and women's stocks must be reduced. The present space occupied by the Stetson Shop is to be divided into two separate stores, housing the Stetson Shop and Petty's Bootery. We want to move as little stock as possible from the present location of Petty's Bootery, across the Arcade Floor. We must reduce stock space in the Stetson Shop to make room for the new location of Petty's Bootery. As a result, we are sacrificing prices in both stores. Coming at this time of year, with both stores completely stocked with the newest Winter models of Shoes and Oxfords, it is fortunate opportunity. Make the most of it now, while the sale lasts.

Fuchs' Plan Rapped

LEAD STAKED ON NOTRE DAME TILT

Johnny Niemiec

Niemiec, remembered by local fans for his great work in a losing cause on the occasion of Carnegie's victory over Notre Dame here in 1926, has been more brilliant this season than ever. He was an outstanding star again last Saturday when the Fighting Irish conquered the Army, his accurately aimed forward pass to Johnny O'Brien being the factor that brought about the defeat of the hitherto unbeaten Generals.

PRESENTING an effective defense for Niemiec's runs and passes will be no small part of the Plaid's contract Saturday. If they can succeed in that direction it will mean the surmounting of one of the most threatening obstacles in their path toward the eastern championship.

Saturday's game has become more important than ever to the Tartan by reason of the Boston College's 19-to-7 triumph over Fordham yesterday. That win kept the Massachusetts gridders on even terms with Carnegie for the eastern title, these two being the only teams in that division that have not been defeated nor tied, and, as Boston is generally picked to beat St. Canisius at Buffalo this weekend, a reverse or a draw in South Bend probably would cost the Skibos their present position in which they share the leadership with the New Englanders.

NOT many spectators notice the little items that determine whether a team captain is on his toes or not. Those who do see these things say that Alex Fox, this year's Pitt captain, is one of the most alert and intelligent.

Watchful of every point in his team's interest, he never is found riding officials nor making himself conspicuous by loud protests, and his ability to pep up his mates is unusual.

Josh Williams

IF NEBRASKA'S secondary defense men tackle cleanly, the oversized Westerners may defeat Pitt on weight and power alone, for they have plenty of A-1 reinforcements, something that the Panthers lack this year. But if the big red-jerseyed men are clumsy in their attempts to bring down Williams and Uansa it may be another story. The Pitt interference will get those speedboys a start some of the time, at least, and it behooves the Cornhuskers' backs to drop Toby and Josh before they get clear into the open if they're going to do it at all.

JOHN A. STALEY, SR., who died yesterday, was a number of years ago one of the most prominent and widely-known sportsmen in the country. He was always a supporter and patron of clean sports, and was at one time a partner of the late John Newell in the ownership of a hotel here that was the headquarters of all visiting sport figures of note.

Mr. Staley was one of the Pitt-burghers who were found present at practically all of the big boxing contests and other sport events held in various parts of the country in the old days. He headed a party that traveled to New Orleans to witness the big three-day fistic carnival staged there on September 5, 6 and 7, 1892, in which three world championships were involved, Jim Corbett defeating John L. Sullivan for the heavyweight title, Jack McAuliffe defending the lightweight crown successfully against Billy Myers, and George Dixon retaining the featherweight honors by beating Jack Skelly.

ANOTHER prominent sport figure of the bygone in this district passed in the death of David J. Berry in San Francisco. He was one of the early promoters of professional football when Pittsburgh, Homestead, Latrobe and Greensburg had the best pro teams in the country.

In the late 90's Mr. Berry operated strong professional teams in Latrobe, probably the best being that of 1899, captained by Ralph Hitchinson, previously a star quarterback at Princeton.

Johnny Evers

THE Latrobe stars were rivals of D. C. & A. C., Homestead L. A. C., and Greensburg, for professional honors in this region, in 1899 and 1900, the days of George Brooke, Carl Williams, Bill Church, Daff Gammons, Dave Fultz, Doggy Trenchard, Roy Jackson, Bill Farrar, Chrley Gelbert, Bemus and Hawley Pearce, Arthur Miller, Frank Hudson, John Hall, John Winstein, Floyd Rose, Ned Young, Arthur Richardson, Christy Mathewson, Pete Overfield and others who starred as pros hereabouts. After the disbandment of Homestead and D. C. & A. C., Mr. Berry organized the Pittsburgh Professionals, which

HOW NORTH PARK'S TWIN WILL SHAPE UP

Work is being rushed on the construction of the new South Park county public golf course, which is not so far advanced as the North Park course. Both are expected to be ready for play next season. Diagrammed photo above gives general view of the terrain near the South Park clubhouse at this stage, while below appears the architect's drawing of the complete layout of 18 holes. The courses will be practically twins, with pars of 72, evenly divided going out and coming back.

WAGNER IS EASY WINNER OVER YOUNG RUDY

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

OL' MAN EXPERIENCE proved too tough an opponent for Young Rudy, Charleroi's young fighting lightweight, making his local debut as a main-bouter in the 10-round windup at Motor Square Garden last night, and the veteran, who goes by the ring de guerre of Eddie (Kid) Wagner, of Philadelphia and New York, romped off with a one-sided victory in a bout that was interesting despite the fact that it wasn't close.

Wagner won eight of the 10 rounds all off by himself and lost the seventh and eighth, in which Rudy turned the tide and then kicked away his big chance through his comparative inexperience. From the start, the rangy, speedy and clever Wagner outboxed Rudy at a distance and handled him with ease in the clinches, constantly pounding his body and jolting his head back with short uppercuts, frequently on the breaks. A few times he struck dangerously low, but drew no protest from the willing Rudy.

In the fourth round, Rudy's left eye began to go into mourning, but it never came anywhere near closing and didn't bother him particularly. It was not until late in the sixth round that Rudy got in his first good blow, a solid right to the body at close quarters. Shortly after the start of the seventh round, he leaped across the ring with a swishing left that connected with the jaw and drove Wagner back. He followed up the advantage with some furious fighting that made the Kid hold on until his head cleared. Then Rudy slowed down, with a chance for victory in his grasp, and permitted Wagner to come on with a brisk rally to end the session. It was Rudy's first round of the fight.

WAGNER SENT DOWN

Rudy started out in the eighth round as if he intended to keep up the good work. Shortly after the bell, he caught Wagner off balance along the ropes near Eddie's corner and sent him down for no count with a left to the chin.

Wagner did not appear to be hurt, but went on the defensive and Rudy continued to force the fighting, winning his second and last round. The final two rounds were all Wagner. He alternately outboxed and outfought Rudy and won as he pleased.

Although decisively beaten, Rudy was by no means disgraced. Facing a seasoned campaigner who has boxed five champions, he learned a lot in his first "big league" windup, and he never stopped trying. He suffered no ill effects and merely was outpointed. Wagner's work was pleasing.

The crowd was one of the smallest of the season and it is doubtful if a show will be held in the Garden next Monday night. And not only was the crowd off the line, but

BOSTON BEATS FORDHAM BY 19-7 SCORE

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Boston College ran its string of football victories up to six here yesterday by defeating Frank Cavanaugh's Fordham eleven, 19 to 7, before a large holiday crowd at Fenway Park. The victory placed Joe McKenney's outfit on top of the Eastern gridiron heap with Carnegie Tech, the only other big college in this section which neither has been beaten nor tied.

McKenney, the youngest college coach in the game, learned all of his football from Cavanaugh, who was coaching Boston College when Joe was a star quarterback. The lineup:

Boston—19.		Fordham—7.
Dixon	L. E.	Kloppenberg
Herman	L. T.	Foley
Milczewski	L. G.	Tracey
Kilroy	C.	Sisto

ASSISTANT SUCCESSOR TO WILCE

By LESTER J. BIEDERMAN.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—When Pitt and Ohio State meet in Pittsburgh next fall, on November 2, in the first grid game between these two schools, Ohio State's new coach, the successor to Dr. John W. Wilce, who has resigned, will be Sam S. Willaman, at present Dr. Wilce's first assistant. This was learned through an official source from a man who is close enough to Ohio State athletic powers to know what he is talking about. The sports editor of one of the Columbus papers printed this startling statement Monday in spite of the fact Dr. Wilce's resignation does not take effect until June, 1929, and that his official successor will not be made known until that time.

Dr. Clarence Spears, former coach at West Virginia and now a most successful tutor of football at Minnesota, was regarded as a likely successor to Wilce, but if the Willaman appointment materializes the grid situation here will be in capable hands. Willaman came here in the fall of 1926 to serve as first assistant to Dr. Wilce. He was brought from Iowa State with the definite understanding that if he made good he was to be given Wilce's post when Wilce resigned. Dr. Wilce had at that time told members of the athletic board of his plans to resign and enter the practice of medicine, this paper further stated.

Willaman will be given a one-year contract as head coach at the start of the official school year, June 1, 1929. Willaman is an Ohio State graduate, attending the university from 1909 to 1913 inclusive. He was a star fullback in 1913 on the first football team Dr. Wilce ever coached at Ohio State University. He is 37 years old.

After graduating from Ohio State in 1913 he coached at Alliance and Cleveland East Tech High Schools before going to Iowa State. He is a popular idol in Cleveland, where he turned out several great football teams while coaching at East Tech. Interest in the Pittsburgh sector is attached to Willaman's appointment because of the relationship between Ohio State and Pitt which culminates in the grid engagement next fall at Pittsburgh on November 2 and when Pitt's stadium is expected to be filled for the first time at this intersectional battle.

Burns, Former Outfielder, Dead

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS.)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning for Thomas P. (Tommy) Burns, who during his heyday was hailed as one of the greatest outfielders of the times. Burns played with Brooklyn in its pennant-winning year of 1889. He died yesterday at the age of 64, following a brief illness.

Hornsby to Sign Cub Contract Today

The National League batting champion, obtained by the Cubs from the Boston Braves last week for cash and five players, was due in Chicago today to affix his name to a contract. It is understood the Cubs will agree to pay him the same salary he received while at Boston—supposedly $32,000 a season.

DATTO STOPS DEROSE AT NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 13.—Johnny Datto, Cleveland, knocked out Al De Rose, Indianapolis, in the third round of the main bout at Jolly Bowl, last night.

The decision went to Frankie Rio, Cleveland, in the six-round semi-final with Patsy Gallagher, Pittsburgh.

Romeo Pacelli, New Castle, won the decision in his six-round bout with Jackie Coogan, of Canton. Steve Brown, Elyria, O., won the decision from Warren Farrow, New Castle, in four rounds. Johnny Jennings, New Castle, knocked out Johnny Dougherty, New Castle, in the first round of the opening bout.

STRENUOUS BATTLES AHEAD

By JESS CARVER.

IF THE University of Pittsburgh schedule committee is wise, it will follow in the footsteps of Carnegie Tech and book a football game in New York, or some where in the East in coming years.

At the Carnegie Tech-Georgetown game at Albany last week, every New York City daily and Sunday paper was represented by a staff writer—many of them football experts. One of the best-known scribblers had his wire next to mine, and during the course of the fray he commented on that fact that the Panthers do not afford the seaboard writers much opportunity to see them in action.

"We hear about these great Pitt and Tech teams, but we seldom get to look 'em over," this writer said. "Tech has been coming east during the past two seasons, playing New York University, but Pitt hasn't been in our league since Pop Warner's team played Sy-acuse last. We can't travel out to your part of the country very well, but it seems to me that your Pitt teams would be smart if they'd come East once in a while."

Though it may sound as though the gent mentioned was giving himself and his contemporary writers somewhat of a boost, there are few who will not admit but that he was right. It is extremely difficult to build a team's reputation here in the tri-state district and have it reach the football centers of the Atlantic seaboard—Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Let one of these tough November Pitt lines show its stuff in the East against a major opponent, and the boys who write it up for the papers would get a thrill. They are a generally square-shooting lot, but they have to be shown.

PLAY IN WEST

Both the Panthers and the Tartans, however, have western rather than eastern sorties, over which to worry at the present. Both will invade the Middle West this week, carrying each other's good wishes along. Tech, still undefeated and ranking at the top of the eastern heap, engages Notre Dame at South Bend. The Panthers, striding along in the seven-league boots of a hard-hitting line and a capable backfield, go even further into the Irish Set for Tech; Nebraska Rough

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Notre Dame will fight to keep intact its record of no defeats on Cartier Field since 1905, when it tangles with Carnegie Tech's football juggernaut Saturday.

While the Ramblers have met many sturdy opponents on their home field, they have always galloped away with a victory since that date, and the record is considered an omen of triumph over the strong invaders.

Knute Rockne's men, except Johnny Chevigny, came out of the Army game in good shape Saturday. Chevigny, who was knocked unconscious in the fourth quarter, will be given a rest this week, and will play only if necessary.

NEBRASKA FOE BATTERED

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 13—(AP.)—Battered and bruised so badly in last week's crushing 6 to 44 defeat by Nebraska's powerful gridiron machine, 23 members of the Oklahoma football squad were unable to report for practice last night. Only one member of the first or second-string teams showed up on the field, causing virtual cancellation of the Monday night's workout.

None of the 23 players was hurt seriously, but Coach Ad Lindsay believed it would take most of them two weeks to "get over their bruises."

Nebraska's power house backfield and formidable line, reported to be the biggest and best in a decade of Cornhuskers gridiron history, has wrecked havoc upon big six conference rivals in every game this season. Not one of the three foes previously vanquished has recovered sufficiently to win its game the following week, although the Husker victims were favorites each time.

COACHES HELP CLUB PILOTS IN MAJORS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

ANNOUNCEMENT by Manager McGraw of the Giants yesterday that Ray Schalk is to be a coach of the New York club was an item of interest in more ways than one. For one thing, the move tends to give these assistants a better rating than they have had.

Did it ever occur to you that the coach of a baseball club has to be a diplomatic fellow? It might not be amiss to contend that very often the assistant manager has to use more tact than the big boss of the team.

A coach is placed in a rather delicate spot. For instance, there are certain players on most clubs who appear to think that the manager's assistants are tale-bearers, who will tell the boss things they do not like to get out. Perhaps there is reason for the feeling, yet it is a fact that most of the present-day coaches in the National League are very careful in this connection.

HAS TWO ASSISTANTS

Major league teams as a rule now employ two assistants. Manager Bush of the Pirates has two excellent advisers in Jewel Ens and Oscar Stanage.

Ens is what might be termed the first assistant, in that he operates on the coaching lines throughout the year. Stanage, formerly a star catcher for the Detroit Tigers, looks after the upkeep of the pitching staff.

It would be only stating the truth to chronicle that both Ens and Stanage are very popular with the rank and file of players on the Pirate roster.

Pirate followers were pleased to see John Lobert, a South Hills boy, back in the battle togs of the Giants. John Hans is one of McGraw's coaches, and he showed at various times last season that he knows what he is doing every minute.

Skipper Bill McKechnie of the pennant-winning Cardinals was able to cope with the services of only one adviser. Jack Onslow was Bill's big helper throughout the long race.

ADVISORS POPULAR

Marse Joe McCarthy of the Cubs has two colorful assistants in Jimmy Burke and Mickey Doolan, two former major league infielders. The Bruin advisers are extremely popular with the Cubs; they do a lot to keep up the morale of McCarthy's brilliant fighters.

Jack Hendricks, Reds' pilot, has two valued aides in Grover Land and Ivo Wingo. Otto Miller gives Wilbert Robinson a lift in Brooklyn while the Braves, under Hornsby, were aided and abetted by Alan Sothoron, former spitball pitching star. Burt Shotton managed to get along with the services of Fred Hunter.

It will be seen from this list that a big-league pilot gets plenty of help. Many a minor league chieftain has to do his task all alone. And the fans don't know the half of it concerning these fellows.

FIGHT

almost everything else also went wrong. The semi-final, between Frankie Palmo, of Cincinnati, and Henry Firpo, of Louisville, scheduled for eight rounds, ended abruptly with nine seconds to go in the third round, when Palmo was accidentally hit low with a wild left swing and went down so fast that Firpo followed through with a right that grazed the chin before he could pull it back. The Cincinnatian went through all the agony of having been fouled and the bell rang as he was being assisted to his corner, where his claim was upheld. The crowd booed the decision, yelling for him to go on after a rest. He did not appear to be seriously hurt, but rather glad to find an easy way out from the shellacking that Firpo was handing him at the time. Firpo was well ahead, having won the first round, lost the second and punched Palmo around plentifully in the third. It was a humdinger of a battle while it lasted.

PHILLIPS IS WINNER

Tug Phillips, of Fayette City, defeated Young Tiger Flowers, Negro, of the North Side, in six wearisome rounds of close range fighting and tugging and hauling. Phillips, who seems to have lost most of his fine boxing form recently, worked his way inside and hammered the body throughout, but Flowers stood up well under the punishment until the last round and made a rather creditable showing for a first appearance.

Young Guido, of Sharon, came fast in the last two rounds to defeat Georgie Peck, of North Side, in the four-round second bout and Frankie Mason, of Braddock, outmauled Frankie Lanz, of Sharpsburg, in a terribly messy four-round opener.

Wagner was handled in the main bout by Billy McCarney, veteran pilot of New York, and Luke Carney, while Red Mason was behind Rudy. Eddie Kennedy refereed the main bout and the third event and Jack Henderson the other two. Kennedy also acted as announcer, and Chappie Couch was the timekeeper.

Wagner, 137½, and Rudy, 138¾; Palmo, 153, and Firpo, 149½; Phillips, 145, and Flowers, 147; Guido, 147½, and Peck, 146. Lanz, 124½, and Mason, 121½.

RESIN DUST

Cuddy DeMarco has been matched to box Fred Mahan, a new "phenom," at Columbus, O., Friday night.

Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City heavyweight, has demanded what the Motor Square Club considers an exorbitant guarantee for a bout with Ike McFowler, Johnstown Negro heavyweight. McFowler's manager, Cooney Martin, was present at last night's show in the Garden and agreed to let his man fight Rocco or Otto Von Porat here.

Buck McTiernan, the very promising welterweight of Hazelwood, is back in town from Cleveland, where he has been making his headquarters, and is training at Flynn's gymnasium, Sixth street, near Penn avenue, for an eight-round battle with Freddie Meddough at Detroit next Monday night. He is under the management of Eddie Mead, of Cleveland. Buck worked out yesterday with Dave McConnell, of the North Side.

Billy Wallace and Joey Medill box at Chicago tonight. Hilario Martinez meets Tony Vacarelli and Pete Rivera boxes Angelo Gentile in New York.

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, will engage in his third fight in six days when he meets Jack O'Bryan, of Clairton, in the semi-final to the Howard Mayberry-Eddie O'Dowd fight at McKeesport Thursday night. He defeated Mike Hogan at Windber last Saturday and boxed U. S. Carpentier at Washington, Pa., last night. O'Banyan last week knocked out Tommy Heilman in two rounds at McKeesport and Heilman is the only boxer who ever has scored a victory over Gizzy.

Eddie O'Dowd has boxed three champions in his time, Johnny Buff, Abe Goldstein and Bud Taylor, and has met a number of contenders, including Bushy Graham, Al Brown, Carl Tremaine, Johnny Datto and Harry Blitman. He has had 150 bouts and never has been knocked out. Included in his record are seven 15-round bouts fought in New York. He meets Joey Sangor at Milwaukee, November 26, and his bout with Howard Mayberry at McKeesport Thursday night will be his last before that engagement.

Tommy Walsh, of Chicago, has purchased a half interest in the boxers under the management of Frank Churchill. The string includes Tod Morgan, junior-lightweight champion; Spug Myers, Ignacio Fernandez, Johnny Hill, Speedy Dado, Armando Santiago, Red Uhlan, Jack Kane, Buster Brown, Freddie Mueller, Art Weigand and Sully Montgomery.

Islam Grotto Lodge No. 35 will stage its first amateur boxing show of the season Friday evening in Grotto Hall, Madison avenue and Pressley street, North Side. Seven bouts are listed.

Callery Horse To Go on Block

Trumpet, 2:03¾, a Grand Circuit trotting star, has been consigned to the annual Old Glory Sale to be held in New York, Nov. 27-30. He at present is owned by J. D. Callery, well-known sportsman of this city. Trumpet was the leading money-winning trotter if 1925, when he was raced by Tommy Murphy. Among his successes that year was the $25,000 American Trotting Derby at Aurora, Ill.

PITT, W. & J. PLEBES TIE

JEANNETTE, Pa., Nov. 13.—The Pitt freshmen and the W. & J. freshmen battled to a scoreless tie here yesterday in a game sponsored by the local American Legion post.

The Pitt freshmen, who had been running rough shod over all of their opponents during the season, were outplayed for close to three-quarters of the game. Picked as the underdog, the Vice Presidents ripped large holes through the Pitt line from the start to carry the ball into Pitt territory. However, the condition of the field caused both teams to use only straight football. But two passes were tried during the game, one by each, and both were completed.

In the third period W. & J. carried the ball from their own 40-yard line to the Pitt three-yard line. With fourth down and three yards to go for a touchdown, a triple criss-cross was tried, but Pitt smeared it for an eight-yard loss.

Pitt displayed their best attack in the closing minutes of the fourth period. On a fake kick, Clark, former Kiski star, ran off tackle for 30 yards, putting the ball on the W. & J. 11-yard line. However, on four downs they failed to take it over.

Here W. & J. got off a bad kick from behind their own goal line, the ball going to their own 10-yard line. Murphy slipped off tackle on the first play for five yards for the last play of the game.

Jimmy Clark consistently gained for the Pitt freshmen team, while the work of Rush at fullback for the W. & J. freshmen featured. It was Wilson's plunging that proved a real threat to the Panther yearlings from the start of the game. A good sized crowd braved the inclement weather to see the game.

George Godfrey Stops Gorman in Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—George Godfrey, Negro heavyweight of Leiperville, Pa., stopped Bud Gorman, Chicago, in the third round of their 10-round fight last night. Godfrey, weighing 240 pounds, was too fast and too strong for Gorman, who scaled 204, and when a right to the head dropped the Chicagoan in the third Gorman's seconds tossed a towel into the ring.

Gorman was knocked down three times in the first round with crushing rights to the head, but regained his feet each time at the count of nine. Near the close of the round Godfrey caught the Chicagoan with a right uppercut to the face that sent him through the ropes. He clambered back into the ring at the count of eight.

Tommy Grogan Gives K. O. to Bobby Garcia

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Tommy Grogan, Omaha, lightweight, made his farewell appearance here before leaving for the east, knocking out Bobby Garcia, of Baltimore, in the second round of their 10 round main event last night.

Phil Goldstein Loses in Buffalo Fight

BUFFALO, Nov. 13.—AP.)—Jimmy Goodrich, former world's lightweight champion, defeated Phil Goldstein of Pittsburgh, in a hot 10 round bout here last night. Jimmy knocked Goldstein down for a count of nine in the Fifth round and had him in trouble in the ninth and tenth rounds but could not finish him. Goodrich weighed 142, Goldstein 137½.

Virgil Kinkade, Buffalo, beat Jack Mandey of Scranton, in six rounds. He knocked Manley down for a count of nine in the first round. Kinkade weighed 153 and Manley 148.

Penn Squad Rests After Grid Victory

None of the 12 Penn players who saw action was injured. Because of the good condition of the first eleven, Coach Lou Young announced he would start them against Columbia next Saturday.

AMICUS ELEVEN STOPS BURNS BY 6 TO 0

By TOM BIRKS.

DESPITE inclement weather, Armistice Day found three real independent gridiron football games played, the leading battle for the day featuring the Burns Club and Springdale Amicus in the Parnassus High School field. The Amicus won by a 6-to-0 score. A blocked punt paved the way for the winning touchdown. The game at Lawrence Park between the Valley Tigers and the Twenty-seventh Ward Athletic Club finished in a scoreless tie.

The sensational battle between Oakmont and Verona also finished scoreless, and it is expected this rivalry will be extended until Thanksgiving Day. All of the games were played in a sea of mud.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS

A large crowd watched the hostilities at Parnassus High School field, "lake" would be a better name for it, and, just as advance publicity stated, Burns had a tough time getting a backfield together for the game. When the tilt started, Romenta of Glassmere was brought into the lineup.

And the battle was a typical Burns-Amicus session. For three periods, however, it seemed as though the Black and White was having the best of the mud scramble. Dick Goldberg was playing great football for Burns, and the youngster Romento seemed to be getting in some good runs.

But, as in most all hard battles, the break came in the final minute of the third quarter when Stein failed to hold the greasy ball, and, trying to punt, found Eltany, Springdale's left end, blocking the kick, and falling on the ball on the Burns 17-yard line.

The first play in the final quarter found the Amicus at its best play of the game, carrying the ball over, but some infringement of the rules brought the ball back. On the next play, Burns was penalized 15 yards and that landed the ball on their two-yard line. The first play was stopped but Roche carried the ball over on the next attempt.

Then Burns played like a team inspired and marched the ball down the field. Stein got off some line plunging that landed the ball on the Amicus two-yard line. On the next play, with Stein again carrying the ball, Burns was penalized 15 yards, and the chance to tie or win the game was lost. Then Springfield got the ball and kicked out of danger, thus matters stood as the game ended.

OAKMONT PEPPED UP

The Oakmont gridiron machine was sure pepped for the Verona battle, and while the score flashed 0-0, Moose's aggregation was outplayed. Manager Patrizio took the Oakmont team away to Mineral Springs Saturday afternoon and landed back at Crobbs field just in time for the game. How that Restelli team plugged away, scoring 11 first downs, while Verona did not score a one.

Oakmont plunged the ball over once, but Referee Neilus penalized the Restelli team 15 yards. Another time, McCandless was standing with the ball in the air over the line, but Neilus ruled that the play was taken from the position of the feet.

Art Restelli had a good day, running back punts and gaining at least 15 yards upon three different occasions.

Of course, the mud completely stopped any effort at good ground gaining. A. Restelli, McCandless and Youts were the stars. The lineups:

team played first at Recreation Park and then at Exposition Park. Christy Mathewson, a star fullback and great dropkicker and punter at that time, was one of the players. A league was formed with the Pittsburgh Professionals, two Philadelphia teams and others included, but it lasted only one season.

BOSTON baseball fans are not at all peeved over the sale of Rogers Hornsby to the Cubs, but they are not taking kindly to the plan of President Emil E. Fuchs to try his hand at managing the Braves next year, with Johnny Evers as his assistant.

The general opinion appears to be that Fuchs has neither the necessary baseball knowledge nor the ability to handle men, and further objections are raised because the proposed combination of Fuchs and Evers is looked upon as one that cannot succeed.

"BOSTON is tired of the brand of baseball being served as major league grade," one critic says. "The citizens have been generous in voting for Sunday baseball. They are in a mood to welcome smart, strong and well-managed teams, but they are primed to squawk loudly if more blunders are added to those of the last few years.

"No two men ever collaborated to a common purpose with more opposite temperaments than Judge Fuchs and the veteran John Evers. Evers, irascible, explosive in his impulses and his expressions, unyielding in his ideas, drastic in the application of discipline; and Fuchs, conciliatory, preferring diplomacy to a vigorous wallop with the fist."

Melvin Sheppard

MELVIN SHEPPARD, champion half-miler of his day, has long since passed the accepted age limits of athletic competition, but he still knows how to teach the running game to others, as shown by the fact that the Millrose A. A. marathon team of New York, headed by Bill Ruckel, and coached and managed by Sheppard, won Saturday's big race from Atlantic City to the Penn A. C. in Philadelphia. Since his retirement as a runner, Mel has been one of the most successful coaches in the country. Pittsburgh was the scene of one of Sheppard's best performances during his competitive days. On July 1, 1911, in the second or senior half of the national championship A. A. U. track and field meet at Forbes Field, Sheppard lopped a full second off his own standing record for 880 yards and established a new National A. A. U. mark by doing the distance in 1 minute 54 1-5 seconds.

FARRELL TO BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Catcher Richard Farrell, last year with the Columbus Association and recently made a free-agent, was signed at Charlotte, N. C. yesterday by the St. Louis Browns. He is 25, and has played pro ball since 1925, when he started with Syracuse. He had a trial with Detroit last spring.

PRESIDENTS' PRACTICE IS SECRET

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 13.—The gates were barred as Wash.-Jeff's football team resumed practice for the important engagement with Bucknell at Johnstown, Saturday. Coach Kerr gave his crippled players a rest yesterday, but called every available man for work this afternoon and for three days will stage an intensive drive with the hope of getting his men into some sort of shape for the Lewisburg Bisons.

Indications are that the "Traveling Presidents" will run into another rejuvenated and re-made team in Bucknell. The Bisons after two reverses and a tie came back to form last Saturday and walloped the Lehigh eleven, by 40 to 0. Coach Snavely has all his cripples back on the job again and will be able to present his most powerful front against the Red and Black at the Flood City.

Bucknell has never won a victory in football from Wash.-Jeff., usually the Eastern Pennsylvanians have scheduled the Presidents when the latter were among the best teams in the country. During the three years of Folwell's regime here, again in 1921 when W. & J. was champion of the East and once more in 1927 when W. & J. did not lose a game, Bucknell got on the Red and Black schedule. But this year the Easterners apparently are more fortunate, for finally they have caught a Wash.-Jeff. outfit when it is notably weak. Every effort is being bent at Lewisburg to make this "the year" against the Presidents, and many predict that their quest for victory will at last be successful. However, one can never tell about this Wash.-Jeff. eleven.

Frank Fox Veteran Of Harness World

CORNISH, Me., Nov. 13.—William F. Cody, more familiarly known as Buffalo Bill, rode hundreds of miles in his ramblings across prairies, but there is a gray-haired old gentleman in this town who doubtless has covered more ground than the famous man of history. He is Frank Fox, the 76-year-old harness horse driver.

Fox, who is the oldest active reinsman in the world, has just completed his fifty-ninth campaign as a driver. When it is stated that three miles constitute a race (and it was necessary to go as much as five in the old days) and that a pilot may drive as many as three races a day and campaign approximately 25 weeks a year, one can get a fairly good idea how many miles Fox has covered around race tracks.

METHODISTS TALLY

EMERICK STARS

Howard Emerick, of Wilkinsburg, produced Geneva's only score of the game with Allegheny by dashing 28 yards for a touchdown on the first play of the second quarter. He reversed his field during the run.

SAFETY WINNING FACTOR

A safety by Geneva completed Allegheny's scoring in the first period and gave it just enough points to win the game, 8 to 7. The safety occurred when Knapik attempted to punt from his 14-yard line and Slaven blocked the kick. In the scramble, Preece recovered the ball over his goal line for the safety. Inset shows Emerick at the end if his run.

EAST LIBERTY TEAM STRONG

By JULIUS LEVIN.

THE East Liberty Y. M. C. A. basketball team, which will compete in the Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League this winter, has made arrangements to practice with the University of Pittsburgh varsity squad on the East Liberty floor tomorrow night. East Liberty this winter shapes up as one of the strongest amateur quintets in this section of the state, the material being the best in the history of the institution.

Dalton Williams, manager and coach of the East Liberty passers, has arranged several important contests for his charges, including a game with the Indiana State Teachers' College at Indiana, on December 29, one with Kiski Preparatory School, at Saltsburg, early in January, and another with Johnstown Y. M. C. A. at Johnstown on December 8.

Among the stars out for regular berths on the East Liberty quintet this winter are Paul Beswick, former Homewood Presbyterian Church star; Swede Carlson, who played with the Knickerbockers last year; a West Penn League champion; Cuppett, of Kingsley House; George Kingsley, of Webster Hall, as well as Waugaman and Brown, of last year's East Liberty team.

In order to retain its franchise in the Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League, North Side Community House has agreed not to use players engaged in commercial league basketball hereabouts. As a result the Community House representative in the Institutional League will not be as strong as the quintet that won the amateur championship last winter.

The former Schwartz-Valley Club will be in operation this winter under the name of the M. J. Conley Club, of Munhall, according to an announcement by John Bresko, manager of the quintet. The roster of the club includes Baker, Davis, Lacey, Sinko, Jacko, Dober, Shaney, Sullivan, and Lesko. The team is considering a berth in the Pittsburgh & Ohio Valley League. Teams interested in booking this club write J. F. Bresko, 1111 McClure street, Munhall, Pa., or call Homestead 2271-M.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association is considering an offer to bring a strong Eastern team to Pittsburgh this winter. A Philadelphia quintet is said to be eager to get a place on the Bellefielders' schedule.

The Trinity Cathedral teams are ready to book games in various classes. Trinity will have five clubs on the floor this winter, namely Trinity Choir, Trinity Eagles, Trinity Ponies, Trinity Marionettes and Trinity Buccaneers. G. Nicholson, Trinity Cathedral, Sixth avenue, is in charge of the booking arrangements.

Chubby Smith, former Allentown Turner star, will be with the Mt. Washington Catholic Men's Club this winter. The Hilltoppers are gathering together a strong quintet and will confine their activities to first-class basketball. A workout is scheduled for tomorrow night. Marty Burke, who will direct the team this winter, has a squad of 35 players out for the various positions. Teams interested in arranging games write St. Mary's Lyceum, Mt. Washington.

The Lou Gordon Juniors, who won the junior championship last winter by defeating the Red McMahon Club, of the South Side, in two out of three games, will be back stronger than ever this year. This team is open for games at home and abroad. Write William Sakolsky, 209 Dinwiddie street, or call Grant 0823-R, between 6 and 7 o'clock.

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. E. H. Rogers, of this city, was stricken while cheering for Mineral Wells High School in its football game with the Eaglets, Denton Teachers' College freshman team, yesterday, and died. Attempts to restore respiration artificially failed.

Pitt, Tech to Trek West; Geneva Bows

wide open spaces (where men are men and women are after 'em), and invade Nebraska for a game with the powerful Cornhuskers of that state.

Neither game resembles a setup in any shape or form. Both local elevens will be on the short ends. Notre Dame, its morale restored by the thrilling win scored at Army's expense and smarting from the 19-0 licking assimilated here at Forbes Field two years ago, will be pointed for the Skibos, anxious to knock the Western Pennsylvania Scotch from their high place among the unbeaten teams of the nation.

Nebraska has not forgotten the whipping that Gibby Welch and the Golden Panthers scored in the Stadium a year ago. Since that time the Cornhuskers have been put to bed each night with the idea that they must beat Pitt drilled into them. The Huskers have been hitting on all eleven during the past two weeks. Missouri and Oklahoma both suffering crushing defeats at Lincoln.

Tech emerged from the Georgetown game without serious injury. Both the line and the backfield escaped with only minor bruises. Capt. Harpster was badly shaken up there in the third period, but he recovered before the game was over and had only a slight headache to remind him of the busting he got when he was tackled after catching a punt.

PLUG BACK

Pitt, with Parkinson back in action, is many degrees stronger than with Plug out, and can be counted upon to give the Huskers a merry battle. Syracuse players who were in the Pitt game here and who faced Nebraska two weeks before accorded the locals a fine chance of beating the Westerners.

Pitt will leave for the West tomorrow evening. The Skibos are scheduled to pull out Thursday night. Two special trains will carry Tartan followers to South Bend, a much shorter jump than Pitt's trek to Nebraska.

Geneva lost another tri-state minor college championship game in its own back yard yesterday. Allegheny took advantage of some poor Geneva generalship to win a close 8-to-7 decision over the Covenanters on a gridiron muddy and treacherous and in a game played before an Armistice Day crowd of about 8,000, which would certainly have numbered around 12,000 had the weather been fair.

The Methodists intercepted a Geneva pass deep in Covenanter territory in the opening period, and Garback, the hefty Methodist fullback, plunged over from the five-yard line. The ball was brought to that point through the medium of driving thrusts at the tackles and two timely passes.

BLOCKS PUNT

Later in the same quarter, Capt. Slaven, of Allegheny, broke through and blocked a Geneva punt, chased the ball back of the goal line and dove for it, but overshot the mark and missed a touchdown by inches. A Geneva back fell on the ball, scoring a safety for the visitors.

Geneva's score came in the second period, when Emerick, a neat running halfback, skipped around Allegheny's right end, reversed his field and raced for a touchdown. Had Geneva not attempted the doubtful strategy of passing so early in the game and so deep in its own territory, Allegheny might not have scored its touchdown.

The teams battled on even terms in the mud-spattered second half. It was the third defeat of the season for Geneva. The lineup:

Army to Play Irish Again in New York

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 13.—(AP.)—The Army is booked to play Notre Dame at New York next year on November 30, the date being held open by the Navy for possible renewal of gridiron relations with West Point.

Charleroi, Mon. High Play to Scoreless Tie

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 13.—Sloughing about in a field of mud the gridiron athletes of Charleroi and Monongahela high schools, keen rivals for honors in the Monongahela Valley sector, battled to a scoreless tie yesterday afternoon before an Armistice Day crowd of fully 5,000 enthusiastic fans. Despite miserable conditions the struggle was fraught with numerous thrills.

Previous to the struggle Charleroi was undefeated and untied, being one of the outstanding teams in the contest for the W. P. I. A. L. championship. The tie probably will eliminate the proteges of Steve Stephanian.

The teams played on practically even terms, Charleroi showing a slightly more sustained offense with eight first downs to six for Monongahela. The lineup:

Aitken	L.E.	McKay
Witherspoon	L.T.	Wiehl
Sklar	L.G.	Latchem
Heifer	C.	Kistler
Cornell	R.G.	Towner
Woods	R.T.	Hugus

BISON MAY LOSE STAR END

BETHANY, W. Va., Nov. 13.—Coach Furman L. Nuss, of the Bethany College grid squad, fears that Gardner Peene, Yonkers, regular end on the Bison varsity for the last two years, will be lost to the Green and White for the Marshall game at Huntington, W. Va., Saturday afternoon. Peene suffered a shoulder injury in scrimmage preparatory to the Westminster game, Thursday, which prevented him from starting the game with the Presbyterians last Saturday in the annual homecoming and parents' day classic at Bethany. He was injected into the fray in the second half and the end of the game saw him with his shoulder again in bad condition.

Peene has been an asset to Bethany College football teams for three years, seeing his service at tackle, end and fullback. He received his early high school football training at Yonker, N. Y. During 1923 and 1924 he was a member of the Barnard school eleven in New York city. There he played at fullback. The fall of 1925 found him at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., where he performed at fullback for the Trinity College freshmen.

Entering Bethany in the fall of 1926, Peene played at tackle throughout the last three games of the year against Thiel, Waynesburg and Geneva. In 1927 he earned a regular berth at end and that position he still holds. Besides playing a consistent game as a wingman he has fared capably at the fullback post in the absence of Capt. Dale Fiers. Peene, however, will make the trip to Huntington, W. Va., with the squad Friday morning. In an effort to have him in shape for the Marshall tilt, Coach Nuss has ordered a full week's rest.

PITT, NAVY ON O. S. U.'S '29 CARD

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—(AP.)—Dr. J. W. Wilce, director of football at the university, announced yesterday Ohio State's football schedule for 1929 includes a game with the Navy here, November 16.

The schedule follows:

October 5, open. October 12, Iowa at Columbus. October 19, Michigan at Ann Arbor. October 26, Indiana at Columbus. November 2, Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh. November 9, Northwestern at Columbus. November 16, Navy at Columbus. November 23, Illinois at Columbus.

The opening date probably will be filled against an Ohio college foe. Ohio State will journey to Annapolis in 1930 to repay Navy's visit. Dr. Wilce resigned last spring, effective after the close of this year. His successor will face a task only slightly harder than his was this year.

Iovino Scores Kayo

Al Iovino, Swissvale, Pa., knocked out Tony Tortoise, Weirton, W. Va., in the fourth round of a six-round bout.

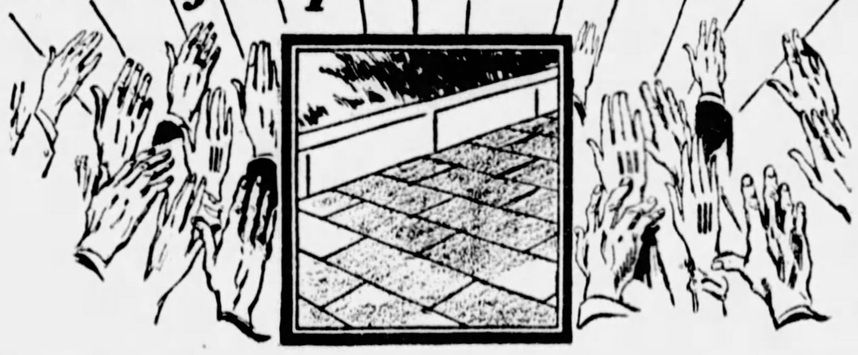
You give your Community a vote of Confidence when you pave with BRICK



BRICK pavements are so durable and so satisfactory to the traffic that long ago they became evidence of thrift, industry and good taste.

Because of appearance and known value, brick pavements advertise a community as one having a worthwhile future.

Brick is the toughest wearing surface man makes. Being vitrified it is water proof. Laid with asphalt between bricks it makes a surface moisture cannot enter to start destruction. Thus it protects the expensive part of your pavement—the part you cannot see.

Laid to modern specifications brick is smooth riding; and stays so even under the heaviest traffic. Records show that it is the cheapest pavement in the end. For further information address National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, National Press Building, Washington, D. C.

MEN WHO SMOKE AND GUARD THEIR HEALTH SMOKE CIGARS

La Palina is America's Largest Selling High Grade Cigar [OVER A MILLION A DAY] its outstanding popularity is the best proof of its unusual quality

AS a result of a survey it has been ascertained that 88% of the principal executives of the Radio Corporation of America smoke cigars.

Men are cigar smokers because of the taste and enjoyment there is in the cigar—not for the gratification of a nervous habit. They smoke slowly, leisurely, getting from each puff a full measure of pleasure—without penalty to nerves or throat. One cigar is not lighted from the end of another. The day's end does not find the cigar smoker high-strung, with harried nerves, in an exhausted mental condition.

Cigar smokers are not forced to inhale the cigar to extract from it the rich flavor of its tobaccos. Few inhale at all.

Perhaps the basic reason for the great prevalence of throat troubles is the irritating action of hot tobacco smoke on the very sensitive membranes of the mouth and throat.

A prominent New York throat specialist is authority for the statement that:

"Cigar smoke is cool, because the tobacco burns slowly and the smoke is filtered and cooled as it is drawn through the cigar itself. Moreover, a cigar is made entirely of tobacco without the use of quick-burning substance for wrapper."

Make this test for a week—smoke cigars exclusively and you will find yourself feeling better, with no cough or throat irritation, improved nerves, increased vitality and less of that tired feeling.

To really test cigars with justice to yourself and to cigars, we suggest the test be made with La Palinas. Since they are America's largest selling high grade cigar—over a million a day—you can smoke them, confident that they will please you.

The sensational success of La Palina results from an exclusive and secret blend which combines for the first time in one cigar an extreme mildness with a rare richness of both taste and fragrance.

Many Concerns Aid Crooks; How You Can Reduce Crime

By B. C. FORBES

DON'T use checks which can easily be tampered with. Check crooks, largely because of our own carelessness, reap a harvest of not less than $100,000,000 a year.

On top of that loss, you and I have to bear the heavy expense involved in searching for, arresting, trying and supporting in prison such of the criminals as are caught.

Forgery and check alterations are on the increase.

This can and should be checked, alike for selfish reasons, moral reasons and in the public interest.

SEVEN billion checks are circulated annually in this country. Ninety-five per cent of all business transactions in America are now settled by check, a record not approached in any other country. And the growing practice of paying wages and salaries by check, to foil the payroll bandit, is rapidly swelling the number of checks now used.

The proper drawing of checks, you will this see is a matter of vital importance.

DO you know that the average check passes through the hands of 17 people before it is returned, cancelled, to the drawer? These include letter carriers, post-office clerks, bank clerks, clearing house clerks, bookkeepers, cashiers, messengers, etc. Surely it is unfair for you or me or others who draw checks in large numbers to place avoidable temptation in the hands of any person handling them. Nobody but the drawers of checks can greatly reduce this evil and this loss.

THE most vigilant police force cannot prevent the criminal from adding a "Y" to an "Eight" or from adding a couple of cyphers to a "00."

Last September Franklin E. Robbins, masquerading as a lieutenant of marines, was arrested in Boston for stealing salary checks from mail boxes and cashing them on forged indorsements. One for $1.40 was raised to $540 and cashed.

S. Q. Barnes, a merchant of Charlotte, N. C., in August mailed a check for $201.09 to Fletcher Brothers of Winston-Salem, N. C. It fell into the hands of a crook. He saw that he could not raise the amount, since it had been protected by a check-writing machine, but he erased the name of the payee, substituted "cash" and got the money.

The Charles O. Aschmann Lumber Company, of Chicago, discovered last year that its checks were being systematically forged and raised by a bookkeeper.

BURGESS SMITH, formerly in charge of the anti-counterfeiting measures of the United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where all the government's bank notes and securities are printed, says:

"The police have found it hard to cope with the check crook. By the time the fraud is discovered, he has usually been able to move away two or three hundred miles. When Montgomery Yeager was arrested in Los Angeles last summer, after a seven-year search, and sentenced to 21 to 42 years in Folsom prison, the police estimated that he had cleaned up close to half a million dollars with his spurious checks.

"Employment of the best protective measures that the mechanical and chemical sciences have devised is the sole practicable method of reducing the tremendous annual losses."

BUSINESS concerns and other large users of checks owe it to themselves, to those easily tempted and to taxpayers to adopt the most scientific mechanical devices and also check paper which cannot be successfully tampered with. Protective machines are now available for individual users and there are machines which amount-write more than a thousand checks an hour.

NO protective device can prevent anyone from signing another person's name. But opportunities for forging can be reduced by using for checks special papers which have recently been developed. These papers also afford protection against alteration of the name of the payee.

So expert have manufacturers of modern checks become that the slightest application of acid in an attempt to raise a letter or figure immediately ruins the check.

YOU and I and other taxpayers have to foot America's total crime bill, estimated at $10,000,000,000 a year. This staggering sum equals all the new capital raised by security issues in the United States during the last 18 months; it almost equals all the war loans this country made to Europe; it represents more than half of our total federal government debt; it could pay a salary of $5,000 a year to 2,000,000 people.

Indeed, our crime bill threatens to become a menace to our national prosperity.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Doheny Properties Sold.

Rieth, Witter & Co. and J. & W. Seligman & Co. have purchased practically all of the oil producing properties in California owned by Petroleum Securities Company, which is controlled by E. L. Doheny and his family. The properties involve a total of over 40,000 acres and are strategically located in important producing fields of California. These properties have been valued at more than $43,000,000, according to the announcements. A new company, which is to be known as the Pacific Western Oil Company, it is understood that Jacques Vimont, former president of California Petroleum Company and director of Texas Company, will become chairman of the board of directors of the new company and William C. McDuffie, former production manager of Royal Dutch-Shell group, to be the president. Contemplated financing in connection with the acquisition of these properties is anticipated within the next two weeks and will involve upward of $30,000,000, it was stated.

Electric Bookings Expand.

According to the records for the first nine months of 1928 both of the great electrical manufacturing firms, the General Electric and Westinghouse companies, will establish this year high records in bookings, billings and earnings available for stock. General Electric shows gains of 12 per cent in bookings, of 7½ per cent in billings and of 11 per cent in earnings per share, while Westinghouse shows gains of about 6, 8 and 58 per cent, respectively.

Aluminum's Railroad.

The Alton and Southern Railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue $1,000,000 of common stock, the proceeds from which will be used to pay for construction and to reimburse the treasury for money expended in such work. It is to be leased for cash at par to the Aluminum Company of America, holders of the road's stock.

Member Banks' Weekly Statement.

Reporting Federal Reserve System member banks show increases for the week of $32,000,000 in loans and discounts and a like amount in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks, decreases of $57,000,000 in investments, of $19,000,000 each in net demand and time deposits, and of $43,000,000 in Government deposits. Reserve funds on hand and banks' deposits with Federal Reserve banks increased $67,000,000.

Crude Oil Output Gains.

The Oil and Gas Journal estimates domestic production for the week ended November 10 at an increase of 1,420 barrels daily over the preceding week.

Roxana Changes Name.

The corporate name of the Roxana Petroleum Corporation of St. Louis has been changed to Shell Petroleum Corporation. Roxana is a subsidiary of Shell Union Oil.

Loss for Ahumada Lead.

The Ahumada Lead Company reports for nine months ended September 30 net loss as $118,128 after depreciation and taxes, compared with net income of $250,218 in the first nine months of 1927.

Record Suburban Record Month.

The Suburban Electric Development Company reports sales for the month of October, 1928, approximately $230,000, which is the largest month's business in the history of the company. The company's net additional territory in West Virginia and Maryland, including Cumberland, Mt. Morgantown, Fairmont, Clarksburg, Elkins and Grafton. W. Va. is expected to greatly increase the earnings of the company. This territory is an addition to the company as of November 1, 1928. The company is the distributor of the Frigidaire in Pittsburgh and surrounding territory.

Sugar Meltings Smaller.

The Sugar Institute reports meltings of 15 refiners from January 1 to November 3 as 3,988,793 long tons raw value against 4,375,573 long tons in the period January 1 to November 5, last year.

Celotex Earnings Improve.

Officials of the Celotex Company estimate that net earnings for the year ended October 31, 1928, will be approximately 50 per cent greater than the $817,058 reported for the previous year. These earnings will be equivalent to approximately $6 per share on the common stock outstanding in the hands of the public after payment of preferred dividends, an increase of nearly 100 per cent over per share earnings of $3.13 on the common stock during the previous year.

Vanadium Corporation.

A titanium deposit in Virginia, the only known American commercial body of this ore, is being opened by the Vanadium Corporation, which expects to supply the paint industry from this source with a base more suitable than zinc or lead oxides for many uses. Although the company's earnings are currently running at only about $2 a share, it is pointed out in an analysis by Hornblower & Weeks that remarkable developments have been made by the company without recourse to financing. In the past seven years surplus earnings of $3,400,000 have been reinvested with an increase of $3,605,000 in cash and securities held. At the same time the company has changed its mining methods, constructed a hydro-electric and a concentrating plant in Peru and has exploited the Virginia titanium deposit. It has also reconstructed its domestic plants and launched two fully equipped chemical departments.

Otis Elevator Split Rumored.

Otis Elevator Company has called a special meeting of directors for Wednesday morning. The purpose of the meeting has not been revealed, but the Street is inclined to believe there is a possibility of a split-up.

Pittsburgh Coal Output Higher.

Pittsburgh Coal production in the week ended November 10 was 243,667 tons, compared with 239,648 tons in previous week.

F. R. R. Stockholders Increase.

Stockholders of Pennsylvania Railroad November 1 totaled 154,990, a new high record and compares with 154,415 on October 1 and 142,277 November 1, 1927. Average holdings on November 1 was 72.44 shares against 72.66 October 1 and 70.18 November 1, last year.

SOUTH PENN OIL PROFITS JUMP

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE South Penn Oil Company will report far greater net profit for the present year than it showed last year. Prices of Pennsylvania crude oil have advanced steadily during 1928, while in 1927 the price trend was downward.

Improved earnings are being passed on to stockholders. An extra dividend of 25 cents was declared yesterday in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents. A previous extra of 25 cents was declared three months ago.

In 1927 the company showed net profits of $1,727,774 which was equivalent to $2.16 a share on the 800,000 shares of $25 par stock. This compared with $3,152,916 or $3.94 a share in 1926.

Last week an advance of 15 cents a barrel in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil was announced. This brought the price to $3.60 a barrel in New York Transit Lines. It was the fifth advance this year, and established a quotation 20 cents a barrel above the 1927 high and 95 cents above last year's low price. The low for 1928 was $2.80 a barrel. Bradford crude sold as high as $4.50 in January, 1924, and the low previous to last year was $2.85 in August, 1924.

SOUTH PENN benefits from advances in oil prices in two ways. It secures a larger return for its production in Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia fields. It also purchases all of the crude oil run by the New York Transit, Southwest Pennsylvania Pipe Lines and Eureka Pipe Lines. This oil is sold to refiners. It is necessary for the company to carry large inventories of crude so that it is now able to dispose of these stocks at higher prices than their original cost.

This year the company received $275,000 as its share of the dividend of $1.25 a share paid by the Penn Mex Fuel Company on May 31. South Penn owns 55 per cent of the Penn Mex stock. This dividend was equivalent to 34 cents a share on the South Penn stock.

Each share of the old $100 par stock of South Penn Oil Company was split into four shares of new $25 par stock in April, 1926. An initial dividend of 37½ cents was paid on the new stock on June 30, 1926, and the present regular rate was established in December, 1926.

SOUTH PENN'S production is far more stable than that of most oil companies. Pennsylvania wells rarely yield more than a few barrels a day, but they continue producing for 15 years or more. Some Pennsylvania wells are in existence which are 30 years old and are still pumping oil.

In other parts of the country sensational gushers are found but they are usually short lived.

In the Bradford field good results have been secured in rejuvenating wells by flooding. Water is forced into selected wells to build up the pressure underground to a point which will force oil out of the nearby wells. This is restoring many wells to production which formerly were thought ready for abandonment.

South Penn has no funded debt and no preferred stock. At the close of 1927 a strong financial position was reported. Current assets amounted to $14,755,813 against current liabilities of $2,566,806. Cash and accounts receivable totaled $3,-267,550.

Physical properties were valued at $21,765,946 after charging off depreciation and depletion. Investments, which included a 51 per cent interest in the Pennzoil Company, amounted to $12,126,734. The stock had a book value of $57.65 a share at the end of 1927.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 7 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables, but soon eased under southern hedging and liquidation. January sold off from 19.50 to 19.39 with the general list working about 4 to 6 points net lower, but these prices seemed to bring in a little more trade buying, and the market was quiet but steady during the early trading. At the end of the first half hour January was selling around 19.49 with the market generally showing net advances of 4 to 6 points. After the early selling had been absorbed offerings were light. Private cables reported continental buying and trade calling in the Liverpool market and said that below selling there was

United Charity Appeal Merits Strong Support

The drive of the Welfare Fund for $965,679, officially begun Monday, to continue until November 22, is made in behalf of a budget basis for 25 philanthropic societies. It is to provide these organizations with funds for the work of an entire year that an army of workers will canvass the county in a demonstration of "Teamwork for Humanity."

Bear in mind that this is a united appeal, not the plea of a single charity activity, and that donations ought to be graded accordingly. Those who specifically desire to renew annual membership in the Red Cross, which is one of the 25 bodies for which funds are being sought, may do so by telling solicitors that $1 or more is for the Red Cross.

The Welfare Fund worker will see you soon. He or she is the link between you and many of those you wish to help.

Day of Decency Dawns As Graft Trials Begin

The period of "action" has arrived for the many charged with booze and gambling conspiracy and varied crimes which have made Pittsburgh a graft paradise. More than half a hundred of the 160 or more men indicted in the Federal grand jury probe are on trial today in the United States Court.

Meanwhile the probe of District Attorney Gardner and the county grand jury goes on delving into the preliminaries that will bring a day of "action" for many of the same accused in the Allegheny courts.

The day of decency, long delayed in arrival, is dawning and the day of doom for the forces of evil may be close at hand.

New Building for County Another Progressive Step

Another county building, to occupy the "square" bounded by Diamond and Ross streets, Fourth avenue and the Pennsylvania Railroad, is authorized by Judge James B. Drew's approval of the favorable report on the project by the November grand jury. Available for this purpose is $1,100,000 of the 1924 people's bond issue, and $1,550,000 of the 1928 people's bonds.

Courts, county officers and the morgue will be given space in the new structure, which will replace a number of buildings, including the present morgue.

When completed, the new county office building will mark another step in the transformation of the former "hump" district, once mostly shacks and inconspicuous buildings, now rapidly becoming a region of modern business structures.

The rapidity of progress in Pittsburgh is great when measured by decades.

Early Radio Annoyances Recur in Wave Upheaval

Both radios and radio listeners are squawking as noisily as the radio alone did in the old days, when everybody and his brother "wired" his own. The howls then caused no public protest from the radio fan. He just waded into his radio lore and tried to find a way to make his set quieter or tuned in on some station which he could receive without interference. And whenever he was able to penetrate the jangle of whistles, howls and squeals, and the roars and blasts of "static," to identify the broadcast of a "distant" station, that was an achievement.

But when he gets a howl these days, that's something different, and also an entirely new experience for those who did not pioneer with home-made sets. The perfection of the new receivers, now highly developed, makes the new fan a little impatient of the disturbance caused by realignment of wave lengths promulgated by the Federal Radio Commission.

Likely there will have to be readjustment. Much of the trouble now may be attributed to the difficulty of some stations in holding to the wave lengths assigned them. That is a mechanical matter. The conflicts among stations having wave lengths too nearly identical will have to be ironed out by the commission.

And the radio fan hopes that will be soon. Only the old-timer is at all tolerant of the squealing and he doesn't like it. He merely is a little less impatient.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

As a boss you believe in "bawling out" those under you.

You think you get better and more active service.

But when a worker makes an error sometimes you criticize him so severely that he loses faith in his judgment.

You destroy his initiative.

His very zeal in your behalf may make him liable to overdo things.

Then again, if the persons working under you have such a fear of your displeasure that they cannot act or do things in a natural way their thoughts are not wholly upon their work, are they?

If you are this kind of a boss you are not getting intelligent service.

The sincere workman wants to do right.

His very zeal in your behalf may make him liable to overdo things.

His anxiety to accomplish much may make him careless in handling.

He is greatly disturbed when he makes a mistake.

And a severe reprimand only makes him more liable, through nervousness, to commit errors that might be avoided if you were not so petulant and irritable.

Calm and win your employes by your even temper and just criticism.

Bible Passages

"Gavest Thou?"

(Job 39: 13-30.)

Gavest thou the goodly wings unto the peacocks? or wings and feathers unto the ostrich?

And forgetteth that the foot may crush them, or that the wild beast may break them.

She is hardened against her young ones, as though they were not hers: her labour is in vain without fear;

Canst thou make him afraid as a grasshopper? the glory of his nostrils is terrible.

He paweth in the valley, and rejoiceth in his strength: he goeth on to meet the armed men.

He mocketh at fear, and is not affrighted; neither turneth he back from the sword.

The quiver rattleth against him, the glittering spear and the shield.

He swalloweth the ground with fierceness and rage: neither believeth he that it is the sound of the trumpet.

He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: and he smelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains, and the shouting.

Doth the hawk fly by thy wisdom, and stretch her wings toward the south?

Doth the eagle mount up at thy command, and make her nest on high?

From thence she seeketh the prey, and her eyes behold afar off.

Her young ones also suck up blood: and where the slain are, there she is.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Wonderful things they did with iron, those old Frenchmen in New Orleans.

Iron's grim, uncompromising stuff. Good enough for a kitchen range but you'd never expect to pull any coquettish tricks with it. Yet that's exactly what those iron workers did when New Orleans was built, 200 years ago.

Everywhere in the old French quarter you'll find their mark. What beauty they released from that rigid material, heating it, hammering it, until its stubborn strength flowered into bud and blossom, tendril and melodious curve.

The fronts of the tall, narrow houses are like old-fashioned valentines, so deeply are they framed in iron, frail as lace. Vines weave their delicate stems through the balcony railings but they are not more lovely than the filigree of metal they embrace. Even the wooden awnings of the shops have exquisite iron supports instead of wooden braces. There are iron scrolls beneath the awning of "the old absinthe" house which one remembers like a song.

Strange that poetry should come from such grim stuff. Yet even greater miracles can spring from stuff far grimmer than iron.

There are natures more stubborn and dull and unlovely than any iron. Natures which ignorance has left dark or sorrow has made rigid.

You've seen them—those hard set faces you've passed on the street. Perhaps you've tried to work with them and have been made furious by their obstinacy. They would not bend—

Neither will iron. Yet those old iron workers knew how to warm it into song. You can warm the hardest nature into song, too, if you quicken it with love and release its hidden pride.

Love and pride—they're the greatest things in life. Love a man enough—believe in him enough—and you can bend him to the most beautiful pattern. He will flow into noble design as wrought iron flows, and out of his base material there will flower enduring loveliness. But you have to know how.

It takes a great and patient master to release the beauty in iron—or in men.

CRADLES OF ART

By Garrett P. Serviss

After all, it is not science, but art, that differentiates man from the lower world of animals. The subject of science is nature's laws; that of art is man's thoughts and impressions of nature. Art does not investigate the world as a subject for analysis, but considers only its effects upon the spirit. As "feeling is deeper than thought," so art was before science in affecting human life. Recently certain discoveries in prehistoric caverns have suggested that primitive man had some faint elementary scientific conceptions; but the outstanding lesson of the caverns is the evidence that they contain of the early appearance of the artistic "instinct" and the rapid growth of the fundamental technic of art.

Think of it! There are paintings and drawings on the walls of some of these ancient cavern homes, where only skin-clad people dwelt, which competent judges have declared would "bring credit to many a modern artist." As Loomis Havemeyer has said: "The same sense of beauty, the same ideas of symmetry, showing keen observation, which impelled the classical people to develop an age-lasting art, caused these earlier and cruder men to leave for us a picture of the animal world with which they were surrounded."

Lately a celebrated Belgian artist, Servais-Detilleux, has studied the so-much-talked-about engravings found on pebbles at Glozel, near Vichy, in France, and he points out characteristic features, to be seen in the work of all the Cro-Magnon artists which convince him of the genuineness of these objects as prehistoric relics. He notes, as others have done in studying similar objects found in unquestionable prehistoric centers, such as Les Eyzies, that the engraved pictures of animals bear unmistakable indications that they were drawn after nature.

All the representations found either in the ground as at Glozel, or on the walls and in the floors of caverns elsewhere, show an observation of natural forms and an ability to reproduce them, which are possessed only by persons of artistic temperament and talent. The tendency to imitate such forms by drawings is almost universal—it is a mark of the human—but only in specially gifted individuals does it become a means of art. Such restriction accounts for the fact that on the walls of the picture-caverns there are to be found only masterpieces, so to speak, and no crude and inartistic drawings—except as all the art of prehistoric times was necessarily crude compared with ours. But the eyes and hands of these artists of the ice age were truly magical in their grasp of the essential features of animal form and animal action.

Prof. Osborn has suggested that there may well have been something resembling guilds of artists in Cro-Magnon days. The gloomy walls of the Font-de-Gaume cavern, which an excited imagination, inspired by consideration of the age of those creations of budding human genius, might describe as the glorious Louvre of the "capital of prehistory," are adorned with pictures in simple but lasting colors that could only have been laid on by the smoking light of the crudest sort of lamps and could only have been viewed with the aid of similar insufficient illumination—yet the drawing is as free and masterful and the toning of shade and color as effective as if the work had been done in the full light of day. What mighty movement of the human spirit determined this work, deep in the heart of a rocky hill, attainable only through long, winding passages, or clefts as high and narrow as the throats of chimneys? If art was at first only the servant or superstition, as some have affirmed, no less, or no more can be said of the beginning of science.

Tales That Are Told

Taming the Tamer

The lion-tamer was asked how he gained his wonderful power over animals.

"It is by showing them I'm not afraid of them, and by keeping my eye steadily on theirs," he explained. "I'll give you an example of the power of my eye."

He pointed to a rough-looking fellow who was sitting near by.

"You see that fellow?" he said. "I'll make him come across the room and I won't say a word to him."

He fixed his keen, steady eye on the man. Presently the fellow straightened himself, got up, and came slowly across to the lion-tamer. When he was close enough, he drew back his arm and struck the tamer a tremendous blow under the chin, and remarked:

"You'll stare at me like that again—won't you?"

Fishy

An angler was describing to his friend a salmon he had caught.

"How big was it?"

"Biggest salmon you ever saw," said the sportsman.

"But that doesn't explain much to me," argued his friend. "The only salmon I ever saw was in a can. Measure with your hands to give me an idea."

The angler glanced at the walls of the room.

"All right," he said, "but we'll have to go outdoors to do it."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

Some small kids that don't have many playmates make up for it by having imaginary friends that they talk to and play with just like they was real. Well, this here Mary I'm telling you about had plenty of regular playmates, but one rainy day she says to her mother, "Say, Harriet has imaginary playmates, don't she?"

"Yes, I guess she does. Some kids do."

"Well, I'm going to have 10 imaginary friends in this afternoon."

"Go ahead."

"Well, I'm going to serve candy and cake to my guests, Mamma, so please get out enough for the whole gang."

My Voyages

My restless spirit longs to sail
Upon earth's seven seas,
And I would know
The polar snow,
The rain-swept Hebrides.

All strange, exotic loveliness
My hungry eyes would seek,
Calm gods that reign
In gilded fane,
Vast palaces of teak.

My restless spirit longs to roam,
And so each day I fare
Around the block,
Wheeled out in cushioned chair.

And for my voyages the ships
Are men I meet each day;
Round them I paint
Dreams gay and quaint
That bear me far away.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The profession of hotel hostess is attracting many girl graduates of exclusive schools. It has none of the rough and tumble hurrah of the jazz cafe or night club. The tony hotel has come to realize banishing loneliness among patrons pays.

The tactful hostess who can single out the lonely and make them feel they are something other than a number on the rack is doing something that cannot be valued in dollars. This good will feature is not new but in the modern rush was neglected.

Such efforts among people of refinement requires perception and tact. It is accomplished chiefly in those hotels seeking to achieve a "family atmosphere." And among the summer and winter inns around New York. The job pays from $50 to $150 a week and food and lodging.

The hostess in the aristocratic hotel has living quarters of the best. She must entertain now and then with familiar dinner parties away from public dining rooms. Her expense account for such entertaining is practically unlimited.

She must be adept in bringing congenial people together, promote bridge tournaments and see that wall flowers are supplied with partners in the ballroom dances. In many instances they have quite innocently enough performed the duties of a matchmaker.

Consequently the post requires those finished in social graces and for which hotel managements are willing to pay quite handsomely. Any number of hotels attribute their success largely to the popularity of hostesses and several are under long term contracts.

In a New York paper this morning I saw a want ad for services of a tinner. Somehow I did not think there were any tinners in the big town. A good tinner had one of the crack jobs in a small town and rode around in a red wheeled buggy on Sunday. Often with one foot hanging rakishly over the sideboard—the durn slicker.

* * *

The recent subway disaster in Times Square created a "subway complex"—a pronounced phobia for underground travel. Yet the subway's record is singularly remarkable for safety. There is in operation 124 miles of subway tunnels and 620 miles of subway tracks, but this was the only great disaster. If a train stops between stations these days, as it frequently does, there is a fomenting hysteria.

* * *

An English engineer once referred to New York's "switchboard brain." The stranger is impressed with its underground mechanics and overhead freedom. All wires in the metropolis are below the surface and here beneath the sidewalks are the city's voice and nervous system. There is a vast and complicated net work — valves, switches, pushbuttons, cables, telegraph and power wires, pneumatic tubes, transit tunnels, huge sewers and pipe lines for gas and steam. They dig foundations from under skyscrapers while propping them up on stilts and New York achieves more structural wonders above than beneath. But the public never sees them.

* * *

These underneath marvels are chiefly why New York is always torn up to resemble a shell-scarred battlefield and after you live here awhile—(Voice there is a train leaving every minute)—it gets pretty monotonous.

Another thing an imported small towner misses here is the gasolene filling station. There are some but comparatively few. The New Yorker is supplied at garages. And thus does the city miss the friendly courtesy of what the outland has found to be about the most polite of all employes meeting the public. They are information bureaus for tourists and rarely accept tips. For with most companies that means instant dismissal.

The newest in male underthings is displayed in a smart haberdashery—athletic designs of sheer silks in ootchy-kootchy pinks, baby blues and lavenders with the replica of the owner's signature monogrammed thereon. And for one who just climbed out of long sleeved and long legged scratchy underwear two years ago, they are going to be pretty hard to work up to.

RIGHT ANGLES

Nothing but a micrometer carried in the vest pocket of a dwarf Lilliputian could measure the minute distance between constructive imagination and the day dream built with clouds.

Indeed, we may think of a day dream as the imagination of a drunk with the feathers of the cocktail still sticking out of his mouth.

When the mind goes mooning and conjures up castles in Spain, and Poe villas by the sea, and Pullmans of the air, and jingling gold delivered by the truckload—well, what shall we say of such a mental debauch? It is a sort of angelic nightmare where the fabric is woven from rainbow shreds instead of the sable yards of midnight.

The day dream is the indulgence of indolence. The horizontal folks who are always lying down, lolling on couches or undulating in hammocks, are the star actors in the cast of this drama.

They are obsessed with the loafing complex and vainly imagine that work is a cotton field with Legree at the lash. Some little god of the shades should come along with a brimstone trident and prod them broad awake so that they might see work as it is, the jolliest friend in the world.

The office boy has stolen my figures to number his latest crossword puzzle, but I'll wager my wife's engagement loop against your cleverest smoke rings that if the world's day dream hours were turned to the production of the tangibles of progress, the Golden Age would bang the knocker day after tomorrow.

How different is the laggard day dream from the imagination that still feels the earth beneath its feet although its head is companion to the high-flown eagle!

Among the constructive imaginationists we immediately meet with Copernicus, Bruno, Galileo, Newton, Humbolt, Fulton, Watt, Stevenson, Pasteur, Koch, Livingstone and every other genius who has set the goalposts a little farther on.

Their dreams were to and for a purpose. They started from premises and groped their way to conclusions. They never checked their brains in the cloak room when they entered the laboratory or the consultation room. They used Jacob's ladder to climb to Heaven, but its base was resting firmly on terra firma.

Moreover, the constructive genius refuses to be classed as a man apart. He incarnates humility. He concedes to the humblest man the same talents which are his own. He declares that any man may take a step at a time carefully and watchfully and that is the sum total of invention and progress. The road, of course, is sprinkled with perspiration.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

"NEW YORK women ARE the smartest looking women in the world," said a lady from Chicago. She had been in New York for days. "I always thought that was just talk, but they are chic. Now look at those two over there," and she nodded toward two women in a Fifty-seventh street shop.

The women turned around just then, and they were Mrs. Hubert Burnham and Mrs. James Horner, of Chicago!

A Syracuse doctor advocates fewer clothes for women, saying that they are healthier when they are scarcely clothed.

Those are a few signs of the times.

Lady Drummond-Hay, the fascinating only woman passenger on the Graf Zeppelin, has a poise that is remarkable. She is temperamental, but not nervous. She can sleep for many hours without waking or moving in her sleep. Once she slept for 27 hours without waking. That probably is one reason why she is never assailed by fears of any kind, and why she made an ideal passenger for the hazardous trans-Atlantic trip.

I once tried to get into an old ladies' home to find out what the old people thought of the modern girls, and the present day fashions. I was told that no visitors were allowed "because, confidentially, their children didn't want people to know that they had barred their parents from their own lovely homes, and shut them up in an institution."

Often, I learn, when old ladies die and the heads of these institutions try to inform their daughters, the daughters pretend they do not get the message. They do not come to the funeral and then later show up when they find the life insurance is to be distributed.

Welfare Island, in New York, where there are thousands of old ladies, can tell you much about that sort of behavior, if you doubt the story.

Heads of institutions will tell you that the people who take by far the best care of their old people are the Germans and the Jews. They are generous, kind, and unselfish with them.

Saw Rudolph Valentino's widow, Natacha Rambova, having dinner in a New York cafe the other night, and she had her hair braided around her ears as of old, and a gold cloth wound around her head like a turban. Her gold necklace must have weighed several pounds. It was an antique, with heavy what-you-call-ems dangling from it.
